

1 KILLED, 2 SHOT BY BOOTLEGGERS IN CALIFORNIA

SALINAS, Cal., July 7.—(A. P.)—A traffic and passenger automobile, equipped to carry liquor, were found in a vacant lot today near a point at Moss Landing, where suspected run runners and a sheriff's posse engaged in a pistol battle last night, resulting in the death of N. H. Rader, a member of the posse and the shooting of Sheriff W. A. Oyer and Harry Livingston, a state traffic officer.

The sheriff's office also received word that an automobile fleeing from the scene of the shooting had been stopped in a Jose and that the men arrested there.

The posse at Monterey denied reports that troops had been sent to the scene of the shooting.

Sheriff Oyer was shot in the knee and Livingston through the leg. They are in a hospital here.

The finding of the empty truck and automobile indicated that the shore crew of the boat running outfit had been surprised before it was possible to land any liquor from a supposed smuggling boat at the landing. There were no signs of any such craft today and it is believed that it put to sea as soon as the shooting started.

Possemen were still on guard at the scene of the shooting today. Two of the suspected run runners were captured and brought here, but only one was given out, that of John May.

The fight last night came with such dramatic suddenness that officials here picked fragmentary reports from the scene of action to obtain a connected story.

Harry Livingston, a state traffic officer, drove a shot-shattered automobile into Watsonville, near here, before midnight, with an appeal for help.

The appeal was relayed here and Sheriff Oyer organized a posse and moved to the scene.

As he approached Moss Landing on a dark road, flanked by ditches, the sheriff said, faces bobbed up from both sides and inquired as to the business of the sheriff and his assistants.

When the sheriff identified himself, the cry "shoot 'em" came from the men in the brush and they opened fire with the two-word warning.

SALINAS, Cal., July 7.—(A. P.)—The 40th tank company of the California national guard, in camp at Del Monte, was called out today with a new citizen posse to aid in the search for a number of run runners believed to be hiding in a bay field at Moss Landing, nine miles from here, after killing a member of a sheriff's posse which surprised them at work last night.

U. S. COUNTESS OF SALM WANTS HER MARRIAGE OK'ED

NEW YORK, July 7.—(A. P.)—The services of papers on Countess Salm von Hoogstraeten in a suit regarding the validating in Austria of her marriage today, awarded payment of a $4,500 process server's fee.

Millicent Rogers, New York, society girl, and grand daughter of Henry H. Rogers of the Standard Oil company, married Count von Hoogstraeten secretly at City Hall in New York on July 8, 1924.

There was a honeymoon trip to Paris and shortly the bride's father, Henry Huddleston Rogers, went abroad and brought her home. A son was born September 27, 1924.

In behalf of Dr. Emil Kammerer, a Vienna lawyer, there have been filed in the county court at Brooklyn summons and complaint in a suit for $100 and costs. A copy of a power of attorney given by the countess to Kammerer is attached.

Sheriff Blagg has notified Arthur J. Stern of Brooklyn, who represents the Vienna lawyer, that the papers will not be served until he gets his fee.

Stern said the countess wanted the marriage validated in order to protect her son. Validation was necessary in Austria because the count was divorced when he captured the bride. The count is on the continent somewhere playing tennis.

The countess is at her father's home in Southampton.

FIND RUINS INDIAN VILLAGES, THE DALLES

THE DALLES, Ore., July 7.—Two Indian villages and possibly a third, one on top of the other, have been found in the mound just east of Speda's ancient Indian village, by a party of University of California scientists working here and financed by Hon. J. Biddle of Vancouver, Wash., it is believed the party, headed by William Denham Strong and W. Herbert Scherak may have discovered keys to the carvings and paintings on the Columbia river rocks near here.

The mound, known among the Indians as "Walkemup," is believed by the scientists to have been formed by the rebuilding of an Indian city on top of previous cities destroyed and covered by the elements.

AUTO DRIVER ON JOY RIDE CRASHES INTO TOURIST CAR

While driving a car at an abnormal rate of speed and in an alleged inebriated condition Chester Roberts, son of a Central Point rancher, struck fairly smashingly a Ford car driven by Mr. H. H. Hest, a tourist, near the Central Point auto camp Sunday evening.

The latter was going at a very slow rate of speed, it is said, and had tried to avoid the oncoming Roberts vehicle by going as far as the highway as he possibly could, but in vain. As a result of the collision which followed Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett received minor cuts and bruises, but the Ford, which was practically new, only having been driven 380 miles, was ruined, it being fairly broken in two.

Police officials of Central Point and State Traffic Officer J. J. McMahon were immediately on the scene, placing under arrest Mr. Roberts, the driver, for being intoxicated while driving a motor vehicle, and at present his case is in the hands of the district attorney and the sheriff's office, awaiting further developments.

RALPH INCE TO MARRY DANCER

NEW YORK, July 7.—Lucia Mendez, dancer and screen star and daughter of the late Christiano Castro, dictator of Venezuela, has been cast by Ralph W. Ince, motion picture producer, for the role of his bride.

