EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Among the busy callers on our business men was Mr. Mercer of Brownsboro last Saturday.

Frank Warner of Douglas county, one of the crew here unloading and putting together a new steam shovel for John Hampshire and George E. Madhori, contractors working on the Ploumce Rock grade on the Crater Lake highway, came in Saturday and joined the rest of the gang at the Sunnyside.

Fred J. McPherson, one of our popular merchants, reports that Alex Vestal and his brother-in-law, Wilfred Jack, recently from Burns, Oregon, a brother of the late Wilbur Jacks, who is here with his family, visiting Mrs. Jacks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Vestal, and Perry Clarno, who lives near the Crater Lake highway, were in Friday. I also met Friday the following ladies in the same store, and they seemed to be acting as a committee to assist in arranging for the Christmas tree entertainment to be given that evening, as they were looking over the various articles in that line. They were Mrs. John W. Smith, Mrs. Floyd I. Perce, Mrs. J. G. Johnson and Mrs. Thomas Cingade.

J. D. Patrick, who has been doing some carpenter work for Ray Ashpole, of the firm of Ashpole and Nichols, and boarding at the Sunnyside, started for Brownsboro on the stage Friday morning.

Miss Elizabeth Burr, the county school supervisor, called for dinner Friday on her way to visit the Lost Creek school, returning late in the afternoon, accompanied by the Lost Creek teacher, Miss Edith Frobenburg of Butte Falls, who remained over night, attending the Christmas tree entertainment, but Miss Burr ate supper and then went on to Medford.

Miss Ella Belford was also here for dinner and went out to Medford on the afternoon stage.

 S. B. Holmes, our accommodating deputy post master, renewed his subscription to the Mail Tribune Friday through your Eagle Point correspondent.

Rud Obenchain, who lives in the Lake Creek country, was a business caller Friday.

H. H. Johnson, Jr., of Ashland, who is teaching the Reese Creek school, was here for supper Friday evening, and attended the entertainment and another young man from Butte Falls, who did not like to have his name in the Tribune was here for supper. And so was C. H. Natwick, one of the contractors on the Big Butte-Eagle Point canal, but left immediately after supper.

W. H. Crandall, one of our prominent farmers and orchardists and his sister, Miss Cora Crandall were business callers Friday afternoon.

Friday evening was the time set by the E. P. R. T. association to have the big entertainment and the awarding of the beautiful quilt that was to be given to the person who was fortunate enough to draw the lucky number. To begin the subject the ladies had arranged to sell the numbers at twenty-five cents each and planned by that means to raise fifty-dollars to furnish the Christmas tree so as to give each child a sack of candy, nuts, etc., and then the plan was to have a small child take out a number and give it to a little boy and he gave it to Prof. J. G. Johnson and he announced the number on the card, also the name of the person who had that number, and he or she was to be entitled to the quilt. The result was that the quilt was hung in a conspicuous place in one of the show windows in the McPherson store and consequently it was generally known, besides being well advertised in the Eagle and the result was that there was a full house, about the fullest house I have ever seen in Eagle Point, and after one of the finest programs rendered by the school children, that we have had, and the best rendered, the long and anxiously looked for announcement was made that the drawing was to be made for the quilt: There had been some two hundred numbers sold and of course each one who had bought a number was expecting to be the lucky one and when the two little tots came on the stage and the smallest one, she looked as though she might be two or three years old, put her hand into the bag and brought out a "little" card and handed it to the little boy, about a four year old, everything was as silent as the grave, and in less time than it takes to write it, Prof. Johnson said that the number on the card was twenty-eight and that Mrs. Anna Phillips (Mrs. George Phillips) was the lucky winner of the coveted prize, and then for several moments silence reigned and one could almost hear his heart beat, and just then old Santa Claus came rushing in with his cowbells, and then commenced the scramble for the presents, and congratulations and in the course of a few minutes the crowd began to disperse and each one of the one hundred and ninety-nine was wondering why they were not the lucky one.
