Through one of those accidents that sometimes happens due to the closing time rush in getting out daily newspapers the Mail Tribune erroneously published a statement yesterday that no guests were registered at the Hotel Medford on Tuesday. The item as written stated that no guests were registered on that day for the first time in years, from San Francisco. But as it appeared in the newspaper the words "from San Francisco" were omitted. The fact that the Hotel Medford for a long time past has had quite a number of guests daily from San Francisco led the reporter to chronicle the fact as a news item.
