

BARTLETTS SELL IN PORTLAND AT 3 DOLLARS A BOX

PORTLAND, Aug. 7.—With approximately 25 cars of peaches on the way tracks this morning, the buyers are skeptical and afraid to take hold, prices, while showing only a fractional decline, are very weak and further sales are likely before the supply adjusts itself to local requirements. Today Elbertas are selling from 1.10 to $1.25 a box, while Crawfords are offered as low as $1 a box. Dry it is showing in some Crawford arrivals and the fruit will not hold up in this kind of weather. Cantaloupes are lower today with the standard selling in the wholesale market at $2.75 a crate. Apples are steady with prices ranging all the way from $1.50 to 2.25 a box on the early varieties. Bartlett pears are firm at $3 a box. Malaga grapes are being offered at 1.50 a lug. Seedless grapes, $1.75 to 2.00. Crab apples bringing 75c to $1.50, depending on size of box. Fancy tomatoes are being sought, real select stock is scarce due to light and dry weather, and prices are firm at $1.50 per lug. Others down to $1 a box. Extra eggs recovered their one-cent loss and are again posted at $38 on the local exchange. Country dressed meat arrivals were extremely light along the street today and the market was on a nominal basis. Good calves would bring 16 1/2 c if available. The advance at the yards today gave additional impetus to the strength in the veal market. Choice light hogs are bringing 2 1/2 c to 20c on the meager offerings. Live hens are hard to move. The demand for poultry has dropped off considerably during the past week, light birds are down to 14c and 15c and buyers are loath to pay over 22c for heavy. Springs are selling at 19c to 25c. Standard cuts are up another half cent in the local butter market at 17c. Other grades unchanged. The market is firm.

WHISKERS UPHELD IF WASHED AND PROPERLY SPRAYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 7.—(A. P.)—Whiskers may not enhance the beauty of man's face, but they are not a menace to health and Glenn county can develop its hirsute crop to the limit. This is the edict of Dr. William Dickie, of the state board of health, which will be received by the Whisker club of Orland, Glenn county, with open arms and bristling faces. The club, devoted to the growing of facial shrubbery, to lend local color to the county fair this fall, was recently curbed in its activities by Dr. S. Igliek, county health officer, who held that whiskers were unsanitary. Yesterday's ruling ends the hirsute controversy but Dr. Dickie said he would advise the whiskerists to bathe their whiskers twice daily in tepid water, with lots of soap, and occasionally treat them to a drenching in some mild antiseptic.

While it was reiterated today that the president had not summoned either the attorney-general or the commerce department head here to discuss the hard coal wage controversy and was not disturbed over the threatened suspension of anthracite operations September 1, it was admitted that Mr. Coolidge was seeking information and would take advantage of the presence of both officials to talk over the situation and the policy to be pursued with regard to it.

"My 'bike' is broke," sobbed Willie. "The tears flowed down like rain—'Hush, hush,' said 'Ma' to Billie, 'Your grief is all in vain. You take it to the 'LIBERTY'. It's on North Fir Street now. They'll fix the break; short time 'twill take—' So, Willie stopped the 'row.' 'I've lost my key,' wailed Mary— 'The key that locks my trunk.' And, she, like Brother Will, 'Soon found that grief was 'bunk.' The 'boys' down at the 'LIBERTY' Made a new key in a 'trice.' And, as Mary smiled upon them She murmured: 'Ain't that nice?' Most folks take all their troubles To 'Nineteen' on North Fir; No matter if the implement 'Belongs to 'him' or 'her.' If the butcher knife, or mower's dull, To 'THE LIBERTY SHOP' it goes, That's the one place HERE they 'fix it.' That's what everybody knows. Sometimes the umbrella, Or the 'sunshade' needs a 'roof,' Sometimes a pot needs mending, So that 'Ma' can cook more soup; Sometimes it's this, sometimes it's that, That's broke, and bothers me, But, the 'boys' down there can 'fix it' So it's like it used to be. Don't give it to the junk-man Before you've let them try To mend the broken article, No matter what nor why: 'THE LIBERTY SHOP' can 'fix it' So it's as good as new, And you'll save a lot of money When you learn what they can do. When you plan to go a huntin' For 'big game' in the hills, Perhaps the gun needs fixin' Before a 'buck' it kills; Or, maybe, it's a fishin' That you're goin', an' the reel is sort o' out o' kilter An' 'run down at the heel—' Just take it to 'THE LIBERTY.' The 'SHOP' that 'fixes' things; You'll find your troubles ended, Your worries taking wings; The world may go to pieces, But, at that, it need not stop; Just gather up the fragments And take 'em to 'THE LIBERTY SHOP' (19 North Fir Street, Medford) P. S.—Perhaps you need a bargain in something you can use; They keep a stock of everything From which you sure can choose; No matter what your wants may be, 'THE LIBERTY SHOP' can 'fix you up,' And 'get you goin'' fine.

