BOSTON BASEBALL STAR FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN LAJOLLA

SA NDIEGO, Cal., Feb. 16.—No man D. Boeckel, the brilliant third baseman of the Boston Nationals, who was seriously injured early yesterday in an automobile accident north of this city was fighting for his life this morning at the Lajolla hospital.

Boeckel was conscious for some time last night and spoke a few words. It was reported and hope was held out for his recovery. Dr. Homer C. Outman, who is attending the injured baseball player, said, however, that Boeckel's condition was very serious. He added that if Boeckel continued in his present condition for perhaps 36 hours after midnight last night his chances of ultimate recovery would be good.

BURLENBACH SCORES HIS 24TH KNOCKOUT

SAVANNAH, Ga.—Young Stribling, Georgia light-heavyweight, knocked out Roughhouse Toss of Miami, Fla. in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout.

JOPLIN, Mo.—Joe Stecher, heavy-weight wrestler, won over Jack Roller, Oregon in two straight falls.

DUNDEE AND GORMAN BATTLE TO A DRAW

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 16.—Mike Dundee of Rock Island, Ill., and Joe Gorman of Portland, slugged ten rounds to a draw here last night. After slow beginning Dundee suddenly walked out in the sixth and floored Gorman for a short count, but Gorman came back with both hands and was strong at the finish. In the eighth Gorman dropped Dundee with a terrific right to the jaw. Dundee had the better of the tenth, in which he knocked Gorman against the ropes and had him groggy, but could not finish him.

TARIFF ON WHEAT MAY BE RAISED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Preliminary reports received by President Coolidge on the tariff commission's wheat investigation are regarded by him as indicating that the present wheat duties of thirty cents a bushel probably should be increased.

The commission's investigations have not been completed, however, and the president has formulated no final opinion as to the action to be taken under the flexible provision of the tariff law, under which a maximum increase of fifteen cents a bushel could be granted.

THOMAS A. EDISON GIVES ADVICE TO U. S. MOVIE STARS

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Thomas A. Edison last night attended a dinner given in his honor at the Ritz-Carlton by the motion picture industry, but instead of speaking, handed his prepared speech to his secretary to read. It contained a bit of advice and a bit of humor.

"A tendency toward stage fright which has prevented me from becoming a dangerous rival of Fairbanks or Valentino, coupled with my extreme deafness, makes it impossible for me to speak in public," he wrote. "I believe, as I always have believed, that you control the most powerful instrument in the world for good or evil."

"Because I was working before most of you were born, I am going to bore you with a little advice. Remember that you are servants of the public and do not let the desire for money or power prevent you from giving the public the best work of which you are capable."

"It is not the quantity of riches that counts; it's the quality which produces happiness, where that is possible."

The inventor was lauded by Will Hays, Hudson Maxim, Geo. Eastman, Rupert Hughes and others and after the speaking program was finished Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford were called upon for tributes.

Mr. Edison was so pleased with Miss Pickford's little speech that he hurried over to her table and wrote on her program: "To Mary Pickford, the darling of America."

EAGLE POINT EAGLETS

By A. C. Howlett

Among the callers for dinner at the Sunnyside Monday were Miss Gwendolyn E. Brophy, Miss Beatrice Russell, Miss Ruby Haley, John Nichols and wife and daughter, Mrs. Wilbur Jack and daughter Edna Anson Kenneth. They had just returned from the funeral of John Wilbur Jack and called for dinner, although it was past dinner time.

Miss Ruby Haley of Central Point, formerly a citizen of this community, had attended the funeral and came out to spend a week or so with her brother, Percy Haley and his wife.

Among the callers Tuesday was John Minter and William Merrill who is engaged in the poultry business and came in to dispose of his eggs.

Charles Cingcade came in Tuesday morning to have our blacksmith do some repair work on his car, but he declined the job and sent him to George Holmes, our garage man.

Jack Doubleday and his stepson, Earl Miles and W. A. Jennings of Butte Falls came out Tuesday on their way to Medford.

Mrs. Myrtle Von der Hellen and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Zundel, the latter living on the old home place where she was born and raised, the old William C. Daley farm on the north fork of Little Butte creek, were here trading with Fred McPherson Tuesday and so was Frank D. Hill of Derby. I also met Mrs. Carlyle Natick the same day and she told me that they were going into the dairy business and intend to keep about 25 good dairy cows.

