THE PIKERS

New York, Feb. 10.—Not one friend of her gayer days came to the bier of Louise Lawson as the body of the slain butterfly lay in a plain white coffin with silver handles in Frank Dalton's undertaking shop in Brooklyn Sunday. Clad in a mauve georgette dress, with her spun golden hair framing a face upon which lingered the trace of a wistful smile, what was left of Louise Lawson waited for her wealthy friends who did not come, "by the world forgot."

EVOLUTION ON THE FARM

Once upon a time there was a farmer who thought he knew it all. When it rained he knew enough to stay in the house. When the sun was out in all its glory he knew that was the best time to go automobile riding. He is now learning how to conduct the affairs of the timber industry where his work as a logger does not depend on the rain and the sun.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

THE MEXICANS are vigorous, where vigor is a crime; with weapons long and triggerous they have a redhot time. Their president, laborious, has worked away like heck, to make the country glorious, with government on deck. And all the world was muttering, "Old Mexico's sane; her wits, that once were fluttering, are grinding corn again. Her people, once vociferous against the arts of peace, have found said arts splendidous, and things are slick as grease." Not long does peace seem beautiful to those misguided wights; again they think it dutiful to shoot out all the lights. They think that peace is ruinous, they cry, "Let's start a scrap; let's go, with home made brew in us, and muss up all the map." They pray, "The saints deliver us from every peaceful stunt," and in their wagons flivverous they hasten to the front. Old Mexico's notorious for wealth that is unmined; her people, so uproarious, detest the worker's grind. The hopeful peace is withering that late made some advance, for blatant men and blithering won't give the dove a chance. They cry, "Let war gods foster us, peace is too coarse and raw"; and it is all preposterous—there ought to be a law.

LINCOLN, COOLIDGE, DENBY, ETC.

WE DON'T know what President Coolidge will say in his Lincoln day speech tonight, but we know that his last official act before leaving Washington was decidedly Lincolnian in spirit. Declaring that he refused to sacrifice any innocent man for the sake of advancing his own political fortunes, President Coolidge flatly declined to obey the senatorial command, that he discharge Secretary Denby without a hearing.

Lincoln showed a similar courage and loyalty when in the midst of military reverses, he refused to yield to the demand of politicians, that this man or that man be dismissed from his official family.

The cardinal element of Abraham Lincoln's nature was an uncompromising sense of justice. Regardless of his own political fortunes, regardless of how his motives might be misinterpreted he would be just to all,—to friend to foe, to the good or bad, powerful or weak.—his sense of justice and his love for truth were such that no threat of injury, no fear of ill fortune, would deter him from the path of being fair and square with everyone.

No one knows what the transgressions of the bald headed and amiable Secretary of the Navy have been,—least of all the senators who voted for his summary dismissal and disgrace. No one will know until all the facts have been produced, and a hearing given, free from the truth-destroying atmosphere of passion and politics.

To have dismissed Denby forthwith would undoubtedly have been good politics. Politically the President had nothing to lose and everything to gain, by such popular and dramatic action. But he refused just as every right minded man in his position would have refused who cares more for what is right, than for what is politically expedient.

If Secretary Denby is proven to be guilty, either of criminal action or serious negligence, President Coolidge will be the first to show him the door. But until his guilt is established he will be accorded the privilege of every American citizen to be regarded as innocent, until proved guilty.

The Only Disease Caused by Cold. Although there still is no such disease as a "cold" in the head or any other part of the body, there is no denying that exposure to cold, wet feet and the like cause one disease, which is the only disease cold ever does cause, namely, frostbite. The early winter has been so mild this year that I shall take just a slight cold in the feet for my topic. That is chilblain.

Chilblain is a mild or first degree frostbite. It may be compared with a mild or first degree burn, which is one that reddens the skin and causes considerable smarting if it is not treated. It is a mild or first degree burn, which is one that reddens the skin and causes considerable smarting if it is not treated.

