Ye Smudge Pot By Arthur Perry.

It's about time our politicians who frequent churches, learned to refer to taxes, as tithes, in their pulpit utterances.

As the circular advertisement alleges: "UNLESS YOU OWN A FORD, YOU NEVER KNOW WHAT YOU MISS," but all such are well aware of what they hit.

A well known regulatory hell-raiding outfit is being remodelled, along with behavior lines, cleaning the sinners without hanging them, permitting the courts to dispense justice, and not getting rough in their zeal for law enforcement, and spiritual betterment of the other fellow.

It will rain Easter, on the Galshewiki hats, and then there won't be any until the farmers get their hay down.

HIS HONOR The Judge said: Come in, gentlemen, if you please, I'm always especially glad to see the gentlemen of the press. In all my contacts with them I have invariably found they are honorable, trustworthy, and in a word—gentlemen.

That the highest political leaders in our city interested themselves in his case. But what would I do? You know how the Anti-Saloon people have been hounding me of late. I gave him thirty days. I wish sometimes I really do—There were less flagrant law-breaking.

THE FALL CASE.

FROM THIS DISTANCE it is somewhat difficult to understand the pessimism of the government regarding the outcome of the Fall case.

True the criminal indictments have been thrown out by Chief Justice McCoy, but upon decidedly technical grounds.

If the presence of an assistant Attorney General in the grand jury room invalidates this action, then we see no reason, why a second action can not be instituted with representatives of the attorney general eliminated.

According to press dispatches, however, there is little hope that the government's criminal case will ever be sustained.

The obvious way out would seem to be to place the entire procedure back in the Department of Justice, and as the present Attorney General recently received the hearty endorsement of the senate, the chief obstacle to constructive achievement in Washington, would appear to be removed.

To the man in the street the Fall case has always been surrounded by mystery, strongly impregnated by suspicion. If the action fails now, this suspicion will only be increased.

The United States wants no territory to the south; and South America wants none to the north.

The danger of European aggression was removed for all time by the World War.

Finally, the habit of military strife in South America can never be revived seriously for the simple reason that the United States with its superior power, will always be in a position to halt hostilities at the outset.

In short a league of western nations can succeed, because the elements of peace are inherent in the situation; and a League of Nations in Europe can not succeed, because to date at least such elements of peace are lacking.

Personal Health Service By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

We do not belong to the "kicker class," and especially as far as school and our children are concerned we very seldom "butt in," write Mr. and Mrs. Toledo.

Now that is unfortunate, for I have often been assured by teachers, principals and school superintendents that conditions would be better if more parents belonged to the "kicker class."

The teacher of this grade seems to be of a somewhat excitable nature and from remarks passed by the pupils, fuses most of the time, finds all kinds of fault with them, makes them appear as dummies and aggravates them at every opportunity.

Another good peace plan is one that will include an expenditure for millinery at frequent intervals.
