REDUCE ACREAGE IS FIRST STEP IN WHEAT CAMPAIGN

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—A gradual reduction in the wheat acreage of the United States from 52,000,000 at present to 50,000,000 should be brought about as a major step in the solution of the wheat production problem, the production committee of the wheat council of the United States decided today, according to an announcement by President Sidney Anderson.

The lower acreage is sufficient to meet the domestic requirements of the country and should be brought about as soon as alternative crops can be introduced the announcement said. The production committee also decided that steps should be taken to establish a permanent broadened domestic market for wheat, which it holds as an essential part of the plan for stabilizing the business of wheat growing. Increased domestic consumption is urged.

"Even the farmer in the sub-humid regions where the great bulk of our wheat is produced, could aid materially in reducing the present acreage by planting a part of his wheat land to feed, forage and pasture crops and through summer fallowing," the announcement said.

"The feed thus produced could be utilized to advantage for animals, dairy cows, hogs, chickens, turkeys, etc."

"It would be to the advantage of every wheat farmer to produce sufficient milk, butter, poultry and meat supply to feed his own family and to provide for other necessary living expenses. In this way money secured for the sale of wheat would be available for use in depreciating markets bringing a better living condition and making country life more attractive to every member of the family."

SCREEN

Oliver Twist, Page

There comes tomorrow to the Page theatre a picture heralded as a "milestone on the highway of art." "Oliver Twist," starring that adorable child of the screen, Jackie Coogan; and presented by a company of the most distinguished of screen celebrities, including Lon Chaney, Gladys Brockwell, Lionel Belmore and a host more. The picture is described as the most ambitious in which the juvenile star, Jackie Coogan, has ever appeared, and it is asserted that in it he has registered an appeal that strikes the hearts of young and old.

"Children of Jazz" will finish a three days' run at the Page theatre today. Theodore Kosloff, Ricardo Cortez, Robert Cain and Eileen Percy are featured.

Real Lumberjacks, Rialto

Those who see "The Man from Glengarry," which will be shown at the Rialto theatre this week beginning tomorrow matinee, will have an opportunity to witness some of the most unique stunts that have ever been flashed on the screen.

One of the most interesting is a log-rolling or "log-burrowing" contest. Two men stand upright on a large slippery log in the centre of the stream. Each one of them proceeds to manipulate the log with his feet by running similar to a man trying to walk on a barrel or revolving globe. The log proceeds to spin faster and faster. The ease and dexterity which these lumberjacks display in manipulating their footing on the rapidly revolving log is remarkable and is one of the entertaining incidents in the picture.

The final showings of Dorothy Dalton's picture, "The Law of the Lawless," will take place at the Rialto theatre today. The story is a tale of life in the gypsy and Tartar tribes of the country bordering on the Black Sea.

Stage

"So This Is London"—George M. Cohan's big comedy hit of two continents, is coming to the Page theatre Monday night, Nov. 26th.

That's good news; glad tidings for all who relish the best in things theatrical. There are four companies of this remarkably brilliant attraction, we shall see the famous "Chicago Cast," the distinguished organization of Cohan comedians that played more than four months at Cohan's Grand Opera house. Mr. and Mrs. Cohan, notable artists of rare quality, well deserved popularity and conspicuous achievement in dramatic endeavor, will portray the roles they originated in the western metropolis. Among the more important associate players are Lumsden Hare, Marjorie Campbell, Bertha Creighton, Chester Morris, Leith Munro, Frank Merlyn, Fannie Rippie and other talented players.

