

Wherever You Live—
Oil Cookstoves Are "City Easy"

If you want a cool kitchen in summer, an all-year-round cookstove with no fires to tend—use a good oil-cookstove. It will help solve your cooking problem by making your cooking "city easy." No mussy fires to tend—no fuel or ashes to lug—simple—noiseless—safe!

But be sure to use Pearl Oil—for Pearl Oil is more than "just kerosene." It is refined and re-refined by our special process so it won't corrode cookstoves or heaters; it will give you nothing but absolutely odorless, intense flame that's all heat! Insist on clean-burning Pearl Oil—ask for it by name!—"PEARL OIL."

ASHLAND YOUTH BADLY INJURED IN SAW MILL

ASHLAND, July 15.—Roy Fields is a patient in the Community hospital, the victim of an accident in the mill in which his foot was nearly severed at the instep and the entire foot badly mangled. Fields was operating a band saw when, in some manner the member was drawn into the carriage and then into the saw. The accident occurred yesterday at the sawmill, near "Pebble," which Fields and A. W. Magon operate.

Eleven hundred librarians were in attendance at the 47th annual conference of the American Library association to which Miss Blanche Hicks, librarian, was a delegate. Among the topics discussed were "Adult Education," "Library Training," "School Library Work," and "Library Extension." Among the speakers were numbered H. E. Myer of the Library of Congress, President Suzzano of U. of W., Judson T. Jennings of the Seattle public library, Dr. Arthur Bostwick of the St. Louis library, and Milton J. Ferguson of the California State library. The John Newberry medal was awarded to Chas. J. Finger of Fayetteville, Ark., for his volume, "Tales from Silver Lands," South American folk tales. The author was present to receive the medal. It is awarded for the best contribution to child literature. Only American authors are eligible.

A special lecture is given tonight by Watterson Lowe on "Interior Decoration" with special reference to "urntaining the home." It will be fully illustrated and many new ideas will be given regarding this practical problem. This is the second in the series of lectures arranged to accommodate busy people. A number of new pupils have entered the Art School and keen interest is manifest.

Dr. Andrew H. Oeder of New York is registered at the Luthia Springs hotel. He expects to visit his daughter Linda, at the Lake of the Woods this week.

Mrs. Josephine Foley, her daughters the Misses Eva and Minnie Foley, Mrs. Angie Engle and Miss Gertrude Engle left Monday morning for Ranier National park. They expect to be gone a fortnight or more.

From cards received, Malcolm Parked and his sister, Mrs. May Parker, who visited in Ashland and Medford, have visited Lake Tahoe since leaving Ashland. "While very beautiful it does not compare to Crater Lake—and the road thereto is—beyond description."

Mrs. Mary Hale is visiting relatives and friends at Waterloo, Iowa. She will be away from Ashland for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan and Mrs. Wm. Carleton of Wagner creek were visiting friends in Ashland recently.

Mrs. O. R. Brothers of Hornbrook is in Ashland to be with her son, who is in the community hospital recovering from an auto accident.

The Rev. B. C. Miller and family have returned from Newport where they have been spending their vacation. Prior to going to Newport, Mr. Miller held evangelistic meetings at Eugene.

Miss Ada Brewster, home demonstration agent of Jackson county, occupied the assembly period Monday. The message she brought to the teachers was one of helpfulness. The phases of her work were touched upon and ways in which the teacher could help in the projects and problems were suggested. In turn her assistance was pledged for the putting over of plans for community betterment.

Tuesday Mrs. Susanne Homes Carter brought "The High Lights of the Normal," to the students of the Summer Normal. The fact that delegates were present from far away Alaska, the Hawaiian group, the Virgin Islands—from east, south, north and west, was noted. The keynote of many of the addresses were given; that of President Newland being "The Abolition of War." The thought of peace was stressed in many ways; it being suggested that the children be given the thought of peace in the platform exercises, the memory games and in every way possible. "Junior High," "Consolidated Schools," "Type Schools," "Part Time Schools" and the Illiteracy Work, all had part in the discussions. That a group of 56 teachers were appointed to draft a code of ethics for teachers was an interesting statement, as was the fact that in 1890 there were two hundred thousand children in high school as against three million five hundred thousand today. Miss Mary MacSkimmon is the new president. A new bill will be presented to provide that there be a secretary of education in the cabinet. The resume was made very interesting indeed by Supt. Carter.

On Friday night of this week the students of the Summer Normal will be entertained by the Civic Improvement club and the Chamber of Commerce at the club house. Quite elaborate plans are being made by the hosts and the affair is anticipated with considerable pleasure.

