W. H. Price, an aged man, convicted last summer of moonshining, and sentenced to serve a year and pay a fine of $1500, has been brought back to Jackson county from Multnomah county, where he has been incarcerated, and, according to Sheriff Terrill, who escorted him here, Price was before Governor Pierce Wednesday, in a hearing of his case, and investigation of conditions in this country.

Price is 74 years old, sick and partially paralyzed, and was sent to Multnomah county under protest, as a better fitted for the poor farm than the jail. What disposition will now be made of the aged unfortunate has not been decided upon, but the case will probably be given a rigorous airing, as many people have interested themselves in the case.

Price was sent back from Multnomah county, under a recent ruling by the county court there, that the sheriff should be the sole judge of whom he would receive from outside counties as prisoners.

Price lived on an island in Rogue River below Gold Hill, and a tin still was captured in a raid by prohibition enforcement officers. Price was painted as a particularly hard-boiled citizen, at the time, with a penchant for guns.

MEDFORD WINS CHAMPIONSHIP IN GREAT GAME

Local High School Boys Win From Ashland in One of Best Games Ever Seen in Southern Oregon—Daily Is Hero of the Day.

The Medford high school football team closed its 1923 season Thanksgiving with a 12 to 10 victory over its ancient rivals—Ashland at Ashland, before a crowd of 3500 people, giving Medford the undisputed championship of southern Oregon. It was the cleanest, hardest fought and best played game in the history of Rogue River valley football.

Outweighed and outkicked, the Medford team played the brainier and more consistent football. The Ashland team was fifty per cent better however than in the Armistice Day battle. Medford's two touchdowns were made by Halfback Cliff Daily—the first one following a criss-cross, and the second with a spectacular 65 yard run, following an off tackle buck, in which Daily eluded the entire Ashland team and raced for a touchdown. Besides these outstanding feats, Daily, who is the most modest boy alive, figured in several other events during the afternoon. Ashland fans paid Daily a tribute as follows: "Daily and the Medford team beat us." There is no danger of these lines giving the young gentleman the big head; they are more apt to increase his bashfulness.

Less spectacular, but just as important as the flashy work of their star half back, was the playing of Fullback Senn. Tackle Pruitt, Captain Dressler, Senn hitting the Ashland line for heavy gains, Pruitt invaluable in defense and Dressler tackling low and hard. Quarterback Fabrick, out of three quarters on account of injuries, was sent into the contest in the last quarter, and ripped off heavy yardage, also intercepting forward passes brilliantly. Halfback Williams did not kick up to form, but played a heady game.

Ashland Starts Strong
 Ashland started off with a rush and a down hill pull, the field slanting northward. A series of line plunges, and a long forward pass brought the pigskin to the Medford five yard line, and the ball was plunged across. Goal was kicked.

In the second quarter the Medford team gained possession of the ball and a forward pass, after a series of line plunges, took the ball to Ashland seven yard line. Senn plunged through the line for two yards, and Williams repeated for two more yards. Daily then modestly took the ball over for a touchdown on a bewildering criss-cross play. Score Ashland 7, Medford 6.

At the opening of the third quarter, Ashland after a series of line plays, made a place kick from the 15 yard line, making the score 10 to 6. On the kickoff however, Medford got possession of the ball, and on the first play Daily broke through for a 65 yard run, and a touchdown, with an Ashland player a jump behind all the way. Williams failed to kick goal. Score 12 to 10 in Medford's favor.

In the fourth quarter neither team scored, Ashland failing in a number of forward passes, a large number of them being intercepted by Quarterback Fabrick, who took charge of the team, and played brilliantly. In the closing minutes both sides tried desperately for a score.

Both teams made first down nine times during the game, Ashland making first down seven times in the first quarter, after which they were held in check.

Dawson of the University of Oregon, and Cramer of Grants Pass refereed and umpired, and not an argument arose during the game. The only untoward event was the slapping of an Ashland roofer, who insisted on squatting on the line chain with both feet, for some reason.

The Craters, who agreed to take 1000 people to the game, took over 2500 people to the game, and were the loudest rosters of the day. The field was in good shape, and the usual serpentine march was made between halves by the students of both schools.

The game closes the football season for both teams. With green material largely, Coach "Prink" Callison, former University of Oregon center, has done wonders. He made a smooth working machine out of the squad, and what at the start of the season appeared a hopeless task, proved to be one of the most brilliant teams in Medford history.

 Christmas Opening—Monday Evening, December 3rd

UNVEILING XMAS WINDOW DISPLAYS ON MONDAY NEXT

Medford merchants are taking more interest than ever in the Christmas opening event, which will result in some extraordinary window displays of Holiday suggestions. The unveiling of the attractive displays will take place next Monday evening at seven o'clock and at 7:30 the D. O. K. K. band will parade the streets and furnish entertainment.

One hundred and ninety-two fir trees are being used this year on the streets of Medford for decorations and this is considerable more than last year due mainly to the enlargement of the business district.

Stocks carried by the Medford merchants are larger than ever and it is anticipated that many out of town buyers will do their Christmas shopping here as the slogan "Medford Stores are in Holiday Attire and Ready for the Christmas Season" has been extensively used in the news papers of northern California and in counties of southern Oregon.

 pay his taxes and intended to resign from the senate to recoup his private fortune.

Magee said this statement apparently was verified by the condition of the ranch and its equipment. Questioned further, he said that in August 1923, he again saw the Fall property and was "confused by the great changes," which had been made. In reply to questions the witness said he had not visited the ranch itself since 1920 but had viewed the approach to it from the railroad station at Three Rivers.
