CAMP JACKSON, Ore., June 18.—Public interest here today centered in the first spectacular military maneuver of major proportions ever seen in this section, this being conducted by the second battalion, 182d Infantry, beginning at 1:30 p. m. at a point to the southeast of the encampment and consisting of a complete attack in force, with every detail exactly as in actual warfare. The demonstration, staged over a natural amphitheatre peculiarly adapted for the purpose, was witnessed by hundreds of interested spectators for whom special accommodations had been arranged on high ground near Roxy Anne Butte and east of Red Top school house.

Promptly at 1:30 in the afternoon the battalion under command of Major Miller, marched out of camp and proceeded immediately to the strategic point from which the attack was to be launched.

Supported by howitzers, 1-pounders and machine guns, the infantrymen formed for attack and swept over the hills toward their objective to the stirring accompaniment of staccato rifle fire and the detonations of the big guns. Headquarters company of the battalion performed the least spectacular part of the demonstration laying field communication lines under fire and carrying out the other manifold and difficult tasks falling to its lot. The demonstration was conducted under perfect climatic conditions and without a hitch or an accident of major importance to detract from the performance. A complete field hospital, under Capt. Van Winkle, also participated.

Acting as observers at the demonstration were members of the 116th Engineers and other specially designated units. Tomorrow at 1:30 the 186th Infantry will put on the same demonstration.

Another event of the seventh day of the encampment here, which was attended by a large number of civilian spectators, was the regimental parade of the 186th Infantry, Col. H. W. Welch commanding, on the camp parade grounds at 5:00 p. m. The 182d Infantry will put on a parade at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

The morning was occupied by periods of special instruction to members of all commands in matters applying peculiarly to their branches of the service.

Trip to Crater Lake

Although it was not generally known, Camp Jackson had a new commanding officer in charge for some hours Wednesday, but such was the case, for General George A. White accompanied by several of his staff officers, made a preliminary trip of inspection to Crater Lake, in order to ascertain conditions which will confront the Oregon guardsmen on the occasion of their trip to that historic spot, next Saturday and Sunday.

General White left Col. H. U. Welch in command of the camp as senior officer present. The inspecting party, traveling by motor car, reached a point within a short distance of the lake itself before being compelled to halt on account of the snows, not yet completely melted there. An ideal point for Saturday night's bivouac was selected by General White within less than 20 miles of the lake, the positions to be occupied by the troops of the several commands being also determined. The general returned to camp about midnight, much pleased.

A Transportation Problem

Transportation of the brigade, nearly three thousand strong, with full field equipment, to Crater Lake and return, over the week-end, is a big job, but one which the Medford Chamber of Commerce has not hesitated to undertake. It is estimated that nearly 1500 automobiles will be required for this work, in addition to the camp motor equipment which will be required for rations, baggage, etc. The spirit of enthusiastic interest with which private citizens here have entered into this problem has occasioned much praise from both high guard and regular army officers.

All the soldiers are eagerly looking forward to the Crater Lake trip, which will afford hundreds of them the first opportunity they have had to visit the famed scenic spot.

Social features continue to fill in the spare time of the officers and enlisted men at camp, including an entertainment for all members of the order by the local lodge of Elks, a dance at the fairgrounds and band concerts both at camp and the city park this evening.

Much interest was displayed in the baseball game played between the teams of the 186th and 182nd infantry regiments, won by the former, 8 to 5.

BOAK FAVORABLE TO ASHLAND FOR NAT'L CONVENTION

ASHLAND, June 18.—(Special.)—"Vision, understanding, service," were the key words underlying the address of I. L. Boak, head consul of the Woodmen of the World, at the forum luncheon at the Hotel Ashland yesterday given by the chamber of commerce, at which Mr. Boak was honored guest and principal speaker.

In a forceful speech Mr. Boak led up to the object of his presence—the selection of a place for the 1928 head camp session of the order of which he is the chief. "When asked, 'Why not Ashland for the next camp of the Woodmen of the World?' I asked 'Why not?' Since coming, I still ask, 'Why not?' The possibilities and the ability of the community to care for a great assembly have been shown me; I am favorable to Ashland, but it is now up to the local camp—to have a record to which they can point with pride, before definite assurance can be given."

I. L. Boak is making a tour of the coast with the selection of the 1928 meeting place his objective. He is past-president of the National Fraternal congress, past-president of the American Fraternal congress and was a member of the commission who prepared the plan of insurance for soldiers and sailors during the world war. He is a member of many civic organizations in his city, Denver, and a past president of the Denver chamber of Commerce.

The local camp and the chamber of commerce have seen that the head consul has gained a knowledge of the scenic beauties of the vicinity and the wonders that may be visited from this center.

An unusually large attendance of the members and visitors marked the luncheon.

