PACKERS TO FIGHT DEMAND OF U.S. TO OPEN BOOKS

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—A court fight to test the authority of government auditors to have full access to books of packing companies was indicated today when L. F. Swift, president of Swift and company, said that this concern will fight the attempt to make an investigation of company affairs.

"Such an attempted regulation of the entire business can but result in conflict of regulation and the confusion of the industry," Mr. Swift said. "It will probably be necessary to let the courts decide this issue."

"I still believe the constitution gives a little privacy to citizens and we want to find out," said Thomas Creigh, general counsel for the Cudahy Packing company. "There is nothing in the packing and stockyards act which will permit an official to walk into your office, sit down at a desk and tell you how to run your business."

VETERAN BUREAU HEARINGS ENDED, REPORT 3 WEEKS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—With the public hearings virtually ended, counsel for the senate veterans committee began today the task of shaping up for the consideration of the committee the vast volume of information gathered in the investigation of the activities of the veterans' bureau.

With the closing of the public sessions, John F. O'Ryan of New York City, general counsel, told the committee last night that what has been presented publicly "constitutes but a fragment of what has been developed both in relation to the neglect of the disabled and to corruption and waste in the bureau."

The information collected both in the central office and in the field will be considered by the committee at business sessions during the next three weeks. The committee hopes to have its report ready for the senate by December 15. There will probably be several public sessions for the admission to the record of reports and other data and it may be that Mrs. Katherine Mortimer of Philadelphia will be heard in one of these, in response to her request.
