

Local and Personal

The first lot of deeds, issued on certificates of delinquency of assessments for city improvements have been received by the county clerk's office. There were 15 deeds in the batch. The law provides that after a period of three years has elapsed after the issuance of the certificate of delinquency, a deed be issued, and a clear title recorded. Similar deeds will be coming into the officials' records at regular intervals from now on. The issuance of the deeds has been a thorn in the side of many local property holders, and the impetus for considerable legal skinning, and the latest development, it is predicted, will cause some more of it.
