The increasing importance of the mining industry of Oregon, particularly in Josephine county, is noticed about the lobbies by the number of mining engineers. At present there are three prominent engineers at the Multnomah and one at the Oregon, all of whom are convinced that the mining industry is one which will yield Oregon many dollars if properly developed. However, many rich claims in Oregon, they point out, are owned by small holders who are content to take from the mine just enough to live on.—Portland Telegram.

W. J. Virgin returned yesterday afternoon from Portland where he had been purchasing new radio equipment to increase the capacity of station KPAY from 50 to 250 watts. As it will be sixty days or more before all of the new equipment for the increase in size will arrive the old apparatus will be installed at the Nat and the station operated on 50 watts until the arrival of the equipment. A specially built motor generator of large capacity has been ordered for the new station and the time required to build it is the main factor in the delay of the installation of the new station.