In most instances chilblain consists of erythematous (flushed or reddened) patches about the heels and borders of feet, or perhaps upon the fingers, the ears or the nose. The region affected is cold, tender, and when exposed to heat burns or itches intensely. It occurs chiefly in persons who have a poorly trained or very coddled vasomotor apparatus—persons who harbor the fancy that the body warmth is maintained by the amount of clothing worn and by the temperature of the air and who consequently weaken their own vasomotor apparatus by relying too much upon these artificialities which, after all, have nothing to do with the warmth of the body.

Having thrown the foregoing argument off my chest, I'm going to do an imitation of a health officer who teaches the simple public that "all so-called colds are caused by infection from person or persons" and then warns the still simpler public to be careful not to get caught in a draft or go out without heavy underwear. I'm going to recommend the wearing of nice woolen stockings as a means of preventing chilblains. This isn't so very inconspicuous as it might seem at first blush, for after all, didn't I frankly avow at the beginning of this talk that chilblain is caused by cold? The individual who is susceptible to, or, if you'll be sure not to misunderstand, takes cold in his feet—we've got to treat him gently, coddle him along. Those of us who do not believe in taking cold even in the feet need not encase our feet or any of the rest of our body in wool if we don't think it comfortable. The amount and kind of clothing which is most comfortable to the individual is certainly most hygienic for that individual in all circumstances.

The shoes should be loose, for everybody knows that tight shoes make the feet cold and interfere with circulation. Cork insoles are useful in the prevention of chilblain if the feet sweat at all. Sweating of the feet must be carefully treated and

TOW LINE SNAPS IN MID-OCEAN, 2 MEN DROWNED

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 11.—Two men were drowned and a third was rescued yesterday when a boat belonging to the steamer Elkridge upset in the Pacific ocean while the men were repairing a tow line with which the steamer Elkridge has been towing the Norwegian steamer Balto, according to advices received today by the Columbia Pacific Steamship company, which operates the Elkridge. The dead are: Johannes Nansen of Portland, Ore., second mate of the Elkridge; Nels Erickson of Galveston, Texas, able seaman of the Elkridge.

Fred Johnson of Seattle, able seaman, was thrown into the ocean but was rescued and is now safe aboard the Elkridge.

The tow line snapped yesterday when the Elkridge and her tow were about 1,000 miles north of Honolulu. The Elkridge sent out a boat to effect repairs and in some manner, which has not been explained in advices received here, the boat upset.

The Elkridge picked up the Balto last week when the latter became disabled in the Pacific ocean while en route from Japan to Portland.

Constipation can ruin your health—get permanent relief with Kellogg's Bran

When clean and clear, the intestine is converting wholesome food into vigorous health. But when clogged by constipation, it generates poisons from the obstructed food that can lead to many serious diseases.

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It has a natural, healthy action. It works exactly as nature acts. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to relieve permanently the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer will return your money.

LAUREL CRAW LOVE GOSSIP

THE GREATEST THING IN THE WORLD by Laurel Gray

Curiosity is the gayest color of the modern romantic scene. When talent, genius, attention and a doration seem to dull and sombre, curiosity may always be depended upon to provide the necessary splash of vivid color to the grand display. While it is unquestionably true that the unique and unusual facets of a man's character will arouse a woman's curiosity it is equally true that the homeliest virtues of a woman will attract the attention and arouse the curiosity of a man.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

STATE REPRESENTATIVES. I have represented the people of Jackson County one term in the State legislature and feel that the legislative experience gained has fitted me for a larger and more practical service in the future.

I therefore announce myself as a candidate for the State Representative subject to the republican primary. RALPH COWGILL, Adv. 11.

I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election as one of the two representatives from Jackson County to the State Legislature, subject to the May primary.

I feel that my previous service in the legislature enables me to better serve the people. JOHN H. CARRIN, Adv. 11.

SHERIFF. I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of Sheriff of Jackson County on the republican ticket, subject to the voters of said county at the primaries in May. If nominated and elected I pledge myself and the deputies whom I shall appoint to enforce all laws including the Prohibition law and to protect and defend the same.

