YOUNG STRIBLING'S MOTHER PUTS BAN ON YALE FOOTBALL

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 21.—(A. P.)—Young Stribling, the schoolboy pugilist, arrived here yesterday in his "bungalow on wheels," on his return trip to Georgia after traveling through 21 states.

Those on the street who noticed the big automobile with "Stribling" pasted all over it, perhaps also noticed the quiet like woman in the machine with her family.

In a good looking, dimpled woman of 37, Young Stribling has found a rare degree of service. For him she is flight promoter, manager, "second" and chum, as well as mother.

To serve her son, "Ma" Stribling takes up her domestic tent and pitches it wherever the gang rings for Young Stribling to enter the ring.

"Ma" Stribling raised her boy to be a fighter, and a winner. In 99 fights the battling Georgian has never been knocked down.

"He gets his strength from me," "Ma" Stribling said. "I have seven brothers all more than six feet tall, all weighing more than 200 pounds. Young Stribling stands five feet 11 inches and weighs 167 pounds."

Stribling is only 17 years older than her boy. She was married down south at 16 to a man she saw for the second time on her wedding day. The courtship was carried on through correspondence.

Stribling intends, after the hoped-for fight with Dempsey, to go to college and favors Yale. "Ma" Stribling says she will never permit her son to play college football.

"My, that game is too rough for my boy."

BABE RUTH FACES SLASH IN SALARY, RESULT OF SLUMP

NEW YORK, Aug. 21.—(A. P.)—A dispatch from Cleveland to the New York Evening World today says that Babe Ruth, home run king, will not receive his salary of $52,000 a year when his present contract expires and he signs a new one.

A slump in his batting which is now under .250 for this season, will result in reduction in his pay, says the dispatch.

When the present season ends Ruth will hike to the Canadian woods to get his legs into shape and try to recover his batting eye, thereby preventing the salary reduction, according to the dispatch.

"Manager Huggins and the Yankee officials," it says, "have talked matters over with the Bambino and they did not nudge any words in explaining to him that he would face a big cut in his salary unless he changed his tactics."

RAIN POSTPONES WOMEN'S TENNIS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 21.—(A. P.)—The semi-finals of the national women's tennis championships scheduled today were called off because of rain and will be held tomorrow. The finals will be played Monday if the weather permits carrying out of the new schedule.

He dropped fifteen feet and struck upon a projection that punctured his abdomen. It is believed he will recover.

COPCO SCRUBS TO PLAY THE COPCO REGULARS

The wide world is invited to witness a novel exhibition of baseball at the Holly street baseball park tomorrow afternoon when the Copco "Scrubs" will take on the regular Copco team. The "Scrubs" have been practicing diligently for the past two nights and expect to show the "Regulars" something startling in the form of baseball as it should be played. Strict training rules will be observed in the next twenty-four hours states "Scrub" Manager Jawn Jacob Buchter, and it is expected that his star aggregation will be in the pink of condition when the first ball is tossed out at 3 p. m. Marquise of Queensbury rules will prevail throughout and the public is assured that there will be no rough stuff tolerated by the Copco crew who will be present to preserve law and order. Admission will be free to all.

JACKSONVILLE PLAYS EAGLE POINT SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon the Jacksonville baseball team plays that of Eagle Point at the Holly street grounds. The game will start at 2:30 and a large crowd is expected, as a good contest is in promise.

A week ago these two teams met on the Eagle Point grounds and after a rather hectic struggle the home team were winners by a 11-10 score. At one time during the game the Jacksonville nine held a 9-1 lead but careless playing, coupled with a strong rally by the Pointers insured the game for them.

"Lefty" Schmei will probably hurt for the Jacksonville crew with Han-nister catching.

MEDFORD OMITTED FROM HIGHWAY MAP BY MOTOR MAGAZINE

The Oregon Motorist, official publication of the Oregon State Motor association, of which the secretary of the association, George O. Brandenburg is editor, publishes in the August number as the feature story an article entitled, "The Road of the Three Nations—The Pacific Highway, the Longest Paved Road in the World."

On the first page are illustrations of different scenes along the route, also a map of the Pacific highway from Tia Juana, Mexico, to Vancouver, B. C., showing the different cities, and Medford is conspicuous by its absence—not appearing on the map at all.

The route to Crater lake is shown on the map as running from Grants Pass—which does not claim a road to Crater lake—and the Crater Lake highway from Medford, one of the adopted state highways, and the most popular traveled route in the state to the great world's wonder, is not shown on the map.

Of course, those who have charge of the magazine will offer excuses, local citizens declare, and attempt to pass the buck, but they claim this is no reason why a map with such gross errors should appear in this magazine.

"That's a right nice automobile"

said Aunt Julia, as she watched the Robinsons drive away in their new machine, "but it just makes it all the funnier how folks live like kings and queens one minute and like I don't know what the next. Mrs. Robinson drives around like a queen in that machine, and on Monday she does a load of washing that leaves her feeling like nothing at all. Now if they can keep that gasoline buggy going, wouldn't you think she'd stop doing the washing?"

There are lots of Mrs. Robinsons—up one minute, down the next. But they never need be "down" with the washing. For our laundry will make it fresh and clean—and you don't need to drive a car to afford it, either.
