KIWANIS CLUB HEAR TRAFFIC TALK BY CHIEF RAFFERTY

T. A. Rafferty, chief traffic officer of the state highways, was the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon Monday noon, his talk being along the lines of educating people to the observance of the traffic and laws in general as well as statistical.

He said in part: "The Crater Lake park is one of the finest national parks in the country, the Pacific highway is the only one serving the entire country from Canada to Mexico and it's up to the people of Oregon and especially of this locality, to take advantage of this fact and advertise Crater Lake and other attractions to the world."

"Of the entire registration of tourists in Oregon this year Jackson county had 40 per cent. The county is second largest in the state in increase of autos, traffic being 29 per cent over 1923. It is fifth in number of licenses issued and ninth in auto accidents."

"The rules of the road are the same as the golden rule. All have equal privileges and autos are not given any preference, as many seem to think. Some of the means of making traffic safer is the auto horn as means of communication and warning, signals along highways, limiting speed, signals, etc."

"Not only has the auto been a wonderful aid as a mode of travel and pleasure and in the transaction of business, but it has proven a great asset in the commission of crime. The criminal finds it very valuable and it is a great incentive for the youth of the land to learn disregard not only for the speed and other laws, including the moral law. Traffic officers find many cases of unspeakable happenings without any apology to act."

Mr. Rafferty said he believed in all officers of the government and state having a high regard for the dignity of their positions, including traffic officers, but said he believed at all times they should realize they are the representatives of the people and not their superiors. He paid a high compliment to the respect for law being created by Judge Glenn Taylor in administering justice in traffic and other laws of the state.

In closing he said he was not here in the interest of any new legislation or any special business but at the solicitation of the president of the club to make a talk, called attention to the large number of auto accidents in the state, they having reached over 5000 up to July 1st this year and appealed to everyone to not only observe the law relating to traffic, but to endeavor to get others to do the same and to be more ready to uphold those whose duty it is to enforce the laws and not be so ready to criticize them.

President Lemmon told of five members and himself visiting the Ashland club last week and meeting Lieutenant Governor Strange of Oregon Kiwanis.

Glen Fabric told of two specific cases where Kiwanians had rendered valuable service in the underprivileged child movement.

C. Y. Tengwald said the American Legion golf course on the fair grounds is completed and that all could play free this week.

Paul McDonald received the attendance prize.

Miss Betty Kausal told of Sarg's Marionettes to be presented at the armory this evening.

ENTRIES POUR IN FOR WINTER FAIR ASHLAND, DEC. 9

ASHLAND, Dec. 1.—Entries are coming in already for the poultry show to be held here December 9-12 inclusive; the largest entry so far has been that of S. K. Hartsock, well known poultry raiser of Corvallis, who sent an entry fee for twenty-four birds. It is estimated that entries will easily reach 600 birds, for fanciers from Oregon, Washington and California have signified their intentions of entering birds at the Winter Fair. Harry Collier has been secured to select the winners on the poultry division. He is president of the National Poultry Judge's association and is recognized as a leading poultry authority. Other judges are to be selected. J. H. Fuller, secretary of Chamber of Commerce is busy distributing advertising material throughout Southern Oregon. The posters, used in advertising have been painted by Mrs. Edna Forsythe and are attracting a very great deal of attention. A new set of posters are now in preparation. The entertainment features are not fully arranged, but it is decided that the evening of December 12 will be carnival night. Unique features are planned however and visitors will be well paid for attending.

Miss Iona Bechtel and Lloyd Stanley Smith were married at the Presbyterian manse Saturday evening, the Rev. J. C. Mergler officiating. Miss Bechtel was accompanied by her mother, and the groom was attended by Leslie Heer. Miss Bechtel is a senior in high school, a lovable girl, and has many friends who wish her every happiness. Mr. Smith is an employee of the Southern Pacific. Good wishes are extended the young people for a life of happy usefulness.