DECLARES HILL R. R. LINE DEVELOPMENT WILL BOOM OREGON

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 7.—"All the surveys for projected branches of the Southern Pacific in Lamath county are nothing more than logging railroads, temporary affairs at best. They will play no part in the permanent development of Klamath county. The real development, founded on far-sighted and permanency, is that projected by theregon Trunk, which proposes to connect the agricultural centers, as well as the timber resources." This was the succinct summing up of the Klamath rail situation today by H. H. Corey, chairman of theregon public service commission, prior to his departure for an inspection trip over the entire survey route of the Oregon trunk between Klamath Falls and Bend. With other officials of the commission, Mr. Corey has just completed a four-day inspection of the Oregon Pacific and Strahorn survey routes. "If the interstate commerce commission permits the Oregon Trunk build, which I think it will, it can real development for this section and the entire state," continued r. Corey. "The line it seeks to build not only takes care of the timber resources, but it likewise takes care of the rich agricultural sections. It is a 25-railroad program, but a permanent construction." Mr. Corey checked at the action of the 14 Klamath lumbermen who sued a signed statement on behalf of the Southern Pacific. To him it was immensely amusing. "What else could you expect from a group of men who are at the very end of one railroad at the present time," he inquired. "The whole thing is plainly apparent. Pressure was brought to bear on them and there was nothing left for them to do but to sign." The public service commission officials will devote two days to their inspection trip between here and Bend and will return to Salem the next of the week by auto over the McKenzie river pass.

MOTHER USED AS SHIELD BY YEGG, SHOT AND KILLED

NEW YORK, Aug. 7 (A. P.)—A mother of four children used as a human shield by a robber fleeing in a hall of police bullets, is dead, and a detective dying as a result of a spectacular gun fight under the Pennsylvania railroad terminal. Two youthful gangsters were captured, police saying them from a crowd of 1500 persons who threatened lynching. Two others escaped. Detective Richard E. Henneberry and a patrolman in a police car last night attempted to stop the automobile in which the four suspects were riding. The gun opened fire, Henneberry fell, a bullet severing an artery near the heart. The men scattered as other police approached. Edward Hart, 18, the youngest, grabbed Mrs. Mary Connelly, 35, as she stepped from her doorway, held her in front of him, and returned the police fire. A moment later the woman was struck and Hart darted into the house. Mrs. Connelly died at a hospital and Henneberry is not expected to live. Police say Hart shot both the detective and the woman "with the hope, the fact that the car was stolen and other evidence convinced authorities that the four men were to stage a robbery. Alma Johnson, a 17-year-old girl clerk, was later arrested in a Brooklyn rooming house, as an accomplice of the gunmen. Mitchell Guidice, a chauffeur, was arrested with her and charged with suspicion of homicide and grand larceny.

The Screen

Typical Mix Role, Hailto, Tom Mix certainly fits the role of Jim Lassiter in his latest production, "Riders of the Purple Sage." It is a typical Mix role, with ample opportunities for Tony, his wonder horse, to share in the daring deeds of his master. "Riders of the Purple Sage" opened this afternoon at the Hialto theater for two days. It is a picturesque romance of the west of forty years ago, Mix plays the role of a chivalrous soft spoken cowboy. This romantic role shows Mix to best advantage. There are many thrilling episodes in which he displays his superb horsemanship, his skill with the lariat and his quickness in handling a brace of six shooters. Mabel Ballin plays the girl rancher, Marlan Nixon, in boy's clothes, acts the part of Lassiter's niece, Beatrice Burnham Lassiter's sister, Harold Goodwin the gallant young cowboy.
