Ye Smudge Pot

By Arthur Perry.

William Randolph Hearst threatens to invade the metropolis of Oregon with one of his papers, and propaganda apparatus the "yellow press." With all their faults, a Hearst paper never quivered with fear at the waving of a nightshirt.

It is about time for the I.W.W. to haze another prominent, prosperous, and protected bootlegger, upstate.

SUGAR WITHOUT SENSE.

FOR UNCONSCIOUS humor we think the following from the Cuban sugar commission's manifesto issued today, should be awarded the hand-painted nut dish:

"Any campaign which unduly lowers the price would be prejudicial to the consumer, whose interest it is to have an abundant supply in order not to be compelled to derive himself of sugar, or pay too high a price for it."

In other words drop the buyers boycott, for the boycott will bring cheaper sugar and allow the consumer to put two teaspoonfuls on his mush instead of one, which in turn will increase the consumption of sugar, raise the price, and compel the consumer to go sugarless.

If this reasoning is correct then the only way for the consumer to have an abundant supply of sugar is for him to pay a high price for it. The higher the price the more abundant the supply.

If this is a fair example of Cuban intelligence, we shudder at the result of a Binet test. The buyers' boycott is directed not against the sugar planters, but against the sugar brokers, who have attempted to feather their richly upholstered nests, by framing up a sugar shortage when no shortage exists.

The above extract is a tacit admission that such a boycott is justified, and instead of discouraging the boycott will of course merely increase its strength. If there is a real sugar shortage, no boycott will bring cheaper sugar in the end; if there is only an artificial "bull market" shortage, only a boycott will allow the consumer to break it and purchase at a fair price.

The Cuban Planters' committee should take a correspondence school course in American psychology, with a few seminars thrown in on the law of supply and demand.

GUARANTEED GOODS.

I BOUGHT a clock of Mike McPet; he gave his guarantee: "That timepiece simply can't be beat, it is a peach," said he; "and if it isn't good as wheat, just bring it back to me. And then your money I'll refund, and make no kick or whine, but on my countenance rotund I'll wear a smile benign; but I will bet my cummerbund you'll think that clock is fine." I wound the clock and made it go, and then I stood aghast; it always was nine years too slow or seven years too fast; it seemed as though it didn't know the future from the past. I couldn't keep appointments straight, which made my spirit sore, for when the sun showed half past eight that clock showed twenty-four; and so I sang a hymn of hate and took it to Mike's store. And Mike made good, but with a frown that seemed to me a crime; he counted all the money down, a nickel at a time; his laughter didn't fill the town with glad, exultant chime. "We make good," most dealers cry, and most of them do that, when we return a tinhorn pie, a shotgun or a hat; but if they do it with a sigh their making good falls flat.

All of us who constitute the great screen public have often wondered what takes place when the big studios are closed for the day and what becomes of the stars. It is the popular impression that the majority of them are basking in the spotlight of public favor—dancing, etc. This is a wrong conclusion, declares Elmer Glyn, whose latest story, written especially for the screen, "The World's a Stage," is the feature attraction at the Page Theater, tomorrow and Tuesday (laying off Monday night) for Walker Whiteside in "The Hindu."

"The World's a Stage" is acted by an all-star cast headed by Dorothy Phillips, whose talent enables her to make the role vibrant with emotion. Kenneth Harlan and Bruce McRae render fine support.

"The Christian" closes a successful run at the Page tonight. This wonderful story by Hall Caine has proven exceedingly popular all over the country.

Speed Marks Gibson Films: Edward "Hot" Gibson's starring vehicle at the Rialto theatre tomorrow, "The Lone Hand," combines fast action with slow, droll humor.

The main character is a thoroughbred cowpuncher, entirely ignorant of the ways of people who go about with starched shirts, and shoes unhampered by spurs. He decides to go on a vacation to the most fashionable summer hotel. He saves a girl, outwits a band of crooks and goes back to the ranch after his vacation for a rest!

The cast includes Marjorie Daw, William Welsh, Helen Holmes, famous serial queen, Jack Pratt, Jim Corey, Hayden Stevenson and Robert Kortman.

"Broken Chains," the feature at the Rialto theatre, which closes tonight, won the first prize of ten thousand dollars in the contest conducted by the Chicago Daily News. This is an all-round fine production, intensely dramatic, well cast and beautifully directed.

notice, sale to be subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Interior. The purchase price, with an additional sum of one-fifth of one per cent, thereof, being commissions allowed, must be deposited at time of sale, money to be returned if sale is not approved, otherwise patent will issue for the timber which must be removed within ten years. Bids will be received from citizens of the United States, associations of such citizens and corporations organized under the laws of the United States or any State, Territory or District thereof only. Upon application of a qualified purchaser, the timber on any legal subdivision will be offered separately before being included in any offer of a larger unit.
