GEORGE MANSFIELD SECURES POSITION WITH BIG SALARY

Following closely on information reaching here several days ago that George A. Mansfield had again become allied as their attorney with his former clients, the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians of Oklahoma known as the Choctaw-Chickasaw Protective Association (Incorporated) at a salary of $10,000 a year and all necessary expenses, Mr. Mansfield arrived last night from a month's sojourn in Oklahoma for a visit with his family at the Mansfield ranch near Prospect, of a week or so before returning to take up his permanent headquarters in that state.

Mrs. Mansfield drove down to the city last night to meet him, and they went home today. Mrs. Mansfield and children will remain there for the summer and early fall, and then may join him in Oklahoma.

Not only will Mr. Mansfield draw a large salary as the legal adviser of the Indians, in their seeking important property adjustments from the U. S. government, but in addition he will receive a contingent fee of 25 percent of the value of the property recovered. In the event of success this fee would be very large, perhaps larger than the big fee he received years ago from these same Indians for obtaining after long litigation much land from the government.

Not only that, but his Indian friends in Oklahoma are also getting together a block of about 25,000 acres in oil leases in which Mr. Mansfield is jointly interested, and which it is claimed geologists say is oil producing land, with producing wells adjoining.

CLOSE VOTE IS EXPECTED TODAY ON SITE OF H. S.

With every indication of a record breaking vote the special election for a location for the new high school began this afternoon at 2 o'clock with many citizens present, men and women, to cast their ballots, and move on route from all sections of the city. The voting is expected to continue briskly until when polls in the high school building close at 7 p. m. over 2000 votes will have been deposited in the ballot boxes. Some local authorities predict a vote of not less than 2500 because of the interest that has been exhibited in this question.

While some partisans of each site claim a decisive victory for their respective site, others familiar with local politics predict a close vote with a victory for either site at 200 or less. It is expected that the counting of the votes will not be completed until about 10 p. m. As soon as the result is known it will be bulletined on the screen curtains at the Craterian and Rialto theaters.

SHERIFF SEIZES 3 SUSPECTS AND MOONSHINE STILL

Sheriff Jennings this morning made a raid on a moonshine still in the Applegate section, seized a forty gallon "transformer," two barrels of mash and arrested "Nig" Yeager, known as the Duke of Alhambra, Gus Forsgren and Jimmy Martin, as suspected moonshiners. The still was located on the Shannon Brothers property, but it is not believed the Shannon family were not aware of its presence.

The trio arrested are all said to be members of the pugilistic and wrestling gang of Portland, and while they all professed ignorance of the still and trimmings, the sheriff's office is inclined to think otherwise.

The three men were sleeping in a tent a short distance from the still when captured. They will probably

Fancy Imported and Domestic Cheese

In most American households, cheese ranks somewhat as a condiment, being employed chiefly for flavoring dishes. With suitable accompaniments, many kinds can be used as an occasional substitute for meat or fish in the main meal of the day. Cottage and cream cheeses are for this purpose acceptable to almost everyone.

The blending of cheese with spaghetti, rice and vegetables greatly increases the list of tasty dishes that are both nutritious and of comparatively low cost. No doubt we have the particular kind of cheese you enjoy, as we have more than twenty different varieties to choose from.

to it in a roundabout way. This statement was reported by the full committee.

The statement holds that while science is important, and that its findings are needed and welcome, it is separate from religion and must be kept so.

CONVICT IS CAPTURED.

Tanko was with Hall in the theater and became suspicious as the two left, probably turning in another direction when he observed his partner was followed.

According to S. Shimada, proprietor of the rooming house where Hall was arrested, a man rented a room about six o'clock last evening and said he wanted accommodations for two. He left and returned in about ten minutes, Shimada said, registering under the name of J. Rayon. After that the rooming house man saw no more of him until he was brought downstairs by the officers, he said.

Relates Experiences
 Discussing their experiences while being united in the mountains around Nevada City, Grass Valley, Colfax and Auburn, Hall told Chief of Police McShane today that many times the convicts could have killed members of the posse who passed within 100 feet of them.

 Hall admitted, McShane said, that he and Tanko had a rifle in their possession which tallied exactly with the description of the one used by the slayers of the groceryman, E. Litzburg.

Hall flatly refused to answer questions which tended to implicate Tanko in any of the escapades of the two bandits in the period when they were causing a reign of terror in Sacramento, both immediately following the Litzburg slaying and since their return to this city yesterday.

Hall admitted that he and Tanko held up a United States mail stage near Graniteville on May 5, after which they staged sensational dashes through Nevada City and Grass Valley, in the vicinity of Colfax, over roads patrolled by armed posses.

He said they had decided to hold up the driver of any sort of a motor vehicle who came by their place of concealment, in order to secure a means of transportation. The mail stage chanced to be the first vehicle to reach them.

CONSIDER THE HUMBLE ONION

It takes 1000 roses, all gorgeously in bloom,
 To make for dainty noses, a spoonful of perfume.

But an onion, when it's feeling good, and able to be out,
 Can tackle a whole neighborhood, and put 'em all to rout.

Onions are rich in sulphur, valuable for a spring tonic. Green onions are in good supply, also mild silver skin southern onions.

Radish. While radishes have practically no nutritive value, they are one of our most popular relishes. Early radishes in many varieties are in market daily.

New Potatoes. New potatoes of the garnet type are in stock now. Try a few for Sunday dinner with new peas.

Among the offerings for Saturday will be Medford radishes, onions, lettuce, spinach and asparagus; California carrots, beets, turnips, cabbage, new potatoes, new peas; Mexican tomatoes.

Fresh Hawaiian pineapples, Florida grapefruit, oranges, lemons, bananas.
