at the school house next Sunday evening conducted by a gospel team from Medford.

Last Monday evening the neighbors gathered at the Lydiard home and listened to an instructive and very interesting talk on the Muscle Shoals project by Col. W. C. Weeks of the U. S. engineering corps who has just spent some two years in charge of construction work at the Wilson dam. The colonel used many maps, blue prints and photographs in giving his talk, making it very plain to his audience, many of whom for the first time grasped the magnitude of the gigantic undertaking. After listening to this talk and the reasons given for the objections to the Ford offer to purchase the project, many were heard to express themselves as to having changed their minds in regard to the matter. Following the lecture and in keeping with the hospitality of the Lydiard home, refreshments were served, making it altogether a very pleasant and interesting evening.
