QUILL POINTS

Bloc legislation blocks legislation.
Prohibition wouldn't amount to much in Scotland, anyway. The bagpipe is too exquisitely adapted to the business of bootlegging.

Advice to that commission: Save the marks and the frames you'll take care of yourselves.

We are afraid Dawes isn't taking this job seriously enough. He hasn't cussed yet.

In this matter of adjusted compensation, we even favor giving dollar-a-year men 30 cents more.

Correct this sentence: "She has won three beauty prizes," related the gossip, "and she is a wonderful help to her mother."

Still, crossing the street is about as safe as crossing the wife.

In France the girl a young hustler marries is a fortune; over here she is fortunate.

try getting it back by means of scalp massage.

Now is the time to pick out a way to waste the money you will save when taxes are lowered.

About all there is to "superior" people is that they have more skill at the art of sneering.

Fable: He paid one-third of the preacher's salary, but his influence was no greater than that of the poorest member.

It's funny. A man can't pick a chicken clean in thirty minutes, but a chicken can pick a man clean in thirty seconds.

Correct this sentence: "Yes," said the mother, "we gave him a knife for Christmas and he hasn't cut a finger yet."

FACTS VS. FANCY
(Congressional Record)

You can not build character by law; you can not make men good by law. You can not command respect for a law that can only be enforced by brutal mercenaries with mowed-off shotguns. A law in a republic that can only be enacted by force is invariably a bad law. The Volstead law is a fair specimen. We are a Christian nation. There is no element of force in the Christian creed. Christ commanded His loyal disciples to go into all the world and preach His gospel to every creature, but He never at any time commanded His disciples to shoot the gospel into every creature.

The number killed in conflicts between prohibition agents and bootleggers and citizens, including those killed by the prohibition agents, is 1210, making 4210 killings for two years. This is more loss of life than were killed in battle in the seven years' war of the American Revolution, and the two years' war with Mexico, and the Spanish-American war, all told. This is a terrible record, but this is only a small part of the damning records.

What has become of the old fashioned eastern capital, that the Portland Journal used to fear editorially, was headed Oregon-ward. "To denude the virgin forests, and devastate the sportsmen's paradise."

At the State Presbyterian synod of North Dakota, one distinguished speaker remarked that if the church bell and the fire bell rang at the same time, North Dakota would go to the fire. (SP. Bulletin). They do have had winters back there.

L. Tremme, representative of the Woodworth company of New York is in Medford for a day or so doing business.

A GOOD OMEN.

THE ADVERTISEMENT printed today, showing the large number of citizens who have paid up their assessments, is added proof that Medford is not only on her feet once more, but is going full steam ahead.

This list not only represents money, it represents faith in the city and it represents good business sense. 1924 promises to be the most prosperous year in Medford's recent history. More new people are coming to Southern Oregon this year than for any time in the past decade. The 1924 tourist crop will undoubtedly break all records.
The demand for property and the demand for new homes, should, from now on, steadily increase.

Property owners, therefore, are not only showing the proper civic spirit in clearing their property, they are showing sound business judgment. A post script upon this advertisement, therefore might well be "Go thou and do likewise."

Those property owners who have their titles clear, will be the first to profit by the real estate activity which is almost certain to start in the early spring and summer. The present list is a large one, but with opportunity obviously knocking on the door, it should be 100 per cent.

MOVIE QUEENS.

OH, MOVIE queens, you spill the beans so often it is sad!
Unless you cease to bust the peace you'll get your trade in bad. We moral wights sit up o' nights to read the public prints, and seldom fail to find a tale, dished up in lurid tints, of movie queens in garish scenes that shock us to the soles, of midnight lark and orgies dark, corkscrews and flowing bowls. And we arise, we moral guys, and say to all our kin, "You shall not go to movie show, to that abode of sin! Oh, aunts and wives, your blameless lives, from evil must be free; these movie queens, both fats and leans, as dangerous to see! Oh, wives and aunts, the film enchants, when it is clean and pure; but as it is, we say, gee whiz, that it can't long endure." And, movie queens who spill the beans, this feeling spreads and spreads; we'd like to view a queen or two with halos o'er their heads. We'd like to see two queens or three of whom men cannot say, "Those are the dames whose giddy games our moral censors flay." Oh, movie queens, the toup tureens are waiting for your art, unless you walk the line o' chalk, and from freak stunts depart. Forsake the flats of plutoerats who drink synthetic booze; wind balls of yarn, and sew and darn, and shun police court news.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

