Besides his parents he leaves three sisters, Mrs. C. A. Bennett of Norwalk, Cal.; Mrs. S. K. Ingle, Prospect, Ore.; and Mrs. Anlo Penwell of Medford.

VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM GOOD FOR TOMORROW

Orpheus, Jr., vaudeville at Hunt's Craterian tomorrow matinee and night offers a wide range of entertainment and advance notices indicate it will be one of the best of many excellent bills. Music plays a leading part, and comedy the rest, with an out of the ordinary act, in a ventriloquist.

The special bargain matinee, admission 35 cents, offering the same performance, as in the evening, will be held. It is a feature that appeals to women and children.

Maxfield and Stone offer a musical sketch, "Two Boys and Piano," popular, hit and comedy songs, liberally mixed with chatter, and voices of unusual quality, makes them favorites over the circuit.

Austin and Delaney, two of vaudeville's cleverest colored performers, stage "The Syncopated Hotel." Everybody has some time met the colored bellhop they characterize, and they sing and dance and jest, and give an imitation of a jazz band.

Dave Rafael, a ventriloquist with five mechanical figures, delivers a high powered monologue, and is assisted by Miss Vera Welton, a talented impersonator. Special scenery and electrical effects accompany the act.

Maxwell-Field Company appear in "Melody and Rhythm," introducing late songs and classic and eccentric dancing.

The show will offer as an opener, "A Vaudeville Melange" by Prevost and Goulet. They are comedy acrobats, who sing and dance and play the guitar and piano.

The film offering is "Topics of the Day," and a red hot comedy.
