Shell Co. Latest National Advertiser In This Paper

One of the latest national advertisers to enter the southern Oregon and northern California field is the Shell company of California. This is one of the largest companies on the coast, their products are world wide and their slogan is "Quick Starting Shell Gasoline."

They have not been doing any local advertising, but have had their products on the market in southern Oregon for years and have a service station on South Riverside—the Pacific Highway—in charge of John Maule, and assistants, who are very courteous and obliging.

In selecting a list of the leading newspapers of the state, and those that cover their districts thoroughly, the Mail Tribune and Sun were chosen by the Shell company and the advertising agency, William Lyle Cook, of San Francisco.

All the companies manufacturing oils and gasoline, who are selling their products in this section, are now advertising in the Mail Tribune and Sun.

MASS MEETING PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH TUESDAY

Through the successful efforts of Dr. Lincoln Wirt, who will address a mass meeting at the Presbyterian church next Tuesday, the Near East organization, originally American, is rapidly becoming internationalized.

On a recent journey through the Orient as international commissioner for the Near East Relief, Dr. Wirt established co-operating organizations in Japan, Korea, the Philippines, China, Australia, and New Zealand—countries previously untouched by this humanitarian effort.

"My message was received everywhere with courtesy and responded to with gratifying generosity," he says. "The object of the international commission is to bring about an entente of friendship—to stretch a golden chain of mercy round the world."

Dr. Wirt, who was in Smyrna shortly after the fire, and later visited the refugee camps in Athens and the Greek Islands, graphically describes the plight of hundreds of thousands of human beings whom disasters of the past few months have rendered homeless and destitute.

During the war Dr. Wirt was a speaker and organizer for the Red Cross, in this work making several trips abroad, once accompanying Secretary of War Baker and with him visiting various relief centers in Europe. Before entering relief work Dr. Wirt was a minister, and held pastorates in Oakland, Calif., and Brockton, Mass. He also engaged in missionary work in Alaska. He is a native of Michigan and was ordained to the Congregational ministry in 1890.
