Sunday afternoon was so warm and delightful that it tempted a number of young ladies to go in swimming in the open air tank at Jackson Hot Springs, to the wonder of all the passing motorists on the highway. To be able to swim out of doors on a February afternoon in southern Oregon why go south?, they say.

A large and appreciative audience was present Sunday evening at the First Baptist church to hear the monthly sacred concert given by the choir of the church. The program was a varied one, consisting of anthems by the choir, soprano solo by Ruth Warner, and a tenor solo by George Maddox, and a violin solo by Carlton Jones. The special instrumental trio by Messrs. James, Root and Scott was of high merit. A practical address was given by Rev. F. R. Leach on "Religion in the Wife's Name." A liberal offering was given for the support of the musical program of the church. Mr. Scott, organist-director opened the service with an organ recital.

The outlook for the cattle industry is more optimistic at this time than it has been for several years, according to Dr. W. H. Lytle, state veterinarian, who recently returned from a visit to Malheur, Baker and Harney counties. The new winter has provided good grazing throughout that section, while cheap hay has also made for low cost of wintering the stock, which has come thru the winter in good shape. Cattlemen who have managed to hold on to their herds are now in a fair way to realize a little profit, Lytle declares.

The Crater Lake highway from Medford to McLeod is at the present time in perfect condition as found by a number of motorists who made the drive Sunday. The road from McLeod to near Cascade Gorge is at present under construction and impassable except for horses or teams. However this construction work is nearing completion and the road will be ready for surfacing by the 1st of April. This part of the road has been so straightened and widened that it is hardly recognizable as the old highway. Those who live at Prospect and on the closed portion of the road are obliged to leave their cars on either side of the construction and use teams or else take a detour.

Dramatic Scenes of Hardy Pioneers Winning the West

Deploring on an impressive dramatic scale the winning of the west by the hardy pioneers of three-quarters of a century ago, "The Covered Wagon" will open an engagement at the Rialto theatre on Friday, Feb. 23, and two performances will be given each day, the engagement closing Saturday night, March 1st.

"The Covered Wagon" according to leading critics and theatergoers who have seen it, combines scenes of grandeur with a tensely dramatic story skillfully developed. It visualizes a vital epoch in the history of America. It glorifies, in a way, the heroic souls who first brought civilization to the vast western territory which now includes several of the greatest states in the union.

A special musical program, interpreted by an orchestra of 15 that travels with the company, is an enjoyable feature of the coming engagement. J. Warren Kerrigan and Lois Wilson play the two leading roles. Others of prominence in the cast are Ernest Torrence, Tully Marshall, Charles O'Grady, Ethel Wales, Ann Hale, Guy Oliver, Johnnie Fox and Florence Tagan.

"Flaming Youth" Coming

How a youth posed as the son of a wealthy woman, as a member of a blackmailing gang, unaware that she was in truth his mother, forms one of the big dramatic moments in "The Age of Desire," which closes at the Rialto tonight.

"Flaming Youth," a daring story of reckless, unconventional youth, comes to the Rialto theatre tomorrow.

Colleen Moore is to be seen in the featured role as Patricia Fenris, the youngest butterfly daughter of a jazz family who flits from one love affair to another and all but has her wings singed until her final awakening is a genuine romance.
