

POP GATES AGAIN MENTIONED AS A STATE CANDIDATE

When C. E. Gates went to Salem last week to see the state fair, and from Salem went up to Portland to get an earful of the latest political gossip, he little dreamed that such an innocent little visit would get the up state politicians and newspapers so much excited as to play him up prominently as a possible republican candidate for governor.

When this unexpected fun originated at the state fair grounds and got well under way "Pop" got a great kick out of it and helped the game speedily on the way by looking wise and replying to all interviewers who asked him if he was a candidate for governor, by replying emphatically that he "would not be a self-starter" and that he had heard of no demand that he run for governor, but that if such a demand arose he would then consider the matter.

The former mayor arrived home yesterday and today while attending to daily duties at his place of business chuckled inwardly and outwardly at the commotion his up-state visit had created, and comments it had drawn in Portland and Salem newspapers.

He reiterated today that he was not a candidate, but that if any demand arose for him to seek the office he might at least consider it, but not until that time arose, if ever.

It seems that republican state politicians are in such an unsettled condition that the visit of the Medford man to Salem and Portland at this time started the rumors going.

He had hardly more than set foot on the state fair grounds than the following telegraphic news item was sent out from Salem:

Following the arrival here tonight of C. E. (Pop) Gates, ex-mayor of Medford and at one time a member of the state fair board, rumors were current that he might decide to become a candidate for governor at the republican primary election next May.

"When asked whether he had any future political aspirations, Mr. Gates replied: 'You may say for me that I would not be a self-starter.'

"I. L. Patterson of Iola, mentioned prominently as a prospective republican candidate for governor, has been spending the last few days in Salem attending the state fair and discussing the political situation with friends.

Reports here indicated that Mr. Patterson would announce his candidacy within the next few weeks."

The Sunday newspapers of Portland in their political gossip departments mentioned "Pop" among others, as a probable candidate for governor, and in addition the Portland Journal in its hotel column had the following item:

"From his summer home at Lake of the Woods, C. E. (Pop) Gates of Medford has come to Portland to pick up the latest gossip relative to politics. He says that he has no ambition to run for governor."

What amuses Mr. Gates so much is that while he was regarded as a potential candidate for governor several years ago, since that time he has withdrawn entirely from politics and centered his attention on his business, and hence had been regarded as a "dead one," state politicians speaking.

Now his chance "self-starter" comment seemingly has all the state politicians guessing.

EXPECT MEADOWS TO BE TWIRLER IN FIRST GAME

PITTSBURG, Oct. 5.—(A. P.)—With the ringing down of the curtain on the major league baseball season the game was set today for the opening game of the world series at Forbes field, the home of the National league champions, the Pittsburgh Pirates, who on Wednesday will enter the initial battle of the annual fall baseball classic as the opponents of the Washington Senators, 1925 champions of the American league and defenders of the world championship title.

Manager McKechnie and his speedy young Pirate team are home from Cincinnati, where the last game on the regular schedule was played over the weekend. Final practice sessions preparatory for the first clash with the veteran Senators are on the schedule for this afternoon and tomorrow morning.

"Bucky" Harris was due to lead his club into Pittsburgh tonight and Forbes field will be turned over to the American leaguers tomorrow afternoon for a workout.

The double-header with the Reds on Saturday afforded Manager McKechnie an opportunity to put several of his second-string men into action, Pitcher Culliton, Catcher Spencer, Infielder Thompson and Outfielder Haas working in a portion of the second game.

Since clinching the senior circuit pennant about ten days ago, all of Skipper Hill's strategy has pointed toward pinning the entire team, both regulars and reserves, for the title fray and no stone in that direction has been left unturned.

No definite announcement on the pitching assignment for Pittsburgh in the first game has been made by Manager McKechnie. In the opinion of fans and sport writers, however, Lee Meadows, bespectacled mound artist, who came to the Buccaneers from the Phillies in 1923, will be the selection to oppose Walter Johnson, veteran steady of the youthful Bucky Harris and the pitching hero of last year's series.

It is considered likely that Vic Aldridge, who was obtained from the Chicago Cubs last winter by trade and a holdout during the spring training season, will be the Pirate chief's choice for the second game, with Ray Kremer slated for duty on the third day of the big tussle.

Fans from the four corners of the country are assembling in the Smoky City and eagerly await the call "play ball." All reserved seats were sold long ago but carpenters are pushing to completion temporary stands in left field that will accommodate an additional 6000 enthusiasts, bringing the capacity of Forbes field to more than 15,000.

Already all hotels and boarding houses are booked to the limit and are making arrangements to care for additional guests with emergency accommodations.

COVELESKIE BEST PITCHER IN 1925, AVERAGES SHOW

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—(A. P.)—The regular major league season has ended with the Senators and Pirates, now preparing for the post-season classic, in front of their respective packs by eight and one-half games each.

Three games in each league were played as the curtain fell yesterday. So far as the standing was concerned, the only result was the Cubs' drop into the cellar of the National league through a defeat by the Cardinals.

On the heels of the Senators and Athletics, the St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers finished in order in the American league and will share in the world series spoils, as will the Reds and Cardinals in the first division of the National league.

Rogers Hornsby of the Cardinals led the National batting parade for the 87th successive year. He established the National league record for consecutive batting leadership last season. His mark, 402, also made him one of the only three men to hit over 400 for three seasons, the others were Jesse Burkett and Ty Cobb.

Harry Hellmann, Detroit outfielder, won the batting crown in the American league for the third time with an average of .392.

