BIG SEAT SALE FOR ELKS' SHOW ASHLAND, TONIGHT

ASHLAND, Dec. 17.—Tickets are on sale at the Vining theatre for the Elks show "Ten Thousand Dollars," which will be given at that place this Monday and Tuesday. The seats have been selling very rapidly and there are very few good ones left. The show is under the direction of C. H. McNaughtan, of Los Angeles, who has been producing shows for a long while. The cast for the show is as follows: C. H. Van Dusen, a stock speculator, V. V. Mills, F. M. Ralston, a smooth stock and bond promoter, C. J. McNaughtan; Bob Bennett, a believer in truth, C. F. Hedberg; Dick Donnelly, a cheerful liar, Dr. Photoplane; Bishop Doran, a sanctimonious charity worker, William Briggs; Miss Caven, a little dissembler, Miss Goldie Bonodetti; Miss Ethel Clark, a society bud, Miss Helen Sanford; Mrs. E. M. Ralston, a temperamental wife, Miss Helen Dickerson; Miss Mabel Jackson, a chorus girl from the "Follies," Miss Margaret Campbell. The show will open with Mrs. Florence Farlow singing "Anna-belle," also "Carolina, Mammy," "Down in Maryland," "Indiana Moon" and "No, No, Nora." Mrs. J. W. Shortridge will sing and will be supported by Carl Loveland and his four "Harmony Friends." She will also sing "Rosemary" and "Cowbells." Carl Loveland will sing several songs, supported by the Pony chorus. Dr. Photoplane will also sing in the "Kiddies Fashion Parade." D. Perrow offers some clever skits in the Clown Parade, and altogether it promises to be a very clever show.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Leach left Saturday afternoon for California where they will stay for some time. Mr. Leach will enter the Burke sanitarium at Burke, Calif., and Mrs. Leach will visit in San Francisco. Mrs. Leach will return to Ashland in time to spend Christmas here. Marion Leach is staying at the home of her friend, Miss Mabel Hager during her mother's absence.

Mrs. Frank Beas returned Sunday from an extended trip to Dunsmuir, Calif. Mrs. Beas has been gone about six weeks and her family are very glad to have her return home. She has been visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Edward Stanley in Dunsmuir.

Mr. and Mrs. Purdy of Klamath Falls have recently moved to Ashland. They are the parents of Miss Ruth Purdy, who graduated from the Ashland high school last year, and Owen Purdy who is working in Chase, Loomis store and is also attending high school this winter.

Mrs. E. R. Grieve of Hornbrook, and her three children are visiting in Ashland at the present time. Mrs. Grieve is well known here as both she and her husband were residents here a few years ago.

The Bellevue Parent-Teacher association held a most successful benefit Saturday night at the Bellevue school house, at which they netted about 75. Considering that this is one of the smallest circles in the county this is an exceptionally good showing. A very excellent musical program began the evening, and consisted of the following numbers: a trombone solo by V. O. N. Smith, violin solo by Sumner Parker, piano solo by Lolita Pearson and saxophone solo by Geo. F. Harrison. All numbers were greatly enjoyed and enthusiastically received. The main feature of the evening came next and was a roasting farce entitled "Christmas at Pumpkin Hollow." Mrs. W. L. Moore as Miss Peppergrass, the teacher, and Aunt Heppy, by Mrs. K. McWilliams, were both especially fine in their respective parts. The scene enacted was that of an old fashioned school program. Recitations were given by the school children, Fred Holmes, Mrs. Chas. Lamb, Mrs. Norma Reeder, L. C. Tuttle and Mrs. Fred Holmes, all of which brought forth peals of laughter from the audience. A duet by Rhoda and Jacob (Mr. C. A. Brown and Mrs. Tuttle) was very cleverly carried out. Mrs. Edwin Dunn as the Christmas fairy was wonderfully like the charming little girl always chosen for this part. A "Sandy Claws" composition and a Highland Fling by the bright girl of the class were both delightfully done and the part was taken by Mrs. Homer Harrison. Johnny Low (Edwin Dunn) was the typical bad boy of the room and kept the audience laughing at his antics the entire evening. His recitation was intensely funny. The school orchestra gave two numbers using mouth organs, comba, horns, etc., for instruments and was up to the standard of the rest of the scene.

This concluded the program and the evening was turned over to a social session. Booths were beautifully decorated where sandwiches, coffee, pie, doughnuts and candy were sold and helped materially to swell the proceeds of the evening. The money earned will be used in fixing up a new well for the schools and making other needed improvements. This circle deserves congratulations for the successful affair. The officers are Mrs. Mary Tucker, president; Mrs. Norman Reeder, secretary, and Mrs. John Frohman, treasurer.

Mr. G. H. Grover of Medford, who used to teach the Bellevue school came up the valley to attend Christmas at "Pumpkin Hollow."

The Chamber of Commerce will hold the last forum luncheon of the year on Tuesday at the Ashland Hotel and will have a very interesting program. The various civic organizations of the city including the Chamber of Commerce, the Lithians, Civic club, Kiwanis, Parent-Teacher associations and Elks with some others will each give a resume of the work done by their respective organizations during the last year.

Mrs. Geo. T. Perkins, state president of the Parent-Teacher Association has written Mrs. Louis Dodge asking her to take charge of all work in the fifth, sixth and seventh districts, the main idea being to extend and unify the ath, Harney, Josephine, Jackson, Douglas, Lane, Lincoln, Curry and Coos counties.
