DRAWING SYSTEM FOR STATE HOOP MEET CRITICISED

Financially the ninth annual high school basketball tournament which ended here last night was a great success, but one unfortunate incident marred the otherwise excellent meet.

The ten teams were divided into two divisions, five in each group. Unluckily, the drawings placed all except one of the strong teams in the night division. Salem, the other real contender, drew afternoon games. Eugene, Medford, Franklin, Portland, and Pendleton were placed in the night group.

Salem marched triumphantly through its schedule to the finals, overwhelming Wallawa, Astoria and McMinnville. Then Salem won from Franklin, victor in the night division, to capture the Willamette trophy and the state title.

Medford fell prey to the Franklin shooters, as did Pendleton. Eugene was conceded an excellent chance against Franklin and barely missed out. Then Franklin played Salem.

Coaches and followers of several of the quarts expressed opinion that it would have been much better to have matched the teams instead of drawing. This would have given the little teams such as Arago and Wallawa, a chance to meet quarts of their own strength at first, instead of starting against the stronger combinations.

Another topic of discussion was the length of the meet. It was suggested by some coaches that the meet next year be lengthened one day so semi-finals and finals need not be played the same day as was the case yesterday.

The teams in the night division registered most of the dissatisfaction regarding the matching of the teams. The local team, Salem, had little trouble in its games, as it used substitutes freely against the much weaker teams, but Franklin's stamina could endure no longer after its grueling trip through the semi-finals and the quarter "exhausted." Claire Scallion, Franklin's captain, broke down just as the semi-final game ended and fell to the floor in a faint, yet was forced by the schedule to play again three hours later.

Though defeated for the state title, Franklin took one honor back to Portland's—the greatest that can be given any player—the captaincy of the all-state star team. Claire Scallion was chosen for the berth by Ralph Coleman of O. A. C., who referred to the match as "Two other Quarters, Epus at forward and Lawrence at center, placed on the second quint—Oregonian.

SPECIAL SALVATION ARMY MEETINGS

Two special meetings, to be led by Colonel J. W. Cousins, of San Francisco, are announced to take place at the Salvation Army hall, at 4th and Bartlett, Wednesday, March 18th. The first of these meetings will be held at 4 p. m., and will be for young people exclusively. There will be plenty of the kind of "pop" which young folk like, especially boys and girls. A special feature will be the "swearing in" of six junior soldiers of the local Army corps. Captain and Mrs. Pitt are preparing a special "treat" for every young person attending the afternoon meeting.

At 8 p. m., the Colonel will conduct a public rally at which two Army recruits will be enrolled into the ranks as full fledged senior soldiers. An army enrollment service is always unique and interesting to the public.

Colonel Cousins is secretary of all young people's work in the western territory of the Salvation Army, and is a good platform man as well as a genial and jovial person. All are invited to hear him.

Why Disgrace Scenic Beauty Of Crater Lake?

This city and valley is being canvassed by outside parties to print two colored letter heads of Crater Lake. In the first place a two-colored picture of the lake would be worse than a picture printed in one color and a disgrace to its scenic beauty. It takes four or five colors to bring out the lake properly.

In the second place, why order printing away from home when it can be secured always as cheap and usually cheaper from the home printers?

The sample being shown by the canvasser is a five-colored picture of Crater Lake, issued by the Craters last year and they will issue something as good or better again this year.

If you want anything in the printing or book-binding line, this office will supply you, guaranteeing high class work at reasonable prices. A good rule to observe to protect all the business interests of the city is to refuse to purchase anything from solicitors not representing home concerns.

'Styles in spring tonics have changed'—remarked Uncle Charlie

"I can remember how back in the days of side-whiskers we were all dosed regularly every spring with a nauseating concoction of sulphur and molasses to build ourselves up after a hard winter. Thank Heaven, such tonics have gone the way of the side-whiskers! "Malted Milk is certainly an improvement as a remedy for that tired feeling in the spring. And the new kind made by Borden's is an even greater improvement. No wonder it's popular! I take it myself—and it surely does put new life into the old dog. In fact, I like it so much I go on drinking it all year 'round, just to keep fit."

Tone up your system after the strain of winter

The cold winter months drain your energy, lower your vitality, leave you below par. You may not be really sick, but there's a feeling of general lassitude, jaded appetite, lack of ambition—all symptoms of spring fever.

The finest tonic at this time of year is Malted Milk. It is wonderfully bracing. It stimulates the whole system, renews energy, restores tired nerves, gives you back your old vigor and enthusiasm.

It contains all the necessary properties to build up the body and stimulate the system.

Borden's is more digestible. It is easier to assimilate because the casein of the milk is partially predigested—a quality no other malted milk has. A tired, delicate stomach can digest it easily.

Borden's has better flavor. It is rich and delicious, without any of that sickish sweetness found in other malted milks. You can drink Borden's regularly without growing tired of it.

All these are important points in a health food like malted milk. Druggists everywhere appreciate the superiority of Borden's over other brands. They serve it in preference, four times out of five.

If you've never tried Borden's, cut out the coupon below and send it to us with 10c in stamps for a sample package. Once you've sampled Borden's, you'll appreciate the difference.

Your druggist can supply you with this improved malted milk—in 7 or 15 oz. glass packages. Start the habit now of taking Borden's Malted Milk every day. It's a simple way to build yourself up and keep fit. The Borden Company, Borden Bldg., 350 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.