Fred McPherson being one of the principal witnesses in the cases where the parties were charged with drunkenness, has been called to Jacksonville to attend court and has had Mrs. R. A. Weidman take charge of the store during his absence.

I also met Alex Anderson who is living on the C. E. Terrill farm just above Brownboro, and he tells me that his sheep are doing fine this winter, that the grass has been so good that he has not had to feed any hay since the first of February. I also met Mrs. Pete Betts at the same time and place, the Browns store, also J. L. Robinson who was there trading but remained but a few minutes.

While I was at the Browns store Frank Brown remarked to me that he could not see how I managed to find so many things to write for the Mail Tribune, and I told him that I hunted for them and asked questions. After leaving there on my way home I dropped into the McPherson store again and there I met Miss Bess Javbury and her brother-in-law, J. W. Hovey, the superintendent of the Allvita orchard. She said that she had come from her home in Rood River to spend some time with her sister and that she was delighted with the Oregon scenery and especially with our southern Oregon climate.

Mrs. W. S. Baker and Mrs. J. A. Mayple of Derby called here on their way from Medford where they had been on business.

H. W. Ward and his brother J. W. Ward were doing business with Nichols & Ashpole Thursday and I also met Frank Ditsworth in my rounds the same day.

PEACE ON EARTH GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN

"Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away."—Abraham Lincoln, March 4th, 1865

A DRIAN GU-SPEAR, a New York artist, contributed probably the most original idea in the recent Peace Christmas Card Competition conducted by the National League of Women Voters, with his portrait of Lincoln and a quotation from Lincoln's Gettysburg speech.

These lines, "Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away," are familiar to every school child and will be read in honor of Lincoln's birthday, February 12th, at school, club, church and community gatherings throughout the country.

Old Reese farm on Rogue river, now occupied by the Britton brothers was here in town Thursday, on his way up to his ranch. He had been down in California visiting relatives but did not like the climate as it was too chilly for him so came back to enjoy our extra fine climate.

Everett Culbertson was patronizing Brown Bros. store Thursday, and so was Alex Anderson and his wife.

John Ladon, of Indian creek, was in town and buying supplies. Joe Mayhew was also doing business here the same day.

Miss Alice Hanley and her niece, Miss Mary Hanley, were here on business the same day, and so was Chas. Fellows of Trail.

D. R. Patrick, one of our occasional boarders and a carpenter, who has been away on business returned to his room at the Sunnyside Thursday. There have been quite a number of our leading citizens called to Jacksonville to be witnesses in the cases pending in circuit court the last two or three days and there is considerable fault finding about the way our courts are conducted, but it is generally by those who are in sympathy with the law violators, and many of them encourage the violators by condemning the law and proposing radical changes in favor of giving every body the right to make and sell the stuff and make light of the violation of the law as a matter of no consequence.

Mrs. Higbee and her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Officer of Clarendon, Texas, with Mrs. Officer's two children, stopped to visit the Canfields last week. They are old friends of Mr. Canfield. They are extensive land holders and cattle owners of early Texas history. One of the characters mentioned in "North of Thirty-Six" was a partner of Mr. Higbee's. Mrs. Higbee is the mother of eight children, and they are on a tour, visiting each one.

COLEMAN CREEK

When the great Oregon Seizer (unkindly dubbed Chief Weeping Walter by the champion political fence jumping bellweather of southern Oregon). When he (Seizer) felt the prick of poisoned arrows in his back, he turned sadly around to gaze upon his cruel persecutors, and beheld the poisoned pen held aloft for another fierce thrust, saw it was a quill from the wing of a game bird, decorated with a sacred splinter from the last fiery cross burned on Roxy Anne, and the left hind leg of a white rabbit caught by Brer Puss in Boots in the dark of the moon at midnight of election eve under the fence of the political graveyard. Fluttering from the feathered end was the republican campaign slogan of 1922, "Vote her straight! Vote for Pierce!" And that the pen was dipped in the gall of a fish from his own game preserve, wielded in the hand of his erstwhile friend, said bellweather, the great Seizer cried out in agony—"Et tu, Bertie, thou art the most unkindest
