

NEW DEHYDRATOR WILL BE READY FOR APPLE CROP

The fruit dehydrator being built in the city by the Puccinelli Dehydrator company of Los Gatos, Cal., to be operated in connection with the Rogue River Properties, Inc., is rapidly nearing completion.

According to George Rosasco of Los Gatos, who is in charge of the erection of the plant, it will be one of the largest in the state, will employ over 40 people and will be capable of turning out 25 tons of fruit daily. The plant will dehydrate the fruit in such a way that only the moisture will be extracted, bringing forth a product of the very best quality. The Puccinelli process of dehydration is said to be the best and most economical in the first cities of the state to use it.

The plant will tend to better the fruit market, it is claimed, by dehydrating fruit when the price is low, thus taking it off the market and consequently boosting the price.

Mr. Rosasco states that the Medford branch of the United States employment bureau, under charge of Chris Gottlieb, has furnished him with competent men to build the plant.

NEGRO LYNCHED FOR ASSAULT

ler Mitchell, a negro, was confined, for an alleged attempt at assault on a young girl.

The girl was returning in a motor car from Lawson, Mo., last night with a young man, when a negro, threatening the life of her escort, dragged her from the car. Her screams, however, frightened the man away. The man was trailed to this city. Mitchell was identified by the girl's escort as her assailant.

In a brief telephone conversation, J. J. Love, deputy sheriff, said he was in the city hall building, in which the jail is situated, and that officers were doing everything in their power to persuade the rapidly growing crowd not to break into the jail.

OREGON TRUNK OUTLINES PLAN

carrier service and that these range from eight to 24 miles from places that do have railway service.

In reply to a question asking the names of other common carriers with which the proposed Oregon Trunk line will connect, and the proposed points of track connection, the answer states that "the proposed line will reach Skookum (Pauina) on the line of the Southern Pacific company, and Klamath Falls now served by Southern Pacific company and Oregon, California and Eastern railway company, at both of which places connection can be made."

The answer goes into detail relative to the topography and resources of the country. The approximate area to be served, it says, is 12,000 square miles and its population about 14,000. Timber land is given at 3,522 acres, pasture land approximately 50 per cent of the entire area, or 3,841,000 acres, and land under cultivation about 101,921 acres.

Logging Chief Industries

Further concerning industries, the answer mentions logging and lumber manufacture, stock raising, agriculture, dairying, lumber manufacturing industries, and wholesale and re-tall trade. Logging and lumber manufacture are given first place. Live-stock second, agriculture and dairying third and the manufacturing and mercantile industries in Klamath Falls fourth. Mention is made of 17 manufacturing plants in Klamath Falls, along the Klamath river near the city, on the shores of Upper Klamath Lake and in the adjoining territory. The total output of which in 1924 was about 200,756,000 feet.

"In the city of Klamath Falls," it says, "there are approximately 22 wood manufacturing plants, planing mills, iron and steel works, boiler works and other industries." These are said to be growing. The lumber industry is permanent, it is claimed. Detailed statistics are given relative to livestock and other industries.

The interstate commerce commission wanted to know whether the chief support of the proposed new line would come from the general community or from some particular industry or industries located or to be located.

New Lumber Concerns

The reply is that "while it is expected that the proposed new line will receive support from the general community and from the general development of the area to be served, its chief support will come from the establishment of new and additional lumber manufacturing plants in the territory. Several of the owners of large areas of pine have reached a point at which their timber must be cut and marketed, and it is anticipated that as the demand for pine lumber increases in the consuming territories additional lumber manufacturing industries will be located in the territories to be served, and these industries will require direct transportation to the markets reached by the applicant and the lines of its parent companies and their affiliated companies and connections. Applicant is advised that Weyerhaeuser Timber company and Sierra-Hixon Lumber company have determined to build mills of large capacity at Klamath Falls."

Financed by Hill Lines

As to expected financial returns from the proposed line the Oregon Trunk answers that "because of the fact that the territory to be served is in large part under developed, it cannot be expected that the operation of the proposed line will itself be profitable within a number of years after commencement of operation. It is justified not only because of the ultimate development of the territory but because it will originate at once very substantial tonnage of long haul traffic."

The line is to be financed by advances from the parent companies, says the answer, and no securities will be issued or sold.

The company expects to incur a deficit, estimated at $336,748 in net operating revenue for the first year and a deficit of $57,225 the second year. But it estimates that the third year the net income will be $103,980, the fourth year $210,938, the fifth year $273,323, and annually thereafter $264,270.

If the permit is received in time the company expects to start construction in the early spring of 1926 and complete it before the end of the summer of 1927.

PHONE TIP IN MURDER CASE

the wife said. "I have worked and prayed for this and have not had a night's sleep in weeks."

Jacoby Maurer, father of the slain youth, who attended each day of the sanity hearing, was disappointed. "It's the law but I didn't expect justice. My boy is gone. I find no consolation in the verdict."

"It's a shameful and disgraceful verdict," said the assistant state's attorney, Harry P. Pritsker. "Scott is no more insane than any man in the room. The verdict is a verdict for the criminal element. They can take life and get away with it. The jurors in this case did not the glorious battle of the cross which you are fighting so valiantly."

