Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

A man with a cow for sale, got excellent results today by confiding the secret to a he-gossip, instead of inserting a want ad in the newspapers.

THE TRUTH SURVIVES

To the Editor:

There is a spirit of unrest sweeping this globe from stem to gudgeon and at least 97 per cent of the same is directed against that noble Christian purifying organization, so long maligned by the hostile press, known as the Crucified Crusaders of Columbia, and which is being diabolically attacked by Rome, Chicago, Milwaukee, and Watkins, Oregon, but only yesterday the Most-Noble-Get-The-Bacon informed me that there was no truth in it. The man arrested in the basement of the White House, charged with attempting to blow up that structure, proved that he was only setting off a skyrocket. The kept newspapers went into a frenzy over this trivial incident, and endeavored to make the public believe they cared whether the White House fell down on the President's head or not. True, the skyrocket was surrounded with dynamite. Is not dynamite an agent of mankind, used extensively by anarchists and road contractors. The way they are hollering I am convinced that all the editors are having trouble with their con-sciences, and I am also reasonably sure that yours is not functioning properly, you miserable pup, you skunk, you tool of Wall Street and the devil.
With these few words you can either shut up, or blow up.

Yours for constable in 1924, Gazookus Gadchet,
Keeper of the Imperial Shirt.

THAT CALIFORNIA SPIRIT EXPLAINED.

THERE is nothing mysterious about the California spirit. There is no magic in that name. The people south of the Siskiyou are no different than the people north of them.

The California spirit has not made California prosperous; California prosperity has made the California spirit. The truth is that California has been blessed by Nature, as probably no other state in the country has been blessed. When one considers what California has been given, no one marvels at the sensational success California has made.

When natural resources were allotted in this country, California was given more wealth per square mile than any other section of the continent. It was given nearly all of the gold, it was given nearly all of the oil, it was given the climate, not necessarily the best climate or the most healthful climate,—as health statistics from Portland and Los Angeles can testify,—but the mild, dry, sunny climate, that most human beings in the East and Midwest prefer.

All that the people of California have done is this: They have made the most of their opportunities. Success breeds success, and naturally with a gold rush in the early days, an oil rush later, and a tourist rush mixed between, the Californians were presented with the cream, and all they had to do was skim it.

So it is perfectly foolish either to bow down in wonder before the much-lauded California spirit, or to deny the true greatness of that state. Oregon can never be another California. Nor can Washington. But these two states have peculiar advantages, which California has not, and one of the most obvious is that where California has been developed and exploited to the limit, the northwest, particularly Oregon, has in a sense, not been developed at all.

The best thing for Oregon to do as we see it, is to forget California and concentrate upon doing what she can do best. Oregon has a far healthier climate and a better all-the-year-around climate, than many sections of California; it has far better hunting and fishing and a more inspiring and more uncivilized wilderness,—things not to be disregarded, when the tourist crop is concerned,—it has more timber it has unlimited water power, it has a greater proportionate area of potentially fertile, but undeveloped land.

Let Oregon once enjoy a fraction of the unearned increment California enjoyed, and there will be no criticism to make of the Oregon spirit. As Dr. Chapman said Oregon suffers from an inferiority complex. The best way to lose this is to forget California and get together on an Oregon program built in accordance with Oregon conditions, Oregon resources and Oregon needs.

Quill Points

The klan has one trait of Americanism. It's a genius at getting publicity.

At any rate, Ambassador Harvey serves as a good test of British-American friendship.

Things are picking up for Heinie. Once only Gott was with him, and now the French are also.

There is a growing fear that the future balance of power in Europe will show too many entries in Red.

When company is present there are more table scraps for the chickens, but fewer between man and wife.

Correct this sentence: "You'll never grow up to be a fine man like Daddy," said the mother, "if you tell stories."

Even now it isn't polite to smoke before ladies. At any rate, not before they light up.

The reason some men tell Satan to get behind them is because they wish to set a faster pace.

A Tough Situation

"My wife and four children were dependent on me for their living. My stomach and liver trouble of five years had made me despondent, as no medicine seemed to help me, and I was gradually wasting away. It was a tough situation. My cousin Columbus wrote me about having taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and advised me to try it. I am now feeling better than for fifteen years." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis.
One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.

"Pure and Wholesome"

FORGOTTEN PROMISES.

I RECALL how I departed from my home, long years ago, I how my aunt was broken-hearted, and I saw her sad tears flow. "Oh, my heart is sad and heavy," said my aunt, "and life seems bleak; write to me, my darling nevy, write a letter once a week. I can stand your absence better, I can show a tranquil brow, if you'll promise me a letter every week, and keep your vow." "You can bank on that," I told her, "do not fret your heart, I beg; I will write or sprain a shoulder, I will write or lose a leg." And I surely meant to send her an epistle every week, but the city's glare and splendor made good resolutions leak.
Now and then I thought of Auntie, in that village by the sea, waiting, waiting in her shanty, watching for a line from me, "Oh, tomorrow I will write her." I would often lightly say; and her hair grew white and whiter, and her pep had oozed away. Recently the grim destroyer took my Auntie to her home; "She has left you," writes her lawyer, "nothing but her fine-tooth comb.
She has left all kinds of money to the Home for Maltese Cats, and the way you've acted, sonny, shows your head is full of bats." My remorse is never ending, I have taken in my sign, and the Maltese cats are spending roubles that are rightly mine.

Your faith in Kellogg's Bran can never be misplaced—IT IS ALL BRAN!

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, will permanently relieve the most severe cases of constipation because it is ALL BRAN—not a food mixture that cannot possibly have sufficient natural corrective properties.
Once constipation gets into your system you must fight it to the finish.
Kellogg's Bran is the weapon. It will win for you. Don't take half-way measures; don't temporize.

Kellogg's Bran is permanent relief for constipation if it is eaten regularly—at least two tablespoonsful daily; in chronic cases, with each meal. And, Kellogg's is a taste-delight because it is delicious and comes to you as a highly palatable, desirable food, as well as a corrective.

You will greatly enjoy Kellogg's Bran as a cereal; its nut-like flavor is universal!