"Irene" at Ashland

The sensational success of "Irene," the musical comedy announced to be seen at the Vining theatre, Ashland, on Monday evening, Nov. 19, is due to a great extent to the intensely human qualities of James Montgomery's comedy, the "song hit" character of Harry Tierney's musical setting and the unusually popular subjects of Joseph McCarthy's lyrics. Among the members of the company that played in New York are Dale Winter, who will play the part of "Irene," Flo Irwin, Mary O'Moore, Gladys Nagle, Dorothy LaMar, Dorothy Kane Henrietta Housen, Howard Freeman, Jere Delaney, Henry C. Coote, George Collins, Edward Marx and George Mantell. An exceptional beauty chorus is

"DEATH TO FIRPO" IS ANGRY CRY OF COUNTRYMEN

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 13.—A dispatch to LaNacion from LaPaz, Bolivia, says that Luis Angel Firpo incurred the displeasure of the residents of the city by his indifferent attitude toward the enthusiastic reception they accorded him.

Firpo, the dispatch says, was in a sulky mood when he arrived in the LaPaz railway station. He was met by cheering crowds, who were displeased when their idol hastily fled in an automobile from their presence, and they raised hostile cries when he refused to raise his hat in acknowledgment of their greetings. A great crowd gathered later at an athletes' meeting in the expectation of seeing the South American champion, but he did not appear. This was interpreted as another slight and the angry citizens, returning to the city, marched the streets crying "death to Firpo."

The correspondent asserts that Firpo was displeased when on his way to the Bolivian capital he read a LaPaz newspaper which protested against his scheduled exhibition bout in the municipal theater. The match was not held.

According to the correspondent Firpo leaves today for Buenos Aires, where he has a motion picture contract calling for a weekly salary of $5000.

CHICAGO—Ernie Goodsonman of Los Angeles outpointed Hillie Levine of New York in a ten round bout at 122 pounds at East Chicago, in the opinion of newspapermen.

SALT LAKE—Johnny Adamson, Denver junior welterweight, lost the decision in six rounds to Frankie Darren of Logan, Utah.

URBANA, Ill.—George Huff, director of athletics at the University of Illinois, characterized as absurd suggestions that the big ten eligibility rules be changed so that no player could be barred for professionalism after the opening of the season.

WASHINGTON U. TO SEND BIG CROWD

SEATTLE, Nov. 13.—Owing to a large demand for reservations on the University of Washington special train which will leave here tomorrow for Berkeley, Cal., with hundreds of Husky rooters bent on attending the game between the local university eleven and the University of California team, officials of the Northern Pacific railroad announced today the rate of the round trip had been cut to $43.50.

The University of Washington grid men will have one of the nine cars comprising the train. Tickets for the contest next Saturday arrived yesterday and went on sale at the university campus today.

Coughs Disturb School Work

School teachers should give the same advice to children who have coughs as did this Florida teacher. Convert Your Straw Pile Into Money

You wouldn't think of letting your barnyard manure go to waste year after year—you put it on the land because it helps to keep up the fertility of your soil.

Do you know that a ton of straw has as much fertilizing value as an average ton of manure? Do you realize that a ton of straw contains approximately 12 lbs. of nitrogen, 4.2 lbs. of phosphoric acid, and from 15 to 21 lbs. of potash—all essential plant food elements?

Besides its fertilizing value, when turned under, straw has big value when used as a mulch for fall seeded crops. It prevents soil blowing and winter killing. It prevents the winter alets from smothering the plants. For mulching only, you can well afford to spread straw.

While you can't spread straw effectively by hand, you don't need a special machine to spread it. You can spread both straw and manure perfectly with the John Deere Manure Spreader with straw spreading attachment.

It spreads straw just as perfectly as it spreads manure. Long, short, chaffy or even partly rotted straw is handled equally well. The spread is even, and you can put it on the land as thin or as thick as you desire.

The John Deere has this particular advantage—One man operates it either when spreading straw or manure. After the machine is loaded, get on the seat, put the machine in gear, start the team or tractor, set the machine for heavy or light spreading as conditions require—that's all.

To take off the straw spreading attachment in preparation for manure spreading is only a 30-minute job for one man. The change is quickly and easily made.

Don't attempt to get along another year without this profitable equipment.

Come in and look this Spreader over. You can't make a more profitable machinery investment.