Forty-two years ago Saturday, the Billings firm was established, occupying for the first three years, the room just across the street where the Provost Hardware store now stands. For seven years prior to that, Mr. Billings had been operating a flour mill, so for almost half a century he has been identified with the business interests of Ashland. For thirty-nine of the years he has occupied the present office. In 1886, when he and G. S. Butler erected the building in which the office is located it seemed quite too far out of town. At that time the town had not begun to grow toward that side. Mr. Billings has seen the town grow from a village of 400 to its present population. In 1906, Homer Billings became a member of the firm. During Ashland's growth Mr. Billings has been actively interested in every forward looking movement, not the least of which was the Chautauqua, of which organization he was the head for many years, and to whom it owed so largely its success.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Harner of Nevada, Mo., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Harner of Almond street. They will spend a fortnight with their parents, Mr. Harner visited in Ashland some years ago, taking the Lake of the Woods trip when it was a most difficult matter, and one that was an endurance test on the part of the one taking it, to reach the lake. At that time there were no cottages there.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McNair and son and Mrs. Milton Fraley and children have returned from Corvallis where they have been during the druggist's convention. Mrs. W. H. McNair was named president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the organization.

Mrs. Fay Dix is guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Putnam, of Vista street. She will remain for a few days.

Dr. L. A. Suggs of Fort Worth, Tex., is a visitor in this section of the state. He is deeply impressed with the scenic beauties of the Rogue River valley, and the mineral waters were of especial interest to him.

FORD'S OFFER IS NEARLY $2,000,000

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(A. P.)—Henry Ford today offered $1,706,000 for the 200 shipping board vessels set aside for scrapping.

His bid compares with $1,370,000 offered by the Boston Iron and Metal company of Baltimore. The Baltimore company's tender was favored by President Palmer of the fleet commission, but rejected by the shipping board which called for new proposals.

DANCER IS INDIGNANT, WON'T MARRY GEORGES

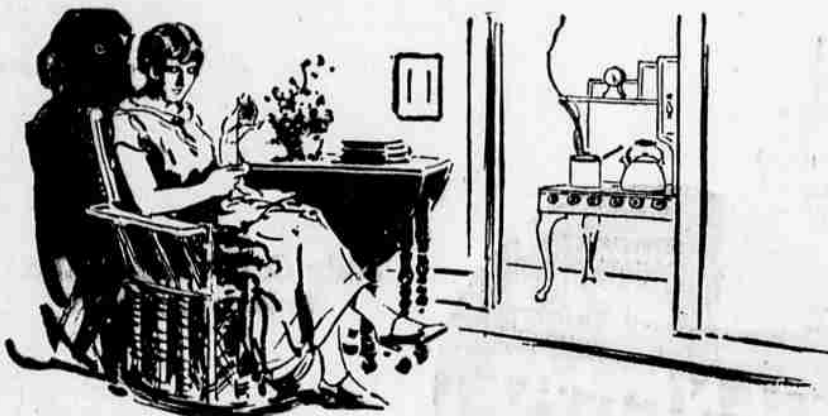

NEW YORK, July 16.—(A. P.)—Mary Edson, youthful dancing star, high up on Florenz Ziegfeld's roll, is indignant over reports that she is to marry Georges Carpentier, the French pugilist. Such reports were published soon after her departure for Paris five weeks ago. "Those reports are preposterous," she said.

ELECTRIC COOKING —less watching

The roast, for instance—first a quick searing to seal in the savory juices, and then a slow cooking heat as in a fireless cooker. That's in the oven.

But over here, something is simmering gently in a saucepan. Another pan is bubbling vigorously at the lid. Tomorrow morning's prunes are stewing leisurely between whiles.

Dinner is being prepared—and it must be watched, too. For each different dish requires a different method, a different heat. One fire will not do for all.

That's one reason why electric ranges, with their instantly regulated and easily controlled cooking temperatures, from a sizzling, searing heat in one place to a just-keep-it-alive glow in another, are so favored by good cooks. Electricity makes good cookery better, and easier.

And that, plus the surprising economy* of electrical cooking, is a reason why nearly one thousand eight hundred kitchens in the territory served by this company are now fuel-less and ash-less. Nearly one thousand eight hundred electric ranges have made them so.

Ask your nearest dealer to show you several models. Convenient payments, if you like.

*The actual average cost of current for electric cooking and lighting, together, in homes in this neighborhood, is $5.62 a month.

Often 50,000 Miles Without a Carbon-Sign!

That's a common record with Aristo. This western oil is economical to begin with—it costs less than many other motor oils—but its greatest saving is in the end.

Perhaps the most confusing thing about motor oils is the matter of price. Eastern oils, for example, cost more—chiefly because they carry heavy freight rates.

Western oils, actually superior lubricants, are thus obviously the most economical. And particularly is this true of Aristo Motor Oil.

Aristo's greatest saving, however, is not in its price. It's in that most formidable of items—motor up-keep.

Aristo combats the formation of carbon. And as a lubricant it has no peer.

The makers of Aristo have a pride in their product which takes no account of costs. It could sell for twice as much and not be a better oil.

Sold at Union Oil service stations, and at independent dealers of the first class everywhere.