Signed letters pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed.
Letters should be brief and written in ink. Owing to the large number of letters received, only a few can be answered here. No reply can be made to queries not conforming to instructions.
Address: Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper.

Pipe Advisable Even for Nonsmokers

A dentist inquires for "...some remedy to eliminate or overcome the odor from two pipe-less gas stoves. The odor is slight but easily detectable when in its presence for several hours."

"When I am in the office for three or four hours, particularly in the afternoon, the odor gives me a splitting headache across the forehead."

"I have as much ventilation as is necessary without it being too cold in the office."

"The gas we use is a mixture of coke gas and natural gas.
My gas stoves burned gas and are returned in a specifically made chamber for that purpose."

"There are no gas leaks." I supposed everybody knew it, for I told all about it on at least one occasion, how insanitary and unhygienic and even dangerous it is to employ gas for heating without proper flue connection to carry away the products of combustion.

The odor the dentist complains of is the least objectionable part of it.
That odor is perhaps attributable to sulphur dioxide produced by the combustion of the minute quantity of sulphur compounds in most illuminating (coke) gas and all natural gas.
Sulphur dioxide gas in quantity in the atmosphere would be an extremely irritating and poisonous pollution, but in mere traces this formed probably have no other effect than the creation of a noticeable odor.

The headache may be produced by the accumulation of carbon dioxide gas in the room. That gas is formed in large quantity by the combustion of the carbon compounds in the gas.
It is equivalent, in its effect on the atmosphere, to the effect which could be produced if the dentist had, let us say, 20 patients, a couple of hundred and a dozen medium size dogs shut in his rooms for three hours. The odor, if any, from such a gathering, would also be the least objectionable feature.

Such a headache as the dentist complains of is more likely to be caused by the presence of minute traces of carbon monoxide gas in the air. This deadly poison is quite odorless; it is present in large quantity in illuminating gas, and it may escape unburned if a burner is covered with soot which becomes incandescent or if the metal of the burner gets red hot—just as it sometimes escapes from a gas water heater which is clogged with soot or which accidentally becomes red hot, or from a coal stove if the iron around the firepot becomes red hot.

But the simple pollution of the air with carbon dioxide gas (which is the same as the gas formed in our lungs and given off by breathing), a gas not in itself poisonous, but which crowds out the oxygen which we must get from the air, is the probable explanation of the unpleasant effects the dentist notices. Carbon dioxide, when present in large amount, may give the air a slightly heavy, sweetish, unpleasant odor.

The dentist speaks of ventilating without being too cold in the office. I doubt whether that is possible on a cold day if the heating is a pipeless gas stove. I should hitch a pipe to the gas stove and connect it to the chimney, or if necessary run it out thru a hole in the window, if I had to work in that office, even the the place thereby took on the appearance of a shanty.

The headache, depression, nausea, etc., from carbon dioxide pollution of the air, are the less objectionable feature; a more serious effect is the weakening of the blood and perhaps the lowering of resistance to respiratory infections.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Elements in Wheat

I have read that whole grain wheat contains all the 16 elements of which the human body is composed and in the proper proportion for human nourishment. Is this correct? (S.
N. M.)

