

TENT REVIVAL TO BE DECIDED AT MEETING TONIGHT

"There is every reason to believe that a great revival can be held in Medford," said Evangelist Jones. "When you ask me why I am so confident, I say, 'With God all things are possible,' and 'If you ask anything in my name, says the Lord, 'It shall be done.' If you want any more definite direct unlimited promise than that you will never get it. It can't be given. God is all-powerful and he is able to bring sinners to repentance right here in Medford.

"My heart goes out to Medford. I love its people. Perhaps I'll be able in the strength of the Lord to tell you what's the matter with some of your Medfordites. When the Lord speaks through a man he need fear nothing, and I expect to handle this question without gloves and let the chips fly where they will. I do believe we shall have an immense crowd tonight."

Shall the big tent be put up on Haymarket square tomorrow? That question will be put squarely up to the people of Medford at the meeting to be held tonight in the Salvation Army hall. Griffith Jones, visiting lawyer-evangelist from Los Angeles, will deliver his sermon entitled, "On the Plains of Sodom."

Wherever this gospel sermon has been preached the crowds have urged the speaker to continue his addresses on Bible topics. It is the contention of Attorney Jones that the Bible provides more live every day, down-to-the-minute talks than any book ever printed. He says the truths of the Bible are as vital today as they were in Jesus' time. He intends to tell the people of Medford how to eliminate fear, how to banish old age and worry and how to be a happy servant of Jesus Christ.

Evangelist Jones' monster tent has arrived. It will take only a few hours to build the seats, set the tent up and use the platform loaned by Superintendent Davis. However, the fact that there are counter attractions this week will be considered, as Mr. Jones is not anxious to talk to empty benches. He says wood is not responsive to any kind of an appeal.

Efforts have been made to induce the lawyer-evangelist to hold meetings in other Rogue river towns and then return to Medford. Attorney Jones, however, following the wonderful meeting Sunday night at the Salvation Army, when a number of young men from the national guard made a stand for Jesus, is determined to hold union revival meetings in Medford.

The address tonight will deal with the problems the ministers are facing. Attorney Jones will tell why he believes that a great revival is soon to sweep over this land. He expects to show what the Christian ought to do in order to foster this revival spirit. He says he has never met a finer bunch of business men and a more loyal group of ministers than those he has found in Medford.

Abraham and Lot are to be described. The decision of Lot to take the well-watered plains of Sodom will be shown to have been a poor decision. The decision of the man who is offered the chance to serve "God or Mammon" will be brought out forcefully by the speaker.

Evangelist Jones says he will put the matter squarely up to the people of Medford tonight and if they want a revival the big tent will go up at once.

FOLEY & BURKE SHOWS OPENED LAST NIGHT

Foley & Burkes combined shows opened on the lot opposite the S. P. station last evening and a large crowd attended. A noticeable feature was the large number of soldiers present.

There are numbers of popular attractions and riding devices always found with the Foley & Burkes. The shows will remain here all week.

The trained animal features, particularly, have been responsible for no end of favorable criticism. King Dodo, the giant gorilla, under the direction of his tutor, Cap't Irvin, dines with his master, using knife and fork.

Mohamid, the Arabian horse that computes difficult mathematical problems, is another unusually high class animal artist, as is also his little playmate, the diminutive Shetland pony, Dodger. The latter is a football enthusiast and slams the pigskin most energetically.

James Dobbs' high school equines, military ponies, somersaulting dogs and riding monkeys are other examples of results that can be obtained through kindness and patience.

ROGUE ELK PAVILION TO OPEN SATURDAY

It has 2,400 square feet of floor space and extends out over the Rogue river more than 20 feet and has what the management claims to be one of the finest floors in the state.

In conjunction with the pavilion there are six full furnished rooms on the river side extending over the river for tourists who wish a nice cool place to sleep.

Mr. Shapard will open up this new pavilion next Saturday night with a big barbecue and dance. The public is invited and Mr. Shapard has secured one of the finest dance orchestras obtainable to play for this big opening dance.

English Beauty May Sit on Turk Throne

If the son of the notorious Abdul the Damned achieves his dream of ascending the throne of Turkey and becoming head of the Mohammedan world, he is likely to have as his consort in the West, Lady Sholto Douglas, a famous English beauty of the Western world. Her engagement to Prince Burhan-ed-Din is the talk of London, and she does not deny it.

