For the first time, a large sign at the bridge at Gold Hill tells of the shorter route to Crater Lake and from there to the Crater Lake highway there are signs by the score.

PORTLAND MARKET REMAINS FIRM, POULTRY WEAKENS

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 8.—Local produce markets closed generally steady and inactive. Only moderate changes in price prevailed during the short Saturday trading period. Fruits and vegetables sold at current levels with supplies about sufficient for the market requirements. The over supply of peaches has been reduced considerably during the past 48 hours and the market steadied itself around $1.15 per box. Canjalous steaks were well absorbed today. The market closed around $2.75 on standard crates. Potatoes are firm and scarce with the market well established at $2.50 on Oregon stock. Onions remained weak at the close with best stocks selling at $3. to $3.25. In the dairy lists extra eggs were posted a cent lower, at 37 cents, while other grades held steady. The market is a trifle easier. The butter market held steady with a car of Idaho stock due in over the week end, expected to relieve the shortage here. No change in print prices were made. Cheese prices are unchanged today with live hens still selling slowly. Commission houses look for a lower market during the coming week. Springs remained steady. Country dressed meats have been firm and scarce throughout the week with the top on veal firmly established at 16 1/2 cents while pork brought up to 20 cents. Cheese advanced this week in all lines and the market closed firm.

PRESENT WEATHER IS BAD FOR FIRES

The Crater national forest service has received advice from the United States weather bureau at Portland that forest fire hazards will be increased two-fold during the next two days. Special warning is given by the forest service to all campers to exercise more caution in the woods during this time, because of the extremely low humidity, which would cause a fire to spread twice as fast should it once get started. Notwithstanding the fact that a heavy smoke haze obscures the foothills from view in the valley, there is no fire in Jackson county, either on national forest or state timber land. According to local forest officials, the smoke is due to forest fires burning on the other side of the Umpqua divide and in northern California.

Sims of Calgary, Canada, was fined $25 on his plea of guilty to a similar charge. At Medford, Oliver Kelly, a 15-year-old youth, was fined $10 for driving a motor vehicle without an operator's license, which he was ineligible to obtain because of his age, and at Ashland, W. M. Blair, a tourist, was fined $20 on his plea of guilty to a charge of driving at an excessive speed on the Pacific highway.
