

HEADACHES AND ILL HEALTH IS CAUSE SUICIDE

PORTLAND, Aug. 21.—Charles A. Meisner, 30, a nephew of John A. Meisner, who has a real estate office at 821 Gasco building here, committed suicide some time last night by leaping from one of the windows of the Gasco building into the light shaft between that structure and an adjoining building.

On board bearing his name and address. Windows on the shaft were open on the fifth and seventh floors, indicating that he may have plunged from either.

The body was discovered this morning by a shipping clerk and examination indicated Meisner had been dead several hours. The body was mangled almost beyond recognition by the fall. Meisner recently came here from Los Angeles.

In a statement announcing the appointments, Assistant Secretary Andrews said the new prohibition forces would be concentrated upon the task of "eliminating the bootleg industry." Their energies, he said, would be directed along three definite lines of attack—smuggling, illegal manufacture and illegal diversion.

The bootleg industry, in one form or another extends over the whole country; but it operates mostly in the centers of population. Its business is collecting supplies and distributing them and its operations vary in size from the small operator, who sells locally the product of local stills, up to the big operators whose lines extend into foreign sources of supply and into broad fields of distribution.

Operations along this line, he said, "with the matters for the exercise of judgment, initiative and resourcefulness on the part of the district administrators in meeting the problems peculiar to their respective territories." The government by treaties and arrangements, General Andrews said, "will make it more and more impossible for unscrupulous importers to take advantage of foreign flags."

This is a purely business proposition, easily understood, and should be capable of execution. Our inspectors will be trained chemists and pharmacists and our enforcement agents trained criminal investigators and under cover operators.