Start Instruction of Forest Rangers at Local Stations

Jack Horton of the national forest service, stationed in Medford, is commencing tomorrow a six-day intensive instruction period for the forest guards of the different sections of southern Oregon. He will hold a two-day school at three different ranger stations. At each station there will be gathered all the rangers and fire guards of that section.

Instructions as to the prevention and suppression of forest fires will be given these men as a part of the government's forest fire policy.

Friday and Saturday will be devoted to a two-day fire school at Trail ranger station. Monday and Tuesday of next week Mr. Horton will be at Big Elk Ranger station, and the following two days he will instruct rangers and fire guards from the Klamath section Star station.

Baby Narrowly Escapes Death From Auto

Bobby Strang Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Strang, narrowly escaped death yesterday when struck by his father's automobile while backing out of the family garage.

The little lad had attempted to ride on the car unbeknown to his parent, and had in some way slipped, thus allowing the front wheel to run partly on his body. He was injured in no other way than being bruised and in a few hours was again at play.

New Safe Way to Remove Hair Roots

No need to undergo painful electric treatments to remove superfluous hair; nor to apply ordinary ineffective hair removers which only remove surface hairs.

A marvelous new Oriental balsam has been discovered which is applied almost as easily as cold cream. It penetrates towards the hair roots and causes every objectionable hair, root and all, to leave the skin clear, white, healthy and soft as velvet. No more itching, no more growing back of hair stronger than ever. Absolutely harmless.

Karma, as this wonderful new discovery is called, is highly recommended by prominent beauty specialists and is sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction by

TUMALO DISTRICT ASKS STATE HELP TO SAVE PROJECT

SALEM, Ore., June 18.—Members of the state irrigation securities commission will make a trip of inspection over the Tumalo irrigation district before they decide what action to take in regard to an appeal for various concessions that was made by representatives of the district yesterday.

Most important, the district wants an additional two years' interest guarantee on its $500,000 bond issue. Also it asks the state to release liens on unfilled contracts. These liens aggregate around $45,000.

The district offers to reciprocate by settlers who bought water under the Carey act agreeing to pay forty instead of twenty-five per cent for additional water necessary in development work. Should these concessions be granted by the state it is claimed the price of lands in the district would be reduced from $75 to $50 an acre and that consequently more settlers would be attracted.

An agreement has been reached for the consolidation of the Jordan Valley and the North Side irrigation districts, said a report from Jordan Valley representatives yesterday. It is said this will increase the irrigable area to 15,000 acres and will not increase the reclamation costs. Claims aggregating $107,000 will be eliminated, it was said.

The commission certified a bond issue of $5000 for the Klamath Falls drainage district and a $6500 issue for the Pine Grove irrigation district. Both are in Klamath county.

MRS. O. P. COSHOW DIES SUDDENLY AT SALEM HOME

SALEM, Ore., June 18.—Mrs. O. P. Coshow, wife of Justice Coshow of the Oregon supreme court died suddenly at her home here about 9:30 o'clock this morning following a stroke of paralysis. She was 59 years old.

Mrs. Coshow was a daughter of the late Thomas Kay and Ann Kay, Oregon pioneers, she was a sister of State Treasurer Thomas B. Kay of Salem. Mrs. C. P. Bishop of Salem, Mrs. C. T. Roberts of Hood River and Mrs. Bertha Kay Fisher of Portland, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. K. G. Pickens of Salem, Mrs. John McClintock of Lebanon and Mrs. Dale Thompson of Portland.

Mrs. Coshow was born at Ellensdale, Polk county, but with her brothers and sisters was raised at Brownsville, Linn county.

After her marriage to Judge Coshow she lived many years at Roseburg where she was prominent in social and fraternal circles. When Judge Coshow was appointed to the supreme bench about two years ago by Governor Pierce she came with him to Salem.

The stroke that caused Mrs. Coshow's death came early this morning while she was in apparently good health. She had suffered two previous strokes many months ago and for the last ten months had been improving in health. She had been able to go about without inconvenience.

Mr. H. W. Hamlin, Medford Precooling & Storage Co., Medford, Oregon.

Dear Mr. Hamlin:

We are in receipt of yours of the 27th ult., indicating that you have under construction at Medford a modern precooling and storage plant for the handling of all fruit. We are indeed surprised to learn that you have not had a precooling plant up to this time, as we cannot for the life of us understand how you could possibly have gotten along without it.

We are more than confident that you will find this venture to be more than paying in many ways; the fruit carries better, keeps better and consequently sells better than the fruit that is not pre-cooled. Our experience at Yakima with buyers during the past several years has demonstrated to us that the pre-cooled fruits are far superior in carrying quality, and wherever possible we prefer to buy the pre-cooled pack.

If we can be of service to you in this direction, please advise.

Respectfully yours,
ANB:MB