Answer.—The wheat kernel is deficient in mineral salts and fat. Its protein is inferior to that of milk for human nutrition. Young animals do not grow well on wheat alone, but if the wheat is supplemented with the protein of milk, a little skim milk or cottage cheese, growth is normal.
This would probably apply to children too. Wheat protein, however, is not surpassed in biologic or nutritive value by the protein of any other cereal or grain. Wheat is too poor in calcium (lime), for one element, to meet the requirements of the growing child—another reason for adding milk to the diet. Milk is a rich source of calcium. The amounts of phosphorus, chlorine, sodium and iodine in the wheat kernel are also insufficient for human nutrition. So the passage you refer to is more rhetorical than physiological. Wheat is relatively poor in vitamins—the brain and the germ containing some vitamins (fat-soluble A, and water-soluble B) but the part we get in white flour containing almost none. Even unadorned whole wheat grains have no vitamin C—which is necessary to prevent scurvy.
So, if I may venture to say so, whole wheat isn't all it is cracked up to be.

No Germs in Letters

I correspond with a girl in a tuberculosis sanatorium. Father thinks she should destroy the letters she sends me as soon as I have read them, for he believes they carry germs. Please tell me if that is so. (Miss S. A.)

Answer.—No risk involved.

The Story of Life

My little daughter aged 11 is beginning to ask questions concerning the origin of life. I am puzzled just what to tell her and how. (Mrs. W.G.M.)

Answer.—Send 5 cents to superintending office, Washington, D. C. for a copy of the public health service pamphlet entitled "The Wonderful Story of Life." This is an outline of a mother's talks with her daughter regarding life and its reproduction. For older girls (over 16) I have a letter of instruction which gives the information I think girls of that age should have, and I am glad to send a copy to any such girl who accompanies her request for it with a stamped self addressed envelope. Girls under 16 should have the approval of mother before asking me for this letter.

"JUST TOWN TALK"

Copied Right By Mike

HE'S A mail carrier
AND HAS a route
OVER OUR way
AND EVERY little while HE HAS a news item
AND WHEN I meet him
I ALWAYS inquire
IF THERE'S anything new AND NEARLY always HE'LL COME thru
WITH SOMETHING of interest AND THIS morning
ON THE way down
I ENCOUNTERED him
AND WE stopped
AND HE began at once
TO TELL me a tale
(A VERY wild tale)
ABOUT SOME folks
THAT ARE my neighbors
AND HE was sure
THAT THE story's true
BECAUSE THE milkman
GAVE HIM the facts ANYWAY IT seems THAT THE man and wife
HAD BOTH gone crazy
BECAUSE EVERY morning
JUST ABOUT daylight
WHEN THE milkman came
WITH THE daily supply
HE'D FIND them both GOING UP and down
THE LONG front porch
ON HANDS and knees
AND THE milkman said
THEY'D BOTH gone daffy
AND THINK they're lions
AND AFTER the mail man
BID ME "good morning"
I COULDN'T decide WHETHER TO write it up OR JUST pass it up
FOR I happen to know THAT THESE very same folks WHO JOINTLY weigh OVER FOUR hundred pounds ARE READING a book
"ON HOW to reduce"
"WITHOUT STRENUOUS diets
"OR VIOLENT exercise."
AND OF course I know WHAT IT'S all about
BUT I'M keeping quiet
AND ENJOYING it
I THANK you.

LAUREL GRAY
LOVE GOSSIP

THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD

by Laurel Gray

Tall barriers and thick, made up of mighty blocks of adamant principles, no odds how correct and necessary they may seem when we erect this wall to guard against the elon-der arrows of Love, never do seem to protect us a bit. The mightiest fortress of resolution, reserve and haughty crum like a like the airiest cream puff when a good first-rate, thorough-going attack of Love sets in. You see the most powerful thing about

Love is that it defies logic, reason and the analysis of a mind. You may take resolves and draft them to fit your own particular case. You may build up an exterior of reserve and hauteur and for many a fine day you "get away with it" and the world thinks of you as being cold, aloof, unapproachable. Then, all of a sudden, right out of a clear sky you meet up with some particular Jack or some distinctive Jill and for no good reason at all all your hauteur melts, all your resolves dissolve and all your reserve yields before nothing more important and substantial than the twinkle of that Jack's eye or the dimple of that Jill's smile. Helgho, and a-lack-a-day!
That is love! Baffling, bewildering, contradictory, confusing, and restless love. Isn't it awful, Mabel?

