self-defense was the motive behind the shooting, according to George W. Hayes of Vale, assisting in the defense. He outlined Cody's testimony in which he declared the sheriff shot first, in support, of his contention. Two mitigating circumstances, claimed to ameliorate the act were cited by F. J. Newman of Medford, attorney, in his plea for the defense. These were the fact that Sheriff Goodman had sought to arrest Cody without a warrant and the claim of the defense that Cody's mentality is subnormal.
