TERRY TALENT IS HURT PURSUING A SPEEDING CAR

Terry Talent, former Medford boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Talent, and a traffic officer working out from Gold Hill, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury several nights ago when he was pursuing a big car and his motorcycle slipped while rounding a turn south of Central Point.

According to the Gold Hill News and Grants Pass Courier, the car, a Stanley steamer, was suspected of being used for drug and booze running. It ran away from local officers who reached 55 miles an hour. Mr. Talent was then notified and started after the car, although five minutes behind when he left Gold Hill.

His eighth sight of the big automobile near Central Point and was giving his machine everything it had when it slipped, sending him 25 feet in the air. His ankle was hurt and his side somewhat damaged. He also got a severe thump on the head.

When thrown from his machine he was traveling well toward 70 miles an hour. The big car ahead managed to elude officers all the way south and was not caught.

It is said to have been a regular visitor through this state, but has always been able to get away. The license number was not secured.