LOCAL POSTOFFICE PRAISED BY P. M. AT CAMP JACKSON

Mail delivered on schedule, and on a schedule adopted since the Oregon National Guard went into quarters at Camp Jackson, has been made possible through the efforts of Sergeant Smith W. Allison of Portland. As an official of the general postoffice there Sergeant Allison has gained valuable knowledge which was put into practice at once when he was assigned to the position of postmaster at Camp Jackson, by orders of his commanding officer and through the courtesy of Postmaster Warner and Assistant Postmaster Beach of Medford.

All mail at Camp Jackson is promptly distributed and as promptly called for at Camp Jackson. The hundreds of outgoing letters and the hundreds of letters arriving for the troopers have been handled in an efficient manner, thanks to the experience and knowledge of such affairs possessed by Sergeant Allison.

"The mail distribution at Brigade headquarters of the 82nd Infantry is said to have been made as near perfect as such affairs can be made with the limited equipment. Boxes have been arranged and a real branch post-office established in the tent city.

"The cooperation of Postmaster Warren has done much to help our mail delivery service said Sergeant Allison. "Our fellows are more than pleased with the reception we have had in Medford and if I have my way I'd come back again whenever the invitation is extended. There has been no complaints from the men about mail and I can say that the promptness with which our delivery has been made and the snappy way in which the mail has been collected speaks well for the efficiency of the Medford post office."

Sergeant Allison will return to his duties in Portland after the troops leave Medford.

EX-JACKSONVILLE COUPLE INVOLVED IN DIVORCE SUIT

The following article from the Coos Bay Times of last Saturday has reference to former well-known residents of Jacksonville:

Alleged implication of his wife in a blackmail action which resulted in her arrest with a companion in Bandon last month, is cited by Clarence Langlois as one reason for a divorce from Rettle Langlois. He also alleges she has a bad temper, having threatened him once with a chair, and also that she has left his home.

Referring to the blackmail case, the complaint says she "became involved in a blackmail conspiracy with one Mr. Simons at Bandon to extort money from several persons residing at Bandon and that as a result Sheriff Ellingsen, with two deputies, arrested the defendant and Mr. Simons and said conspiracy was exposed. That they had intoxicating liquor and a house arranged for the purpose."

"The defendant by this conduct and at other times not herein mentioned brought public scandal and embarrassment unendurable upon this plaintiff. That since May 9 the defendant, after being released from custody of officers, has left the home of the plaintiff." The couple married at Jacksonville, Ore., October 19, 1911.

A portion of the scenic grounds including two islands, has been turned over to the Boy Scouts of Medford for week-end and overnight hikes. An old channel of the river bounds one side of the property and the main channel the other, with small streams in between.

A group of Scouts from Medford in charge of Cecil A. Cook, scout executive, left for the Elks Picnic grounds, to do construction work on Wednesday, June 17.

On arrival the party was divided into groups and each assigned to some part of the work. There were four groups of five boys each.

A dam was built across the old channel using logs and sand bags to make the water deep enough to swim in. Up the river a small excavation was made to let the water into the old channel to form the swimming hole. The construction of the dam was a complete success and all went swimming Wednesday p. m. and several times on Thursday.

On one island was built a large council fire place with sleeping quarters all around it. Each of the four groups was assigned places for their sleeping quarters to be constructed, and each group was to have a part in the camp fire entertainment to consist of a yell, a song and a patrol name.

The names selected were, the Triple W's, the Beaver, Camping Five and the Sunbeam and each had their party ready for the camp fire on Wednesday night.

On the other island a long trench was dug for building fires for cooking purposes and some very fine meals were prepared by the Scouts over their new fireplace.

The islands were connected by log bridges which will have to be improved on the next trip so that it will be safer to get from the mainland to the sleeping quarters and eating quarters.

Thursday afternoon an election was held and the following are satisfied campers were elected: Ronald Krinke, Austin Hubbard, Clifford Reckett, Benton Newman and Leo Van Ausdale. Austin Hubbard was elected honor camper, but not without some real competition.

About four o'clock cars began to arrive to take the boys home and all wished another night could be spent on the new project.

Court of honor will be held on Thursday night, June 25. All Scouts who expect to take advancement, must report to headquarters not later than Wednesday afternoon.

The general assembly that was called last Friday night was well attended, a number of games and stunts were on the program and altho it was impossible to have a camp fire as planned, everyone had a fine time. The importance of summer camp was discussed; of the Scouts present about 25 planned to have their camp applications signed and turned in at headquarters not later than Wednesday morning, the 24th. The first two weeks of the camping period seem to be the most popular. Scouts going at that time will leave for the first period on July 6th, and for the second period on July 13th. Lake of the Woods Scout Camp is the common subject in the Scout's mind just at this time, as they all are preparing to make the camp a big success.