The girl's stepmother, Mrs. Joseph Bryce, who lives here, has received word of the announcement of the engagement in Los Angeles.

Ince was divorced last week in Los Angeles by a sister of Anita Stewart.

A month ago Mrs. Ince obtained a judgment for $3661 under a separation agreement.

Ince also has been defending in a $50,000 damage suit by his brother-in-law, George Stewart, which was brought after a fight in an automobile on the way home from a dinner at a country inn.

Local Briefs

Due to various technical points of Oregon state laws Ives McKinney, the aviator formerly of Medford, did not give exhibition flying at Myrtle point the 4th of July as had been planned, and instead flew in the celebration at Seaside, Calif. At the present time it is understood, he is on his way to Wallace, Idaho, in connection with the transportation of 10,000 pounds of iron piping from Iron Mountain, Mont., to a placer mine in the Clearwater region of Idaho, a distance of 50 miles over mountainous country. He is due to commence work July 10th and the task when completed will have taken 40 or 50 days to accomplish.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Truver of Paducah, Ky., arrived in the city this morning to visit Crater Lake and to spend their summer vacation at Diamond Lake. The three, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Truver and chauffeur, motored from that southern city to Medford in less than a month which time also includes stopovers at various cities through which they passed.

J. H. James left yesterday for a month's visit with his father and other relatives and friends in Ohio and Indiana.

CRATERS FROLIC ON FRIED CHICKEN AT ROGUE ELK

The members of the Craters club and their ladies had a great time at the Rogue Elk resort last night, the occasion not only being a regular session of the club and delayed celebration of July 4th, but naturally receiving itself into an observance of old home week, with the extra good and mellow fellowship always a feature of such an occasion the world over.

In this case, however, the traditional fattened calves were replaced by many fat and tender spring chickens fried to a toothsome nicety. Ever since the memorable banquet served the Craters at the Rogue Elk last winter with Will G. McDonald as host, when the Craters, filled to capacity and with eyes bulging out with gluttonous satisfaction continued to about "We want more turkey," they have been longing to go back for another similar feast like that of last night, with A. B. Shapard, the new proprietor, as host.

Hence the old home week feature of last night with McDonald himself gracing the head of one of the tables.

There was no program last night, as the Craters were naturally under wraps with their ladies present. Mr. and Mrs. Shapard were brought into the banquet room, introduced and complimented. Then Mr. Shapard was made a life member of the Crater club in recognition of his noble efforts to lighten up the Crater path through life.

Following this the Craters and their ladies adjourned to the pavilion on the bank of the river in front of the Rogue Elk, and after dedicating that structure, held an informal ball and enjoyed impromptu fireworks until midnight.

Then the merry-makers drove home thru the ideal summer night along the picturesque and silvery river, made so by the almost full moon.

The dedication ceremony was a very simple affair. On reaching the pavilion the crowd assembled around the entrance and E. C. Ferguson, "the art of killing."

TRY TO FIX BLAME FOR CLUB DISASTER

BOSTON, July 7.—(A. P.)—The task of placing the blame for the Pickwick club building collapse which trapped a gay crowd of "night before the Fourth" revellers with a loss of 43 lives assumed chief importance today when definite assurance had been received from the wreckers that the ruins had yielded the last of the dead.

The county grand jury spent 16 hours examining the scene of the disaster and questioning witnesses, some of them survivors, and adjourned shortly before midnight to resume the inquiry today.

Governor Fuller announced that the state would lend all possible assistance and declared that if the county investigation failed to uncover facts he would place the case in the hands of Attorney-General Jay R. Benton.

The grand jury has heard 15 witnesses. Thirty more have been summoned and it was considered doubtful if the task of examining all could be accomplished in time to return a verdict today.

"Of course," whispered Mr. Fergie, "I never could remember these big French words, and then aloud he continued the dedication as follows: "As I was saying, it gives me a much esteemed privilege to dedicate this grand temple of art as Stacom."

Then he cracked the bottle and the waiting assemblage flocked onto the floor as the Crater club orchestra struck up its opening dance air.

Dancing, however, was delayed a moment or so, until the bunch of lighted fire crackers someone had carelessly tossed into one of the saxophones had all exploded and the wreckage was cleared out.

One of the most amusing features of the night was when the crowd was entering the ball room pavilion a Crater named Mr. Bill Hammett stood at the doorway fingering a bunch of old milk tickets, as the couples entered, and stopped them and said "Fifty cents please." Among the Craters who innocently paid over money to this self-appointed ticket taker were A. B. Cunningham, Bert Thierolf and E. C. Jerome.

HONOLULU, T. H., July 7.—Dr. T. Chen, delegate from China to the Pacific relations institute, speaking at a public meeting here last night, laid direct responsibility for the present chaos in China "squarely to the foreign residents of Shanghai."

He said Occidental powers comprised one of the real reasons for the awakening of China when they overpowered China and taught the Chinese "the art of killing."