Seventy-eight young folks made merry at the U. O. F. Hall Saturday evening when the Girl Reserve entertained at a leap year affair, the function being chaperoned by their leader, Mrs. C. V. Howell, and a number of assistants. The hall was artistically decorated in the Reserve colors of blue and white, with greenery and conspicuous in its Christmasy aspect, was seen the midgets. Games, varied and entertaining, occupied the young folks and in the banquet room the guests were served a delightful luncheon at which toasts were given by Earl Nutter, who felicitated "The Girls" in happy phrase, and "The Boys" received pleasant recognition by Miss Marian Leach. Riley Pittenger spoke very much to the point during the course of the banquet. Coach Hughes acted as master of ceremonies and right well he performed his duties. This delightful party has been anticipated with a great deal of pleasure and none were disappointed for the young people report a wonderful evening of fun and frolic.

Miss Frances Prater, teacher of English in A. H. S., has returned to Ashland, to resume her duties in the high school. Her father brought her down from her home in Riddle. Miss Prater has been very ill and has made a slow recovery, but she is feeling quite herself now and enters school Monday.

In the death of Mrs. I. D. Glenn, Saturday night, many friends are saddened. Mrs. Glenn has been ill for months; at times a great sufferer, and her friends have shared the anxiety of relatives, with whom they deeply sympathize. Mrs. Glenn is a sister of Mrs. Robert Nell and Miss Harvove and the mother of Mrs. T. H. Simpson. Announcement will be made in later notes of funeral arrangements.

A bit of romance was discovered in one of the local restaurants Saturday morning, when a party from Grants Pass, Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Redford, their family of four children, and Mr. Charles Freeman stopped to breakfast there before starting on their trip to southern California. At Yreka, the party would resolve itself into a bridal party, with Miss Edna Redford, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Redford, and Charles Freeman as bride and groom, the ceremony to take place at noon, the Christian minister officiating clergyman. Miss Redford would be a very youthful bride, not quite sixteen; the groom twenty-four, an ex-service man, having served as lieutenant overseas, where he was wounded. His home is at Lake Tahoe, where his father owns an immense cattle ranch, and where the young people's home will be after a winter spent in southern California. It was the young man was in Ashland in 1920, as a rider at the rodeo, having brought a string of horses here from his father's ranch.

Little six year old James Baughman, son of Fire Chief Baughman, suffered a serious accident Friday, when he fell from a table where he was playing, and broke his collar bone. The little lad was resting easily Saturday.

Friday evening Troop 2, of the Boy Scouts, had a treat in the interesting talk by Dr. F. G. Swedenburg, on his experiences in Europe during his recent trip abroad. He came in contact with American Scouts there, being in Europe at the time of the International Scout Olympiad, an event similar to the Olympic games.

The Rogue River Valley Ministerial association will have an all day session at Grants Pass today. It is understood that all the Medford ministers are expecting to attend, and it is expected that there will be a strong delegation go down from Ashland.

The Westminster Guild of the Presbyterian church will hold its quarterly banquet December 5, at six o'clock. At this time mite bags are brought in, the contributions going for the regular missionary apportionment of the Guild.

Adena Spencer was hostess to the members of Mrs. V. V. Mills' Sunday school class at the home of Mrs. Don Spencer, at a "Backwards" party during the progress of which the most absurd situations arose from the reversed order of things. Needless to say the girls had fun of fun.

The high school play, "The Charm School," will be given Wednesday night and from all reports, will be most entertaining. Under Miss Wheeler's direction, rehearsals have been very satisfactory and it bids fair to be an all-star cast.

Cleon Caldwell and Ermole Carlton accompanied by Raymond McGee and Mrs. Caldwell left for O. A. C. this afternoon. (Sunday.) Raymond McGee went up for the trip and will accompany Mrs. Caldwell on her return from Corvallis.

Mr. Doran has just returned from a business trip to Corning, Cal., which occupied several days.

Many of the teachers who spent the holidays with parents or friends have returned and will resume their routine of work Monday.
