Republicans Open County Headquarters

The republican county central committee has secured rooms on the second floor of the Liberty building and opened headquarters for the campaign Candidates, members of the central committee and republicans generally are expected to report at the headquarters and assist in the work of the campaign, which it is believed will be going in high gear from this time on until the election is over and the votes are counted.

The first gun of the total campaign will be fired Saturday evening, October 25, when a meeting will be held at the Grange hall, Wimer, when the speakers will be C. E. Gates and County Assessor Coleman. The latter will devote particular attention to the matter of county taxation; a subject in which all are vitally interested, no matter what their politics. The republican county and legislative candidates will be present. Other meetings in the county are being arranged, the time, place and speakers to be announced later.
