CARE OF FEET IS STRESSED IN TALK ON HUMAN HEALTH

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30.—(A. P.) General care of the human body with special emphasis on the feet came in for a large share of the discussion at today's sessions of the convention of the Pacific Northwest Medical Association.

Dr. A. Gray of Seattle, in discussing proper clothing for children said that many mothers start their children off wrong in life by trying to dress them in style rather than as a means of protecting them from the elements. Dr. Gray denounced short socks for growing children in winter and spring months. He also paid his respects, ironically speaking to shoe clerks who sell women shoes for their children that are "the latest thing" rather than "the best thing."

The physician said that shoes had more to do with the general health of both children and adults than most people realized. He said button shoes and patent leather shoes should be avoided as a regular thing.

Other physicians, among them, Professor Lewellyn F. Barker of Johns Hopkins university said that no reputable physician now days attempts to handle a case without first taking into consideration the patient's mental condition. Some time was given to the discussion of "stuck complexes," which were described as cases of patients who merely imagine themselves ill. These, it was asserted, were numerous.

The physicians selected Glacier National park as their next meeting place.

WRITES BEETHOVEN TO TEACH DAUGHTER

VIENNA, June 30.—(A. P.)—A letter addressed to one "Herr Ludwig Van Beethoven, professor of the conservatory, Schwarzenberg-Gasse 15," recently arrived in Vienna—a bit late but otherwise in good condition. In view of the impossibility of delivering it to an addressee who has been in the postal authorities' felt justified in sending the missive. It proved to be from a Galician dancing professor Beethoven to give his daughter piano lessons for 200 crown a session. The officials returned the letter with the remark: "Address O. K. but addressee migrated heavenward in 1827. Impossible to forward."
