Floods Threaten JACKSON, Wyo., July 2.—(A. P.) Fifty ranches in the Gros Ventre valley are in danger of being inundated if the lysin, formed by the Sheep mountain avalanche last week which is blocking the Gros Ventre river, breaks under the increasing impounding of the stream's flow, forestry officials reported today.

If the basin gives way, approximately 11,000 acres will be flooded by near Sheep mountain was partially under water today, as the basin withered under the flow of the river. The ranger station was near the edge of the basin.

The water in the basin is now only 35 feet from the top. Last week the basin's top towered 200 feet above the water it contained.

BOGOTA, Columbia, July 2.—(A. P.)—Violent eruption of the volcano of Galeras near Pasto, began yesterday, great flames issuing from the crater and large quantities of rocks and ashes covering the surrounding country.

Communication with the towns of La Florida and Sotomayo is cut off and it is feared they have been destroyed. The volcano of Galeras in the tablelands of the Andes in southern Colombia, near the Ecuadorian frontier, was in eruption last on May 17. An earthquake shock preceded its activity on that date.

Galeras also gave signs of activity on February 22, which continued until February 28, the date of earthquake shocks in the United States. Then the disturbances within the crater increased and vast quantities of ashes were thrown up, covering the surrounding country and obscuring towns. Enormous seams opened in the land and the sides of the crater caved in in places.

The inhabitants were greatly alarmed but suffered only from smoke.

'YOU'RE A DIRTY LIAR' WIFE SAYS IN MURDER CASE

TACOMA, July 2.—(A. P.) While George S. Conger was on the witness stand today in his trial for the murder of Robert S. Heale last May 3, his wife, Mrs. Mollie Conger, sobbed hysterically, arose to her feet, and shouted:

"George, you're a dirty liar!" Conger had just given a dramatic story of the shooting. He told how Heale had broken up his home and how he had been pleading with Heale to leave his wife alone and with his wife to return to Bellingham with him.

KLAMATH FALLS ESTABLISHES AN AIRPLANE LAUNDRY FOR SISKIYOU CO.

YREKA, Cal., July 2.—(A. P.)—The little settlement of Jerome, Siskiyou county, may be entirely innocent of union passenger terminals, million dollar libraries and sky-high business blocks, but it has one feature of modern progress that the biggest cities lack. That is airplane laundry service.

Every few days an aircraft wings out of Klamath Falls, picks up the week's wash at Jerome, 45 miles away, and takes it in to be scrubbed and mangled in an up-to-date Klamath Falls laundry. Deliveries are made the same way. The "winged wash" is getting to be a big feature in Jerome.

TO BUILD A MODEL CITY FROM RUINS

Plans of Santa Barbara Art Society to Be Carried Out and State Street to Be a Replica of Old Spain—Stricken City Rapidly Returns to Normalcy.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 2.—(A. P.)—Santa Barbara's earthquake losses were fixed today by the committee of local engineers, assisted by experts from Los Angeles and San Francisco at 10,000,000.

Fire insurance policies, which, under the law, are automatically cancelled when the building is damaged by a force other than fire, were re-instated by underwriters today and practically every building is now covered with insurance commensurate with its present value.

LOS ANGELES, July 2.—(A. P.)—The city of Santa Barbara, through representatives here today, revised its previous estimates of needed rehabilitation funds and asked through clearing houses, insurance companies and other agencies for a $3,000,000 fund to rebuild its charitable institutions and a $10,000,000 loan to rebuild the business sections of the city.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., July 2.—(A. P.)—With 250 of Uncle Sam's "leathernecks" patrolling the earthquake torn section of Santa Barbara today to preserve order, the city was expected to assume normality in many respects.

Practically all of the dangerous overhanging walls were demolished by fire yesterday and last night and debris has been hauled away until there is little left of the wreckage of any character save on the site of the San Marcos building and in the park surrounding the Hotel Arlington.

Sheriff James Ross was in command of the law and order forces of the city, including the marines and prominent citizens, jointly with the city council took charge of the city as a public safety committee, holding their first meeting at 9:30.

A board of California engineers under the chairmanship of C. E. Marx, head of the college of engineering of Stanford university, resumed its inspection of buildings throughout the city, designating those to come down and those safe or that would be safe if repaired. The committee on public safety has announced that the findings of the committee are to be final and are to be followed in detail.

Almost unanimous is the decision of business men to reconstruct the city along the line of Spanish architecture, following recommendation of the Santa Barbara Art society and the new State street, if these plans are followed, will be a replica of old Spain when it rises again.

With telephone service restored and prospects of light and gas service within 24 hours, the citizens looked forward for the next few hours to bring normal conditions to their homes and the closing of Red Cross relief stations where rich and poor alike have elbowed each other at meal times since the disaster Monday morning.
