GARDENS OF EDEN VALLEY INVADED BY CUTWORMS

By Mary O. Carey.
EDEN PRECINCT, July 16.—Cut worms have invaded the many gardens in this precinct, and are destroying the gardens. The great caterpillar-like worms gnaw the beets as a rabbit would an apple tree. They eat holes in the potatoes or anything they come in contact with in the garden. Never before have there been worms in such numbers. They are working in places among the potatoes, beets and cabbage. Some few are trying out the bran and Paris green, but that must be spread fresh each morning, as they will not eat it if it becomes dry. If the predictions are true, that the worms lay their eggs this year and then come in greater numbers the next year, the gardeners are to be pitied. New garden land seems to suffer less than the old plots.

James Campbell of East Eden has 60 head of his fine thoroughbred Herford cattle in pasture in the Allen and Carey pastures. Then head of these are seven and eight months old males. Some of these are already sold but not delivered, yet for a month or more. The eight months old calves are as large as ordinary two year olds. The grown cows are immense in size and are identical in color and marking. Mr. Campbell will exhibit some of the herd at the coming fair.

Last Saturday afternoon there was an excitement on the highway above Phoenix, when the high power line of the electric company broke, setting fire to the grass along the line. Not until the power could be shut off, could the fire be extinguished. Many of the residents were away from home and those who were at home ran from one home to the others to see that the fire did no damage.