Who recalls when we had t' break a couple o' eggs in a pair o' wet boots before we could get 'em on? "If she comes in tonight I'll try t' catch her in t' mornin' an' tell her," said Mrs. Tootson Bud, when somebody left a message for her daughter.

William Black and Donald McBean of the California Oregon Power com-
where they will be stationed for a month or more.

I have represented the people of Jackson County one term in the State Legislature and feel that the legislative experience gained has fitted me for larger and more practical service in the future.

I therefore announce myself as a candidate for the State Representative subject to the Republican primary.
Adv. 11.

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election as one of the two representatives from Jackson County to the State Legislature, subject to the May primary election. I pledge myself to the May primary election and to the people of Jackson County. I feel that my previous service in the legislature enables me to better serve the people.
Adv. 11.

SHERIFF
I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the nomination of Sheriff of Jackson County on the Republican ticket, subject to the voters of said county at the primaries in May. If nominated and elected I pledge myself to the people whom I shall appoint to enforce all laws including the 18th Amendment with efficiency and economy. If you do not want the law enforced, do not vote for me.
Adv. 11.

As a candidate in the Republican primaries for the office of Sheriff, I desire to clearly define my position on the future conduct of that office, if elected.

My experience as a deputy sheriff of Jackson County, and as a State Traffic Officer, has taught me that no peace officer can give satisfactory and efficient service to the people when his authority and responsibility are shared by another. The present unsatisfactory law enforcing conditions is largely attributable to divided authority between antagonistic peace officers, elements that are certain to produce conflict, inefficiency and useless expense.

If elected I shall insist upon and expect to maintain the right to perform all the duties of Sheriff in this County, and it follows that I will be uncompromisingly opposed to special officers except Federal judges and May primaries pledge full and complete cooperation. I am in thorough accord with both the letter and spirit of the prohibition laws and will give my active and untiring efforts to their enforcement.
Adv. 11.

CORONER
I hereby announce myself as a candidate on the Republican ticket, for nomination at the coming primary for the office of coroner of Jackson County.

By virtue of my profession as an undertaker, I feel that I have every qualification and the necessary equipment to properly handle any duties which may arise.
Adv. 11.

I am a republican candidate for reelection for Coroner of Jackson County, subject to primaries May 10.

Platform: Experience, personal attention, economic management, business and judicial taxpayer. I am interested in the economical management of all county offices.
Adv. 11.

I announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for County Clerk, subject to the primary in May. I will give every effort to perform the duties of my office in an economical and business-like manner.
Adv. 11.

I am a republican candidate for reelection for County Clerk of Jackson County, subject to the primary in May 10.

If elected County Clerk I will give to the office that degree of efficiency which the people are justified in demanding of a public official.
Adv. 11.

TREASURER
I am a candidate for the republican nomination for a second term as Treasurer of Jackson County, subject to the May primary. If nominated and elected I will conduct the office as in the past, in accordance with the laws of the state.
Adv. 11.

Believing that I may be of service to the people of Jackson County I hereby submit my candidacy for the republican nomination for Judge of the County Court at the May primaries.
Adv. 11.

I hereby announce my candidacy for County Judge, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary, on the following platform:

Reduce taxes through an economical and business-like administration of county affairs. Stop needless expenditures and waste and give proper support and attention to good roads, public schools and other vital and public necessities. Enforce the prohibition law efficiently and properly through proper agencies and eliminate special law enforcing organizations which are now causing divided authority and needless expense. Give to all a fair square deal and not be responsible to any political faction, clique or organization.
Adv. 11.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT
I am a candidate at the May primaries for the Republican nomination as County School Superintendent of Jackson County. I have served the county for three and a half years as county superintendent, and will, if again elected, work earnestly for the cause of education as heretofore.
Adv. 11.

I am a candidate for re-nomination on the Republican ticket for the office of County Assessor, subject to the May primary. If nominated and elected I promise to give the same efficient service in the conduct of the office that I have in the past, and will continue to work for a better equalization of property values.
Adv. 11.