If you do not want the laws enforced, do not vote for me. D. A. LYONS, Central Point, Adv. 11.

As a candidate in the republican primaries for the office of Sheriff, I desire to clearly define my position on the future conduct of that office, if elected.

My experience as a deputy sheriff of Jackson County, and as a State Traffic Officer, has taught me that no peace officer can give satisfactory and efficient service to the public when his authority and responsibility are shared by another. The present unsatisfactory law-enforcing conditions are largely attributable to divided authority between antagonistic peace officers, elements that are certain to produce confusion, inefficiency and expense.

If elected I shall insist upon and exact to maintain the right to perform all the duties of Sheriff in this County, and it follows that I will be uncompromisingly opposed to special officers except Eminent Agents, with whom I pledge full and complete cooperation. I am in agreement with both the letter and spirit of the prohibition law and will actively and untiringly efforts in its enforcement. Adv. 11. J. J. McMAHON.

CORONER. I hereby announce myself as a candidate on the republican ticket, for nomination at the coming primary for the office of coroner of Jackson County.

By virtue of my profession as an undertaker, I feel that I have every qualification and the necessary equipment to properly handle any duties which may arise. H. W. CONIGER, Adv. 11.

I am a republican candidate for reelection for Coroner of Jackson County, subject to primaries May 16.

Platform: Experience, personal attention, economic management. Being a substantial taxpayer I am interested in the economical management of all county affairs. JOHN A. PERL, Adv. 11.

COUNTY CLERK. I announce myself as a candidate for the republican nomination for County Clerk, subject to the May primary.

If elected I promise to perform the duties of my office in an economical and business-like manner. W. H. CHANDALL, Eagle Point, Adv. 11.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate on the republican ticket for nomination for the office of County Clerk at the May primaries.

I have for the past five years been a deputy county clerk and am familiar with every branch of the office, and if elected, I will give close attention to the duties of the office and feel confident that I will properly discharge my duties. DELLILA STEVENS, Medford R. F. D. 1, Adv. 11.

I am a candidate for the office of County Clerk, on the republican ticket, subject to the primary on May 16.

If elected County Clerk I will give to the office that high degree of efficiency which the people are justified in demanding of a public official. CARL V. TENWALD, Medford, Adv. 11.

TREASURER. I am a candidate for the republican nomination for a second term as Treasurer of Jackson County, subject to the May primary. If nominated and elected I will conduct the office as in the past, in accordance with the laws of the state. A. C. WALKER, Adv. 11.

JUDGE COUNTY COURT. Believing that it may be of service to the people of Jackson County to hereby submit my candidacy for the republican nomination for Judge of the County Court at the May primaries.

W. J. HARTZELL, Adv. 11.

I hereby announce my candidacy for County Judge, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary, on the following platform:

Reduce taxes through an economical and business-like administration of county affairs. Stop needless expenditures and waste and give proper support and attention to good roads, public schools and other vital and public concerns. Enforce the prohibition law efficiently and properly through proper agencies and eliminate special law enforcing organizations which are now causing divided authority and needless expense. Give to all a fair, square deal and not be responsible to any political faction, clique or organization. WILLIAM ULRICH, Adv. 11.

COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT. I am a candidate at the May primaries for the republican nomination as County Superintendent of Jackson County. I have as county superintendent for three and a half years elected, work earnestly for the cause of education as heretofore. SUSANNE HOMES CARTER, Adv. 11.

COUNTY ASSESSOR. I am a candidate for re-nomination on the republican ticket for the office of County Assessor, subject to the May primary. If nominated and elected I promise to give the same efficient service in the conduct of the office that I have in the past, and will continue to work for a better equalization of property values. Adv. 11. J. B. COLEMAN.

Thousands Have "Tobacco Stomach"

The excessive use of tobacco is one of the most common causes of indigestion and stomach inflammation. Whether you smoke or chew makes little difference. The highly irritating juice of the weed is swallowed with the saliva, often setting up an acute inflammation of the stomach which may end in gastritis or chronic stomach inflammation.
