

BILL GATES GIVES KIWANIANS 'CLOSE UP' ON THE RADIO

Kiwanian W. A. Gates was the principal speaker at the Kiwanis club luncheon yesterday. "Radio and its Development" was the subject of his talk and some very interesting facts and figures were given among which were the following: the first public broadcast of radio was made on the night of the election of President Harding in 1920, from station KDKA, and since that time radio broadcasting has grown by leaps and bounds, until at the present time there are about six hundred broadcasting stations in operation, representing an initial investment of several billions of dollars; and there are between five and six million receiving sets in the United States serving twenty million people. There are four types of receiving sets in common use, and recent surveys have classified these types as follows: Regenerative type "trouble-some"; Reflex type "uncertain, super-heterodyne, noisy"; and Radio Frequency type "stabilized." This latter type has been found to be the best type made and is coming into general use.

The first voice ever heard over the air was in 1907 and every little development was made from then on until the war period, when rapid development took place. Frank Conrad, an American, was the first person to develop radio reception in the United States and it was through his experiments that radio developed rapidly.

The Right Rev. Walter T. Sumner, Bishop of Oregon, was introduced as "The Grand Sermon of the Hoot Owls." The bishop is an ardent radio fan and each week takes an active part in the Hoot Owl program of KGW. A very interesting talk pertaining to the bishop's many years of association with the students at the Oregon University brought out the fact that there was a higher type of students in attendance at the present time than ever before and that the younger people are more interested in religion than they were a number of years ago. In his remarks, the bishop closely associated character and religion.

Melvin Winstock gave a very interesting talk on Abraham Lincoln, stating that the nation was made up of individuals and he cited Lincoln as an individual after which the nation could model itself.

Other guests of the club were W. J. Virgin, George A. Hunt, Norman Fulton, the Past president of the Roseburg Kiwanis club, E. L. Sanders and Rev. William B. Hamilton.

to go down into the shaft on the inspection trip. They were Claude Monroe and Thomas Gordy, making six men in all who entered the shaft. All are expected to serve on the coroner's jury later.

Later Mr. Carmichael announced that another man, Al Mattox, one of those who reached the entombed man's side in the first few days of his imprisonment had gone into the shaft, washed the dead man's face and twisted the body into such a position that it could be identified more easily.

CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—Citizens of Cave City today pledged $1000 to further the work of recovering Floyd Collins' body from Sand Cave, with the stipulation that, if the rescue work was unsuccessful, then the sum would go toward a memorial to be erected in memory of Collins.

father of Floyd Collins, fearfully thanked H. T. Carmichael, who was in charge of the rescue shaft which finally reached the body of the cave explorer.

"Mr. Carmichael, I want to get your picture, sure," said the aged man, "and keep it with me always. May the Good Lord bless you and your brave men."

"Mr. Collins," the rugged superintendent replied, "I tell you that without God Almighty's assistance, we couldn't have done it. He has permitted us to pass some places here, which, without His aid, were impassable. If your faith in humanity ever falters, just know there are those whose faith extends to all parts of the earth."

Work Halted, Men Worn Out. CAVE CITY, Ky., Feb. 17.—(By the Associated Press)—A general suspension of work at Sand Cave was ordered at 5:10 a. m. today when four men who had been working in the underground lateral virtually all night emerged from the shaft almost exhausted. Only two guards and four laborers were permitted to remain near the shaft.

The complete suspension of efforts to remove Collins' body was due, it was stated to exhaustion of the workmen and a desire to conserve their strength for a final effort some time today toward removal.

H. T. Carmichael, director of the shaft operations and other officials connected with the rescue work, rested to their tents for their first rest in many hours. Considerable progress was made during the night, it was unofficially reported.

The telegram from Governor Fields directing that a detailed examination of the body be made, was received by M. E. S. Fossey, one of the rescue work leaders.

The message directed that "if Floyd Collins is dead when reached, have disinterested doctors make a thorough examination of the body for all evidences of foul play, including poisons."

HEAVEN WILL BE LIKE EARTH SAYS REV. T. L. THEUMLER

The New Earth will be as real and tangible as the present earth, and its inhabitants will not be disembodied spirits, but beings with bodies of flesh and they will not spend their time in aimless manner, but will build and plant and engage in enterprises as much greater and nobler than any this world has known, as power and opportunities of the redeemed will surpass those of humanity today.

This was the version of our future home as presented by Evangelist T. L. Theumler in his lecture Sunday night on "Heaven—Where Is It and What Is It?" at the Adventist church.

Mr. Theumler avows that the only business of Christians today is a preparation of a character that will fit them to associate with heavenly beings, as none who work abominations or speak lies will be permitted to enter the new earth conditions.

The speaker claims that no man can reach these high ideals without the graces furnished by Jesus Christ as a pattern for heavenly character.

Tonight Mr. Theumler speaks on the "Passing of Ancient Civilization and the Doom or Salvation of the Present Civilization."

G. JURY RETURNS SIX TRUE BILLS

Six true bills and 12 false bills were returned by the grand jury Monday afternoon, and the jury then adjourned until Wednesday morning. Bench warrants have been issued on the six true bills. The three not true bills involved charges of subornation of perjury, obtaining money under false pretenses and a statutory offense. The names and charges in the true bills are withheld until the bench warrants are served. None involve liquor charges, the county clerk says.

"Out of danger," pronounced the doctor, "but a long way from recovery yet"

Weeks of acute anxiety—the dreaded crisis—the family's untold relief when the doctor finally pronounced his patient out of danger— And then that slow, discouraging period of convalescence. More trying in many ways than the illness itself. When lost strength and vitality return so slowly that recovery seems endless.

And, familiar story to the doctor. And invariably he prescribes an old, familiar product—malted milk. No longer "any malted milk"—but specifically Borden's, the new improved malted milk. For Borden's has certain important advantages, found in no other malted milk, that make this health food more valuable than ever before.

Doctors prescribe Borden's Malted Milk for Invalids and Convalescents

Because Borden's is more digestible. Made by a unique process which partially predigests the casein of the milk, and retains the malt diastase that aids digestion—qualities peculiar to Borden's. Even the most delicate stomach can assimilate it easily.

Borden's is more nourishing. It has the highest food value and most perfect nutrition of any malted milk on the market, due to the greater amount of milk used. It contains all the necessary properties to build up the body, restore tired nerves and stimulate the entire system.

Borden's is more palatable. It is free from the excessive sweetness and disagreeable tang common to other malted milks. The most particular patient will drink it regularly without tiring of the flavor—or ever being nauseated by it.

If there is an invalid or convalescent in your family, give him the superior benefits of Borden's (the improved) Malted Milk.

There's a difference between Borden's and other brands. You'll appreciate it, too, once you've tried Borden's.

Sold in attractive glass jars—7 and 15-oz. sizes—at your druggist's. Send the coupon below (with 10c) for a sample package. The Borden Company, Borden Building, 350 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