Schwartz was not religious and the letter was not in his handwriting.

To Meet in England

While efforts to identify the victim continue, the search for the chemist, who is credited with carrying out the plot without a single accomplice, is being given more impetus. Rewards have been posted for his apprehension and every avenue of escape has been checked, but information as to his whereabouts is even more scarce than evidence regarding the victim.

That Schwartz planned in advance to meet his family in the event it was discovered that the body was not his is given foundation by District Attorney Fleming, who stated that a letter was left with Mrs. Schwartz to be opened in event of his death directing her to take the children to England. If Schwartz did plan the murder as an insurance hoax, as authorities firmly believe, he presumably intended to join his family in England.

Planned Plot

Sheriff R. R. Veale today expressed the belief that Schwartz planned the insurance hoax as early as last January and had since worked toward that end. He bases this on the discovery that up until last January Schwartz, although owning considerable stock in the company, did not draw a salary as chemist or general manager. In January, however, he prevailed on the directors of the company to grant him a compensation of $300 a month payable in stock of the company. As often as this stock would be issued him he would transfer it to his wife.

The sheriff's theory is that it was the aim of Schwartz to increase as much as possible Mrs. Schwartz ownership in the company so that when his insurance policies that were payable to the company were paid upon his death, the amount of money which she would receive would be greater.

Sheriff Veale stated today that he is not searching for a missing manufacturer in connection with the case as was stated in published accounts of the investigation.

Professor E. O. Heinrich, criminologist of the University of California, believes that indications point almost conclusively to the fact that the body found at the explosions and fire was that of a tramp. He bases this theory on a new pair of light brown fox found on the dead man's feet, and a pair of black head lath on a bench nearby. That the sox had been worn little was indicated by the sales slips which indicated the price, 37 cents. He believes the tramp bought the sox just before starting out to walk from Oakland to Walnut creek in answer to an advertisement calling for a laborer at the Pacific cellulose plant and carried a loaf of bread with him to sustain him on his hike.

Mrs. Schwartz Is Ill

Mrs. Schwartz looked herself in her home in Oakland today, declining to discuss the case further with the investigators, on the plea that she is ill as a result of the nervous strain.

Deputy Sheriff Ralph Harrison left for Placerville, Cal., today to interview a man who is supposed to be acquainted with C. W. Barbe, member of a religious cult in southern California, and whose name was found on the flyleaf of a book found in the partly destroyed laboratory.

Information received from a Los Angeles resident stated that he has known Schwartz for a number of years and that Schwartz had a silver plate in his body as the result of an injury. Further examination of the body will be undertaken to ascertain if there is any plate in it.

Man Not Found

PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—(A. P.)—A radio message to the Associated Press today from the freighter Nordic said that a man supposed to be Charles Henry Schwartz, Berkeley chemist, wanted in the investigation of the mysterious explosion in his laboratory, is not aboard that vessel.

Preparations are being made at Astoria, however, for a search of the vessel when she arrives there tomorrow, officers believing that a man who was reported to have boarded the vessel at Oakland, Calif., may have stowed away on the ship.

know the first principle of the law involved. They are too ignorant."

A majority of the jurors favored insanity from the start, the first ballot being 7 to 5. Seven ballots were taken. The jury began deliberating after five alienists testified that the prisoner had become insane, and five other alienists and fifteen lay witnesses for the state said he was mentally normal.

death rather than offer myself for adoption."

Other Cinderella III

ST. JOHNSBURY, Vt., Aug. 7 (A. P.)—Dorothy Sunshine Browning, 9-year-old adopted daughter of Edward W. Browning, wealthy New York real estate operator, has been ill for days at the May house, a summer camp for girls overlooking Crystal Lake, at Barton, and does not know the controversy regarding the adopting by her foster father of Mary Louise Spas. Her ailment is diagnosed by physicians as summer gripe.

Copies of newspapers containing references to the adoption have been kept from the child, who was taken into the Browning family seven years ago. She told associates at the camp that her father had promised to adopt a little sister for her and said she had received the same information from Miss Coburn, who conducts the school on Riverside drive, New York, where Dorothy attends.

Browning's last visit to the camp was on June 2. Dorothy writes to him every week but he never replies to her letters, she said. She receives her information regarding her foster father from Miss Katherine Wilcox, principal of Miss Coburn's school.

boy's college career. He was to have entered Cornell college this fall and purchase of his trunk was the first matter to engage his parent's attention when the three returned a few days ago from a vacation in Minnesota.

Rev. Mr. Vandervoort was about 50 years old and his wife is a few years younger.

The boy slept in a tent in the yard. The bed appears to have been occupied last night.

Refusing to give any reason for the shooting until he dictates a formal confession, Young Vandervoort, in conversation with officers this morning, told how he had killed his father by placing his repeating rifle within four inches of the elder man's head and then shot his mother as she rushed to the doorway.

He said he fired the second shot into his mother's head by placing the rifle against her temple as she lay on the floor.
