SANTA BARBARA HIT AGAIN BY QUAKE

DAMAGE IS REPORTED AS NOT SERIOUS

Destruction of Billings Mansion Denied, But Damage Is Admitted—Bricks Fall and Pipes Are Broken—Panic Is Prevented—More Tremors Follow First Shock

SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—(A. P.)—Santa Barbara went through four more earthquake shocks today. The first was at 8:39 A. M., and the other three were at 10:21, 10:41 and 10:46 o'clock. Up to 11:30 o'clock no great damage had been reported and no persons were injured.

Because of continued earthquake shocks telephone service was discontinued for a time this morning. The frayed nerves of the operators would not permit them to remain in their already damaged buildings. Service will be resumed soon, officials say, no damage having been done to the interior of the telephone building.

The city has suffered no further damage and all reports of loss of life today are incorrect. The people generally have sought the open spaces until the earth settles down a bit. They are cheerful but nervous.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 3.—(A. P.)—The wire chief of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company's toll lines here said today, owing to recurring tremors at Santa Barbara the telegraph instruments of the Associated Press in the Daily News building there were being moved outside. The wires, however, were still intact.

PASADENA, Cal., July 3.—(A. P.)—A slight earthquake occurred here at 8:38 A. M. The movement was apparently north and south.

PORTLAND MEN ARE INVOLVED IN KIDNAP CASE

Dr. D. J. Fasching and J. A. Jones Arrested in Los Angeles, While Prowling About Doheny Mansion—Have Gun and Hypo Needle.

LOS ANGELES, July 3.—The arrest of two loiterers near the E. L. Doheny estate in Beverly Hills yesterday has revived talk of alleged plots to kidnap the oil magnate's grandchildren. Deputy sheriffs who took the pair into custody and booked them for investigation at the county jail as Joseph A. Jower and Dr. D. J. Fasching, both of Portland, Ore., said the men had in their possession two pieces of gas pipe, a revolver and a hypodermic needle.

The kidnaping theory found no favor, however, with Judge Charles Wellborne, attorney for the oil magnate. "Just a couple of bums," was his comment.

Two truck drivers and an automobile salesman, now awaiting trial on a charge of conspiring to kidnap Mary Pickford, were alleged at the time of their arrest, to have confessed plotting also to kidnap the Doheny children. Several months before the police admitted speeding youngsters were watching over the youngsters but to date no actual attempt to carry them off has been reported.

PORTLAND, Ore., July 3.—Dr. D. J. Fasching and Joseph A. Jower, taken into custody in Los Angeles where they were found loitering near the residence of E. L. Doheny, oil magnate, are well known here and there is no record of either of them ever having been in trouble before.

Dr. Fasching has been an osteopathic practitioner here for ten years. He has a wife and daughter. Mrs. Fasching said her husband had gone to Los Angeles on a trip and she could not account for his present predicament. Jower is a friend of the family.

PEACE PACT IS ENDORSED BY COOLIDGE

In Address at Cambridge, President Again Tells Europe That Covenants of Peace Will Receive Moral Support of United States—Laud Policies of Washington

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 3.—(A. P.)—Security pacts to preserve the peace of Europe were given a pledge of moral support today by President Coolidge, who coupled his promise with a warning that on no other terms could America be expected to contribute further to the financial revival of the old world.

"If the people of the old world are mutually distrustful of each other," he said in an address delivered here, "let them enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security."

"While our own country should refrain from making political commitments where it does not have political interests, such covenants would always have the moral support of our government, and could not fail to have the commendation of the public opinion of the world."

Washington Is Lauded. A recapitulation of the virtues of Washington provided the cue for the president's remarks on the subject to be voiced on behalf of the administration. After recounting Washington's faith in the principles of democracy and honesty, Mr. Coolidge continued:

"The vigor with which he insisted on the prosecution of the war was no less than the vigor with which he insisted on the observance of peace. He cherished no resentments, he harbored no hatreds, he forgave his enemies. He felt the same obligation to execute the terms of a treaty made for the benefit of a former foe than he felt to require the observance of those made for the benefit of his own country. He realized that peace could be the result only of mutual forbearance and mutual good faith."

"The harmonized the divergent and conflicting interests of colonial nationalities and different governments by conference and agreement. He demonstrated by his arguments, and our country has demonstrated by experience, that more progress on any other theory. If it is to be a permanent peace, it must be based on the good faith of mankind. I do not see how civilization can expect permanent progress on any other theory. If what is saved in the productive peace of today is to be lost in the destructive war of tomorrow, the people of this earth can look forward to nothing but everlasting servitude. There is no justification for hope. This was not the conception which Washington had of life."

Distrust Means Destruction. "If the people of the old world are mutually distrustful of each other let them enter into mutual covenants for their mutual security, and when such covenants have been made, let them be solemnly observed no matter what the sacrifice. They have settled the far more difficult problems of reparations, they are in process of funding their debts to us, why can they not agree on permanent terms of peace and fully re-establish international faith and credit? If there be differences which can not be adjusted at the moment, if there be conditions which can not be foreseen, let them be resolved in the future by methods of arbitration."

DEFENSE FILES INJUNCTION IN EVOLUTION CASE

Federal Court Is Asked for a Temporary Injunction Against Enforcement of the Anti-Monkey Law—Denies Bill Sunday to Aid.

NEW YORK, July 3.—(A. P.)—Counsel for the defense in the Scopes case announced that a temporary injunction against enforcement of the Tennessee law prohibiting the teaching of evolution in the public schools would be sought Monday in the federal court in Tennessee.

CHICAGO, July 3.—(A. P.)—Definite announcement was made here today by Clarence Darrow that the Scopes evolution trial, set for hearing at Dayton, Tenn., would be taken into the federal court by counsel for the defense.

Mr. Darrow said this was definitely decided in a conference held in New York by himself, Dr. John R. Neal, Dudley Field Malone and Bainbridge Colby. Dr. Neal has left for Tennessee with the necessary data and the application for a federal injunction to prevent the state authorities from proceeding with the case will be made either Monday or Tuesday at Knoxville or Chattanooga.

Two complaints will be filed in the federal court determined upon by D. Neal, said Mr. Darrow. One will be filed by Scopes and the other by a property owner, as yet not determined upon.

The complaints will, in effect, be applications for injunctions to restrain the state court from proceeding with the trial of Scopes at Dayton, Tenn., July 10.

Should the federal injunction not be granted, Darrow and his three associates would have no recourse but to proceed with the Dayton trial next Friday.

Should the federal judge grant the petition the evolution case would lose all its appeal as a great drama, with its nationally known witnesses appearing upon the stand and expounding their views of the creation of man. Instead the lawyers themselves would argue the matter of the legality of the Tennessee law.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 3.—(A. P.)—The Louisville Courier Journal today says that Walter White, superintendent of schools at Dayton, Tenn., has invited the Rev.
