"All doubt as to the extreme weakness and overfilled condition of the apple trade generally is dispelled by a glance at the returns that Pacific northwest growers are obtaining after shipping to the east," says the Portland Journal. "Values here have been low to date this season, but comparatively speaking they have been higher than leading eastern centers, while the European markets are in just as bad shape. It is useless to talk of improving conditions in the apple trade when the reverse is the case. The situation appears to be growing worse instead of bettering."

Fannie Ward will not be at the Oriental gardens Saturday night. If she could only get out of Paris she would be there for there is nothing quite like it outside the Parisian capital. 205.

The special train of nine cars with the University of Washington students enroute to Berkeley, Calif., to witness the game Saturday, will pass through Medford this evening at 7:40.
