BOARD SELECTS SITE FOR NEW ASHLAND SCHOOL

ASHLAND, July 27.—The site for the new grade building has been selected. The board of education has decided upon the Easterling-Tavener tract, after considering a number of available sites upon the east side.

However, the plans for the building will have to be revised somewhat in order to comply with the requirements for practice teaching. President J. A. Churchill has made a number of suggestions and these new plans will be ready in the near future and will be acted upon by the board.

It is hoped to have the new building completed by the end of the first semester and the pupils of Hawthorne will attend that school, leaving Hawthorne building vacant ready to begin the remodeling necessary for its occupancy as a junior high the next year.

At the latter place they, with Mrs. Boje and Mrs. Andrews were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Chattin at their summer home beside the beautiful lake. Mrs. Boje is an old friend and neighbor from the home town of the young ladies and has been living in Ashland for the past year. They purchased an orchard tract at the head of Strawberry Lane some time ago. Miss Wolfer and Miss Beardsley, having their own car, have visited the many points of interest near Ashland, during the time of their stay here and are very pleasantly impressed with southern Oregon.

OFFER REWARD FOR SLAYING MOTORIST

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—(A. P.)—A $250 reward for the pursuit and arrest of a "hit and run" motorist was in the possession of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Black today. The money was paid them by the Automobile club of Southern California, in accordance with a resolution adopted by the club's board of directors offering bonuses to automobilists who assist in the apprehension of criminally careless drivers.

The reward is $50 where the accident results non-fatally, and $250 where it results in death.

Mr. and Mrs. Black pursued and caught the driver of a car which had fatally injured a boy.

Indiana Girl to Wed German Count.

Miss Louisa Fletcher, 22 years old, prominent in Indianapolis society's younger set, has been visiting with friends in Berlin, Germany, for several months. Her father, Stoughton A. Fletcher, recently received a cable asking his consent to her marriage to Count Ernst Gottfried von Schmettow, member of a Prussian family famous in history.

With the Women of Today

How does a mere woman who is commonly supposed to have no head for figures, acquire a knowledge of taxes that will enable her to hold down a job like that of Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue of the Chicago district? Well this is the way Mrs. Reinecke did it.

She became interested in politics and suffrage as a very young girl and at her first suffrage convention was made a member of the board. She was often called the "baby member." When the Woman's National Republican Committee was organized Mrs. Reinecke was made secretary and Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman. Mrs. Bigler, treasurer of the Illinois State association, suggested the study of taxes to her. "Every time we talk to men in the legislature about appropriation they talk taxes so we can answer them," she said.

In 1917 Mrs. Reinecke was appointed on the board of assessors and gathered information about state taxes. Then came the war which interrupted her studies. After the war she was appointed assistant collector of internal revenue in the Chicago office where she studied federal taxes. Shortly after her appointment the collector became ill and Mrs. Reinecke did the work and a year later—1923—when he died. President Harding appointed her in his place.

Collecting $2,000,000 each year from thousands of tax payers Mrs. Reinecke calls a "housekeeping job." She says the big problem is to make all the details of administration time correctly—like getting all the dinner cooked at once.

Mrs. Reinecke has a husband who is proud of his wife's ability. She says the combination of home making and career works very well in her case, but thinks it is impossible to generalize on the subject.

The 1926 convention of the National League of Woman Voters will meet in St. Louis, Mo., April 14-21. Special interest will be attached to this gathering because it was in St. Louis in the spring of 1919 that the organization of the national league was projected by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

Mrs. Ernest Mott of San Francisco, has been appointed director of the 7th region of the National League of Women Voters to succeed Mrs. Walter A. Shockley, of Reno, Nevada, who resigned. Mrs. Mott will have direction of the league work in Arizona, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

The league has definitely placed itself on record as against all the "eleventh hour" reservations to the world court resolution now pending in the United States senate. Its executive committee has served notice that the league and the women voters comprising its membership "will be impatient with lukewarm leadership and long drawn out and pointless debate." December 17 next is the date when the senate will bring up for action the resolution designed to make the United States a member of the permanent court of international justice.

The Marchioness Townshend, well known British society woman, has opened a hotel for working people in London. Her plans call for single rooms, suites, restaurant and communal kitchen.

Miss Louise Price is national girl scout camp director and is making a tour of the camps in the western part of the country to study camp problems and advise with camp councils.

Rev. J. Lineham, president of the United Methodists' Conference meeting at Blyth, England, advocated asking educated women to become preachers to fill vacancies in the ranks due to the decrease of ministers in the country.

"We might call in the women," he said, "because in these days women are undertaking tasks as they have never done before. Women would do wonderful work as ministers, as they have love and sympathy and a delicate intuition which men have not."

MARQUIS CURZON'S WILL SUPPRESSED TO SPARE PREMIER

LONDON, July 27.—(A. P.)—Today's Morning Post launched a sensational story that part of the will of Marquis Curzon was suppressed in the interest of the reputation of some of his political colleagues, upon whom the famous statesman is said to have commented with great freedom.

The portion alleged by the Post to have been suppressed is said to have been a "literary testament," and mentioned particularly a former premier whose name is withheld. Suppression of the testament will, it is declared, averts "a rude shock to public faith in a man who rendered conspicuous service to the state."

The Post says it is unable to hazard a guess as to the premier referred to by Lord Curzon, but it is recalled that the marquis served as minister under Premiers Asquith, Lloyd George, Bonar Law and Baldwin and that under the late Marquis of Salisbury he held the posts of foreign minister and under secretary for India.

The two castles bequeathed to the country, with the stipulation that they be kept open for the benefit of the public, are Pottershall castle in Lincolnshire and Bodian castle in Sussex.

ILLITERATES CONTROL ALASKA ELECTIONS

SEWARD, Alaska, July 27.—(A. P.)—Eighteen hundred Indians who can neither rear or write control the polls in Alaska, Congressman A. M. Free of San Jose, Cal., who is here following an inspection offisheries and scaleries near the Pribiloff islands, declared last night.

Free is a member of the house fisheries and the shipping committees.

"Medicine men and priests are the dictators of Alaska today. The president of the United States and the members of congress should welcome an expression from the intelligent citizenry of the territory.

"I am astounded to find what a high type the average Alaskan citizen is. The majority of the people here would reflect credit on any large city in the states."

A singer of late and popular songs is Nada Norraine, and possesses the Unique faculty of being able to sing either in a high soprano, ora low contralto.

Two Pretty—Sonia and Arlyn, with Glenn Head as pianist present a different act. Head is known as Q. R. S. soloists for piano player rolls. Wonderful costumes and scenery are an important adjunct for this act.

A conjuring act, with a comedy twist is given by Al Barnes and company. The company were in Berlin, when the war broke out, and have appeared in all parts of the world.

Besides the vaudeville there are the usual film offerings: "Topics of the Day," and a zippy comedy.
