

A Bridge of Steel to carry the Weight

THINK of the strain that the arch of your shoe must carry. Day after day, step after step, all the weight of your body is put upon it. Is it any wonder that the arch of your shoe sags?

The shoe with the bridge of steel can be bent in the hands like this.

And when the arch of your shoe sags what is there to prevent the arch of your foot from sagging too? Weakened and fallen arches are causing untold number of women untold agonies.

But your arch cannot fall when you are wearing this wonderful new shoe. For there is a bridge of steel to carry the weight.

But all the weight that can be put upon it cannot sag it a bit.

This is the mark on the bottom of this wonderful shoe that is both rigid and flexible.

The miracle of this shoe, however, is, that even though it has a bridge of steel, the arch is as flexible as the arch of a bed room slipper. For down-right comfort there's never been a shoe to equal it.

INSPECTION AND OFFICIAL VISIT I. O. O. F. TONIGHT

Col. W. E. Wadsworth and Brig. Gen. H. M. Beckwith, commander and adjutant general, respectively of the grand canyon, and Frank P. Light, grand patriarch of the grand encampment, of Oregon, are the state officials expected to be in Medford this evening to make an official visitation to and inspection of the local canton at the I. O. O. F. hall. The visitors will arrive this afternoon from a trip to Klamath Falls.

Following dinner about 6:30, the inspection will take place at the hall about 7:30, and about 8:30 the delegation will march to the armory, where the ceremony of conferring the degree of chivalry upon a number of ladies, members of the Rebekah branch of the order of Odd Fellows will be held. All the canton members will attend in their resplendent military uniforms. The public is cordially invited to attend and witness this lodge ceremonial.

OBITUARY

DAILY—Michael J. Dally died yesterday at the home of his daughter, Margaret Alice Dally, Seattle, Wash., aged about 70 years.

Mr. Dally was born in Ireland. When about eighteen years old he came to America, going to Dubuque, Iowa, where he married Nora Sullivan, when he was about 25 years old. Following the marriage they moved to Moorehead, Minn., where they have since made their home.

He leaves to mourn his loss besides his many friends in Minnesota, Margaret Alice Dally, Seattle, Wash.; Richard E. Dally, New York City; Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Medford, and two grandchildren.

The remains will be forwarded to Medford, Saturday, 3 p. m. The funeral cortege will leave the depot, going from there to the Catholic rectory where the services will be held. Father Black officiating. Interment will be at the Medford cemetery.

Services will be under the direction of the Perl Funeral Home.

JAMMED PACKED CRAMMED

EDITORIAL BY "TED"
The Advertising Manager

I have written ads for a great many years for stores all over the country, from the icy Dominion of Canada to the sun baked lands of Mexico. But cross my heart, etc., if I were told of greater bargains than these when the Boss told me the news—that he must unload this $10,000 stock. I wanted to spread it in shrieking head lines over a dozen pages, but he held me down to this space. If you knew the "half of it" you would pile in here so thick it would be necessary to call out the police reserves to handle the crowds. I have not the space to tell you of one-tenth of the bargains you will find at this sale. Or can I begin to tell you in words what your eyes will tell you when you come to the store. It was fine weather in October and May weather in November that caused January prices now. But, really, I never saw a January cut that was as deep as this one.

It's a sad story for me, but should prove the sweetest story ever told for you. Months ago I put in several large orders for Merchandise, expecting the usual fall and winter business. But nature has given us June weather in October and May weather in November—wonderful weather from the standpoint of personal enjoyment. But to put it moderately it knocked h—l out of business, so I am overstocked and must unload—and the result is—Prices Torn and Tattered.

7 Ways to Profit

You can have these seven most luscious fruits in your yard and enjoy their luxury fresh and ripe from your own garden. The cost of a few quarts of fruit, bought at the store will about equal the cost of a tree. These choice fruits and hundreds of others can be obtained from our 1000-acre nursery. We pay the freight and guarantee satisfaction and safe arrival.

Scott Rainier Apple Winner Wilder Medal, 1922, the fruit world's highest honor. We consider the Scott Rainier the finest dessert apple (for eating raw) that has ever been produced. A thoroughly proven success—trees bear young and are heavy producers, 30 boxes from one 19-year old tree, and 800 boxes from 21 trees composing this orchard.

Red Gravenstein Apple Possesses all the good qualities of the old Gravenstein in flavor, size, shape and ripening period, to which is added a bright red color that greatly increases its attractiveness and market value. The genuine Washington Nursery Red Gravenstein is a fine specimen of the old Gravenstein, but comes absolutely true to type when propagated. A red apple has a decided selling advantage over others.

Wright's Red Rome Beauty An improvement which is the same as the ordinary Rome Beauty in size and shape with the same characteristics of growth, appearance, hardiness, production, early bearing and regularity of crop. But it has a handsome red color, a finer texture, and stands up better in cold storage than the old Rome Beauty. Its bright color makes it a better seller.

Cory's Thornless Blackberry The vines have no thorns and yield large quantities of luscious fruit. The berries are very large, often measuring one and three-quarter inches in length, and grow in clusters, making very easy picking. The fact that the vines have absolutely no thorns makes the picking of the berries and the training of the vines much easier.

The Bing Cherry There are few more desirable fruits than cherries. The trees are strong, vigorous growers, with large, glossy leaves and open, spreading branches, making a fine shade. The Bing cherry is one of the leading commercial varieties of the West. Very large, blackish purple, very solid, flavor of the highest quality. The tree is hardy and productive. A fine shipping and market variety.

Standard Prune This is without doubt one of the best fresh shipping prunes ever grown. It is much larger than the Italian, fine flavor, firm flesh, large, beautiful fruit. Blooms with the Italian, ripens with the Tragedy. It is even more resistant to frost than Italian. A prune of such all-around merit that it should be planted everywhere for home use and for market.

J. H. Hale Peach The J. H. Hale is enormously productive, fruit very large—fully one-half larger than Elberta, globular in shape, a deep golden yellow overlaid with bright carmine. It has a smooth, thick skin, and firm, solid flesh that is tender, without grain or stringiness, and a most delicious peachy flavor. The J. H. Hale is practically free from fuzz, making it absolutely distinct in this respect.
