U. S. WOMAN SHOT; CHINA CRISIS NEAR

Washington Alarmed As Anti-American Demonstrations Grow — U. S. Hospital at Canton Fired On — Americans Included in Strike Boycott — U. S. Envoy Protests.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) Information was received by the Philip Carey company today that their field engineer, T. H. M. Crampton of Sayville, Long Island, N. Y., had learned that his sister-in-law had been shot by Chinese at the Canton Christian college in the uprising there.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) Fighting between Cantonese and Yunnanese troops for possession of Canton "continued with growing intensity" on Monday, the state department was advised today in delayed dispatches.

On Monday afternoon dispatches said the Cantonese and Yunnanese forces were firing across the waterway dividing the city from Honan island and gunboats loyal to the Canton government "frequently ran through the waterway," shooting point blank into the native section of the city.

The Cantonese forces at that time were reported to be receiving reinforcements from the outside although not as rapidly as had been expected. The Yunnanese troops are holding their ground.

The Canton governor, accompanied by other city officials loyal to him, had left Canton for Wampoa.

Leaders of the Yunnanese announced their support of the Kuomintang party but declared at the same time they were opposed to communism.

Consul General Douglas Jenkins cabled that he had protested to the leaders of the military forces against injury to the Canton American hospital and the firing upon the two American launches. He also has given new warning to American to keep out of the area subjected to fire.

"Most of the women and children have moved from Tungshan suburb and other strategic points," he said. The gunboat Pamanga had taken station near the Christian college when the dispatches were filed while the gunboat Asheville was standing off Shamen.

The Canton-American hospital was hit by "one small shell and several rifle bullets," the advices said, and two American launches enroute to the Christian college at Canton were frequently hit by rifle shot but the occupants escaped injury.

SHANGHAI, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) Americans today were included in the denunciations contained in handbills distributed by Chinese strike leaders endeavoring to carry on a general strike here.

Outbreaks and demonstrations at Peking, as reported in Chinese circles, served to inspire strike agitators to redoubled efforts.

A new strike handbill which appeared tonight included American employers among those for whom patriotic Chinese were not to work and said: "We shall die if we do not act immediately. We are willing to fight until death but we must be without yielding."

Twenty-two steamers—twenty British and two Japanese—now are tied up here, stranded by the waterside strike.

CONGRESSMAN AGAIN HELD ON DRUNK CHARGE

Kentucky Rep. Langley Is in Trouble Again — Fined for Contempt of Court When He Swears—Record Is Bad One.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., June 10.—(A. P.)—Congressman John W. Langley, republican, Kentucky, denied today that he was intoxicated yesterday as charged in a warrant sworn to by Mrs. W. P. Henrietzle and said that his jail sentence of four hours last night was a result of his misunderstanding.

Mr. Langley said he went to Judge J. P. Marrs when he learned that the warrant for him had been issued, inquiring about the charge. Mr. Langley said he denied vigorously having been intoxicated and declared that whoever made the charge was a "liar."

Judge Marrs, who is about 75 years old, then fined the congressman $10 for contempt of court.

"I thought I was talking to the judge in his private office," Mr. Langley said. "I didn't know we were in court."

The ten hour jail sentence followed when Mr. Langley protested against the decision, he said. His physician and Mrs. Langley went to hospital and had a high blood pressure. Judge Marrs released the congressman shortly afterward, about six hours before the confinement sentence would have expired.

PIKEVILLE, Ky., June 10.—(By Associated Press.)—Released early this morning after serving a jail sentence of ten hours and payment of a fine of $10, both for contempt of court, Congressman John W. Langley, republican, Kentucky, will face a charge of drunkenness today before Police Judge J. P. Marrs, who heard the charge in part yesterday and who sentenced him for contempt of court.

Judge Marrs fined the representative $10 when Mr. Langley, with an oath, declared that whoever swore out the warrant against him swore "to a lie. The judge considered additional oaths in denial of the charge as further contempt of court and ordered him imprisoned for ten hours. Mr. Langley's jail sentence officially was at an end at 2 o'clock this morning.

The warrant against the Kentucky representative was sworn to by Mrs. W. P. Henrietzle. A deputy sheriff in making the arrest said he found Mr. Langley only partly clothed in a downtown building.

Mr. Langley has been in the public eye on numerous occasions in the last year, most of which dealt with federal indictments against him for alleged withdrawal of liquor from government warehouses. He was convicted on one of the charges and faces an Atlanta federal prison sentence. Recently his deposition was taken here on a similar charge to be heard in Washington in a few months. He also was arrested on a charge of drunkenness in Washington, where a woman police lieutenant swore out a warrant against him.

