

Local and Personal

The school board held a called meeting last night to consider the request made by Prof. Burton Strock, the able Spanish and Latin teacher and high school band leader and instructor for the past five years, for a leave of absence for a year. Because of the long and valuable service rendered by Prof. Strock, this request was readily granted by the different members of the board. Another instructor to replace him, Mr. Strock plans to teach Spanish and orchestra during this leave of absence, at Reedley, Calif., near Fresno. Fancy creamer, quarter 42c per lb. When interviewed today, Al Piche of the Medford Hardware and Sport Goods store, denied any connection with the "Do you love your wife?" publicity which is covering Medford. He stated that he knew nothing whatsoever of the real meaning or content of this popular question, but was as much in the dark as anyone. His ads containing the slogan were merely used to attract attention and to tie up with this clever advertising scheme.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the people of Medford will have an opportunity Monday, July 13th, to hear Watterston Lowe, the noted New York interior decorator, speak at the library. This is Mr. Lowe's first visit to the Pacific coast, and it is a real treat for Medford art lovers and home makers to hear him hear his message and to see the beautiful products from the eastern markets which Mr. Lowe has brought with him. Mr. Lowe is a member of the faculty of Pratt Institute, and besides is a practicing decorator in New York City. His lecture is free and is to be given Monday night at 8 o'clock at the public library. All are cordially invited.

THE HOME OF BREAD LIKE MOTHER MADE

If time and money mean anything to you, buy here—because we save you a lot of both. Clerks' credits and deliveries cost a lot and we cut them out and save you what we would pay for them. We save you time because you don't have to stand around until a clerk can wait on you. Neither do you have to hurry while being served so that the clerk can wait on the next customer.
