

Local and Personal

The Crater Lake season officially opened this morning with everything at the lodge ready for the reception of guests. A number of people from the hotels and auto camps started for the lake this morning in their own cars, but no passengers arrived on the morning train to go up on the stages, which began their regular runs between here and the lake. The mail service between Medford and the lake also began this morning.

Squaw Lake, in the upper Applegate country, is beginning to get extremely warm. A party of local young men made the trip to the lake Saturday night, getting within a mile and a half of the lake over the Squaw creek road, crossing 22 fords along the creek. It is recommended that any others going in on the Squaw creek road stop at the first ford as the traveling is extremely rough from that point. The fish in the lake were striking readily but another week or more of warm weather will put them in a soft condition.—Grants Pass Courier. 17*