U. S. FLIGHT NORTH POLE IS STARTED

Three Amphibian Planes Hop Off From Philadelphia On First Leg of Trip to North Pole With MacMillan—Plan to Aid in Search for Amundsen.

SQUANTUM, Mass., June 10.—Two of the amphibian planes to be used in the MacMillan arctic expedition, landed at the naval reserve flying base here shortly after five o'clock after a flight from Philadelphia. The third plane, the NA-3 was not in sight as the others landed safely on the water near the dock.

Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, in charge of the planes, said that twenty minutes after leaving Philadelphia the NA-3 had turned back. He did not know the nature of the trouble. Radio reports received here said the missing plane had made a second start from Philadelphia at 2:20 o'clock, eastern daylight time.

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—(A. P.)—Fit for any service, the three amphibian planes to be used on the arctic expedition left the navy yard this afternoon for Squantum, Mass.

The NA-1 was the first to get away. The NA-2 and the NA-3 followed at minute intervals.

They headed down the Delaware river in the teeth of a stiff wind, circled around and then started north.

During the final preparations, Lieutenant Commander Byrd sat in the aviation office plotting his course and adjusting his compass. His five year old son Dickie, sat proudly beside him. Mrs. Byrd was with her husband as was his mother.

The aviators prepared for their long flight as nonchalantly as though they were embarking for a short routine flight.

The planes are carrying with them the "polar mail," a large packet of postcards addressed to President Coolidge and other high officials, which they will mail from Squantum.

On the postcards is printed "The top of the morning to you—the top of the world for U. S."

Believe Amundsen Safe. NEW YORK, June 10.—(A. P.)—Reiterating confidence in the ultimate safe return of the Amundsen polar expedition, Bernon S. Prentice, chairman of the American advisory committee, declared today it was conceivable that no news might be had of the party for a year without hope being necessarily abandoned.

"They might have proceeded toward Alaska," said Prentice. "Their great ambition was to investigate the unexplored territory west of the pole and with this in view they gave up their radio equipment in order to take on more fuel.

"If they have proceeded on the longer flight and have been forced to abandon their machines we might not hear from them for a year unless they were picked up.

"Our real anxiety at the present is the fear the party may have met with an accident in landing or may have become separated."

Supplies carried by the expedition are ample, Mr. Prentice said, on which to subsist many weeks.

Mr. Prentice said his committee had received a cablegram from the Aero club of Norway, sponsors for the expedition, saying that they will send out a relief expedition immediately from Spitzbergen under the experienced polar explorers, Captain Otto Sverdrup and Gottfried Hansen, to search the territory off the coast of Spitzbergen. They also have accepted the offer of the French arctic explorer, Jean Charcot, to search east of Greenland.

The New York committee informed the Norwegians that the MacMillan expedition which if necessary, will subordinate all plans to relief of Amundsen and his companions, probably will cover West Greenland and the Cape Columbia territory north to the pole.

WILSON PARTNER FIRST DETAIL OF TO AID DARROW O. N. G. ARRIVES IN MONKEY CASE WITH 110 MEN

Bainbridge Colby Is Selected to Defend Tennessee School Teacher—Dudley Field Malone's Religion and Divorce Record Disqualifies Him.

NEW YORK, June 10.—As the result of various conferences in New York, Clarence Darrow, Chicago criminal lawyer, and Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of the state, partner of Woodrow Wilson, have been chosen to assist in the defense of John T. Scopes, Dayton, Tenn., school teacher charged with violating the Tennessee law prohibiting teaching of evolution in the schools.

Darrow and Colby are expected to lose the case in a spectacular fashion at first, preparatory to the state and United States supreme courts passing upon the constitutionality of the law.

Dudley Field Malone, who with Darrow first volunteered his services was delegated to keep the home fires burning in New York. With Samuel Renshewson of the legal staff of the Civil Liberties union, Malone will engage in research, digging up previous trials of scientists as far back, it was said, as Galileo, who got into trouble by announcing that the earth moved around the sun.

Malone was not chosen as one of the assistants to John E. Neal, former dean of the University of Tennessee, it was suggested, because he was brought up a Roman Catholic and because he remarried after a divorce. Both of these circumstances, advisers said, might prejudice him with a jury in Tennessee.

Charles Evans Hughes, also former secretary of state, will be held in reserve in the event the case reaches the United States supreme court. Mr. Hughes has been suggested by those who feared Darrow's defense of Leopold and Loeb, murderers of Bobby Franks, might provide ammunition for William Jennings Bryan, another former secretary of state, who is to assist the prosecution.

KLAN MEETING ENDS IN RIOT, MANY INJURED

Ku Klux Cars Attacked By Massachusetts Crowd After Open Air Meeting—32 Men Arrested Following Free for All Fights.

