2 RECORDS FOR RAINFALL BROKEN DURING OCTOBER

The outstanding feature of the October official weather report is the record amount of rain that fell that month, but otherwise its temperature was about normal for this time of year.

Two records were broken by the rainfall; first in its amount, 4.59 inches, which is about one-third of the yearly average of 15 inches, and second, by having the greatest amount of rain, 2.32 inches, which fell in any 24 hours in the local weather bureau history, which came on the 31st.

Only four days of October were clear. Three were partly cloudy and 24 days cloudy. The temperatures were as follows: Mean maximum, 64.03; mean minimum, 40.54; maximum, 80 on the 20th; minimum, 25, on the 12th; greatest daily range, 41.

Table with 5 columns: Date, Max., Min., Pre., Chr. It lists weather data for each day of the month from Oct 1 to Oct 31.

The Screen

At the Rialto. Speed—speed and more speed—that's Betty Compton in "Miami," one of the greatest society pictures ever filmed, which opens a three days' run at the Rialto theater tomorrow at 12:30.

"The White Moth" closes at the Hunt's Craterian tonight. It's a picture of gay night life in Paris and New York.

Barbara La Marr, as "The White Moth," an American girl who becomes the dancing sensation of the Paris stage, with a legion of suitors, was never better cast, and Conway Tearle, co-featured with her as a millionaire who marries her to stop the romance of his brother, gives a powerful performance.

New special matinee Tuesday.

All Night Show Tuesday Craterian

NIGHT IN PARIS TO MARK CLOSE ARMISTICE DAY

When the clock strikes midnight Armistice night, a bit of Paris with all its bright lights, may night life, singing and dancing, will be transplanted to the Oriental Gardens and southern Oregon pleasure seekers will make merry till after 2 o'clock in the morning. This affair more brilliant even than the last Legion society cabaret, will be an event which will top off a glorious day of activity, featured by the legion boys as a supplement to their Armistice day dance.

To begin with there will be a seven-piece girls' orchestra, which will supply the music for dancing, and 12 acts by the Juhasz-Natanson, vaudeville entertainers, including singing, dancing and comedy skits, will fill two and one-half hours with joyful merry making. The Armistice day legion committee spared neither effort or expense to secure this troupe, which is now on its way to Chicago.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN

if the Amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Law Passes

Citizens and Voters:

Oregon's working people, her farmers, dairymen and industries, need your held to defeat the reactionary amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Law. If this vicious measure is enacted, here is what would happen:

- 1 Oregon's 47,000 farmers could be forced to come under the compensation law and would be compelled to pay into the State Accident Fund and submit to its arbitrary dictation. In addition to extra financial burdens, they would have to make reports and open their books to state inspectors.
2 A three-man political commission would be created with legislative, judicial and executive powers that would be final. This would take from the working men, farmers, and industries their basic rights of appeal and of fair hearing before a jury.
3 It would create a commission that would be above the law—answerable to no other authority and as such, it would be judge and jury of its own actions.
4 It could make its compensation awards to injured or crippled men as little as it pleased; it could delay payments of compensation, arbitrarily raise the workmen's rates, or refuse to extend medical treatment, and an injured workman, or his dependents, would have absolutely no right of appeal to an American jury.
5 It would automatically create a state medical and hospital trust, because the amendment specifically forbids employer and employee alike, to provide medical and surgical care, except under the monopolistic control of the commission.
6 It would force an injured and sick working man to receive treatment from doctors of the commission's choosing, or go without, or bear the heavy expenses of private treatment himself.
7 It would wreck the present good compensation law which guarantees every working man specific compensation and proper care when injured.
8 It would replace this certain protection by arbitrary rules of three men, who could as easily be unfair, narrow, and prejudiced as they could be just.
9 It would again mark the return of ambulance-chasing and slyster lawyers who, prior to the operation of the present compensation law, waxed fat on the misfortunes of the laboring man.
10 It would take from the state legislature all power to correct any evils in the law. No matter how glaring or injurious these evils might be, the people of Oregon would be powerless for at least a year and a half to make any changes whatsoever. The people could not even vote to direct an audit of accounts, nor to investigate any of the commission's actions, nor to remove an unfit commissioner, however urgently required.
11 The amendment would, in fact, give politicians such dangerous powers that conditions could easily be made intolerable for our working people, our farmers and our industries.
12 There is no need for it. The present law is a good law. The worker knows that the rates of compensation for injuries are fixed specifically by law and if a man is treated unfairly he can appeal to a jury. The proposed amendment would sweep away all these rights now guaranteed, and many others.

This so-called amendment was initiated by a small group of professional agitators, after they had failed to put their reactionary scheme over on a special committee of known friends of the compensation idea. This committee was appointed by Governor Pierce in 1923, to study the compensation law and further improve it. The constructive work of this committee was brought to naught, when these reactionary forces carried out their oft-repeated threat to saddle onto Oregon this form of state monopoly and despotic control over her working people, her agricultural interests and her industries, by popular vote.

There is only one way to save Oregon and her workers, farmers, and industries from this menace
