The Ashland view of last Monday's football game here, as reflected by the Daily Tidings of that city is in part as follows: "Medford high beat Ashland high in the Armistice day game on the Medford gridiron Monday by a score of 17 to 0. The first quarter and most of the second quarter looked like an Ashland victory, although Medford scored three points in the last quarter of the first half on a beautifully timed and placed kick from the 25 yard line. The first half saw the Ashland luck drift away in three fumbles, partially poor passing and nervousness, although making better gains through the line. Most of the first half was an exchange of punts, with Medford doing the offensive work. Ashland lost three chances to score when within actual scoring distance by fumbles."