CLINTON, Mass., June 10.—All the defendants pleaded not guilty when arraigned in Clinton district court on charges of violating a town by-law by participating in a parade for which no permit had been issued and of disturbing the peace. They were held in bail of $100 each for later hearing.

CLINTON, Mass., June 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—Thirty two men were under arrest today as the result of a riot after an outdoor meeting of the Ku Klux Klan. Scores apparently were injured in the fighting which was not quelled until 20 state police patrolmen had charged a battling crowd. Only three men, however, were hurt severely enough to be treated by physicians. They said they were innocent victims, being the target for missiles while passing through the town in automobile trucks.

Everett Rice, 17, was accused of assault with intent to kill and of carrying dangerous weapons. The police said that some time after the rioting ceased he threw his neighborhood into excitement by firing three shots at three men near his home.

Fifteen clubs, 12 pieces of lead pipe, pieces of rubber hose and a revolver were in the battle were seized by the police.

The rioting started shortly before midnight when a procession of more than 300 klansmen's cars were suddenly attacked. As the first car dove in sight, a crowd rushed it, throwing bricks and swinging clubs.

Lieutenant Roy Kimball and 20 state troopers who had patrolled the grounds surrounding Brewster field, near Berlin, where a klan meeting had been held, were escorting the klan machines through Clinton when the riot started.

Occupants of the klan machines jumped to the ground and within a short time numerous fights were in progress while the troopers tried vainly to keep order. Clubs and rocks flew right and left, windows were shattered and shrill cries of women in nearby houses contributed to the disorder. Flower pots, porch chairs and other things movable were taken from the porches and laws and used in the battle. The roadway was strewn with rocks, clubs and broken glass.

State policemen were brushed aside and several were knocked down. Several men arrested were freed as the crowd descended on the arresting patrolmen.

State and local police finally gained control of the situation and escorted the klan cars out of town.

The selection of Clinton appealed to Governor Fuller to have a state investigation of the trouble.

LABOR WILL FIGHT PACT WITH PARIS

Ex-Premier, MacDonald to Lead in Fight Against Security Pact—France Is Less Hopeful—Premier Baldwin Denies Pact Effective Until Parliament Ratifies.

LONDON, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) While the proposed security pact negotiated with France at Geneva by Foreign Secretary Chamberlain is certain to meet strong criticism in the house of commons, the laborites alone of the political parties have thus far expressed their attitude.

They are uncompromisingly hostile to the agreement on the ground it involves Great Britain too deeply in possible European embroilments.

Hammy MacDonald, the laborite leader, is quoted by the party organ, the Daily Herald, as saying: "The agreement is the beginning not of a general understanding to maintain peace, but of individual alliances and guarantees. It will not in the end promote peace but increase the organization for war and this is true whether it provides only security for France or security for Germany also."

The Westminster Gazette, one of the leading mouthpieces of the liberal party, says that while there is some anxiety in liberal quarters regarding the British commitments, no positive exception is taken to such a bilateral guarantee as outlined.

If accepted by Germany the pact will provide a guarantee of the frontiers of France, Belgium and Germany as established under the Versailles treaty. Great Britain would be pledged to use all her forces against a nation making an unprovoked attack on the frontiers, such defensive action to be taken under the aegis of the League of Nations.

Pact Not Ratified. LONDON, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) Premier Baldwin today told the house of commons that no security pact had been concluded with France and that none would be concluded without parliament being given an opportunity for full discussion.

Premier Baldwin, who was replying to a question of Sir Robert Hamilton, liberal member from Orkney and Shetland, said: "In view of certain misapprehensions which have arisen in the public mind it is well to say that the position to date is that the British and French governments after carefully considering all German proposals, have reached a complete agreement on certain basic principles to which a settlement must conform and to which there is every reason to expect the adhesion of Belgium and Italy."

Premier Baldwin reiterated that the contemplated settlement would be strictly of a bilateral character and not one-sided as possibly has been inferred from some reports that have appeared.

He said that as soon as the reply to Germany's security pact proposals has been forwarded to Berlin, he would take steps, with the consent of the French government, to place the matter before the British parliament.

France Less Hopeful. PARIS, June 10.—(By Associated Press.) The previously prevailing optimism regarding the prospect for a western European security pact based upon the Chamberlain-Briand agreement reached at Geneva regarding Germany's proposals was slumping somewhat in official circles today. This was due to reports of some unfavorable reactions in London and Berlin.

It was remarked by some Parisian newspaper editors that the followers of the Painleve government may have been a trifle premature in their enthusiasm "as Germany, after all, will have something to say about signing the proposed pact."

Official quarters were uneasy over the emphasis which has been placed on the supposition that Great Britain's air, land and sea forces would rush to France's defense in case of aggression upon France.