Johnny Mostil of the White Sox captured the piffing honors in the American with 42 stolen bases. Max Carey of the Pirates led the senior circuit with 43 thefts.

Hornsby was crowned king of the home run hitters in the majors with 39 blows, three less than his own National league record. Bob Meusel of the Yankees led in the American with 33 homers, while Babe Ruth, holder of the record with 59 circuit blower in one season, finished in a deadlock for second honors in his league with Ken Williams of the Browns, each having 29 circuit drives.

Stanley Coveleskie of Washington led the American league pitchers with 20 victories and five defeats. Barry Vance of Brooklyn was beaten by Bill Sherdell of the Cardinals for honors in the National. Sherdell won 16 and lost six, while Vance won 22 and lost nine.

Tommy of the Cardinals collected the most hits in the National league, 108. He hit 11 homers, the Athletics' Ed "Doc" Egan, 750 in his circuit. Out of the Pirates led the run scorers with 141, while St. Simons accounted for 121.

O. A. C. COACH NOT SATISFIED WITH SATURDAY GAME

COVINGTON, Ore., Oct. 5.—Coach Schaefer of Oregon Agricultural college did not consider the game Saturday with Willamette university, which ended in a score of 51 to 0, in favor of the Aggies, as enough exertion to give the team a real workout, so he ordered the first and second string men on the field for some more limbering up.

"Gonzaga won't give us such a vicarious thrill," said Schaefer. "We don't want to get into bad habits. Get out there, and we will have a real scrimmage." The Aggies then went thru an hour and a half of passing and kicking and scrimmage.

Warren Lauster, quarterback on the second team and Glenn Olmstead, substituting for Jim Dixon at tackle, each got a twisted knee Saturday.

EUGENE PREPARES FOR IDAHO GAME

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 5.—Undaunted by the fact that they were unable to score against the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club of Portland here Saturday, members of the University of Oregon football team are today setting their eyes toward the coming contest with the University of Idaho.

The Multnomah game, a rather listless affair, with only occasional bright spots of football, ended in a tie score, 0 to 0. Both teams seemed better on defense than on offense.

Bliss and Bailey, guards; Sinclair, tackle, and Smith, end, all lettermen, and Harrison, the most capable punter on the team, were not able to get into the Multnomah game because of injuries, but will be ready for Idaho.

DOLP BEATEN BY ERCEL KAY, 4 UP

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 5.—Frank Dolp of Portland, state golf champion, was defeated here yesterday on the Hill-Country club links by Ercel Kay of Salem, four up. The Salem club defeated the Alderwood club of Portland by one point.

MEDFORD DEFEATS KLAMATH 21-0

The Medford high school football team defeated Klamath Falls, 21 to 0, Saturday before 750 spectators, including the coaches and members of the Grants Pass and Ashland teams.

The local team will probably play a practice game with Jacksonville next Friday afternoon here. No regular game is scheduled for next Saturday. The following Saturday, October 17, Medford plays Klamath Falls at Klamath Falls.

E. C. FERGUSON WINS TOMBSTONE TOURNEY

The American legion golf course at the fair grounds is dotted with small markers at the holes where players died yesterday in the "Tombstone tournament," in which 22 players took part, using gross scores established in last Sunday's handicap play.

The champion, E. C. Ferguson, died on the 19th green, with 83 strokes, taking first honors in the competition. C. Y. Tengwald was second man, dying on the 17th green on his 85th stroke. A large gallery witnessed yesterday's tournament. An exceptionally large number of ladies were also present handicapping. It is said, the expressions of the majority of the players.

Match play will commence next Sunday, but as yet no further arrangements have been announced.

MURRAY'S TRIAL OPENS

dead with a bullet through his head just outside the walls at guard tower number one. In the exchange of fifteen or more shots with Guards J. M. Holman, G. and John Sawyer, 29, both guards on the walls at the time of the break were killed and each of the three convicts face charges of killing both.

The three prisoners will face trial separately, with Murray, admitted leader of the trio, facing the ordeal first. For him, as well as each of the others, District Attorney John H. Carson will ask the death penalty, charging all to be participants in a conspiracy which resulted in the murders and each equally responsible.

No intimation of what lines the defense will follow has been given by Will R. King, attorney for the three.

Judge Percy R. Kelly will hear the case.

Both attorneys admit that the fate of the three rests practically with the outcome of the Murray trial and there is little hope that the case will go to the jury in less than ten days.

There is little likelihood according to the attorneys that they will be able to secure a jury before late Tuesday, and possibly not by that time.

Eleven of the prospective jurors, ten women and one man, have already filed claims of exemption, and it is expected that a second venire will have been called.

Seven women still remain on the jury list still available.

Taking cognizance of Murray's statement made at the time of his capture that he was "through serving time," every precaution is being taken to guard against an attempted break during the trial. He will be brought to the court house from the prison not wearing handcuffs in the court room, armed guards will be sprinkled liberally about the room, and only those spectators for whom there are seats will be admitted, Sheriff Oscar D. Bower declares.

HILL LINE TO MEDFORD

The most extensive part of this entire line has been built.

He declared the Klamath region will become the greatest pine lumber manufacturing center in the country within a few years, as the southern pine districts are being rapidly depleted and the lumber men there are moving north.

President Budd announced that officials of both the Weyerhaeuser and the Shevlin-Hixon interests had come to him and promised a large volume of business if the Oregon Trunk line was extended into the Klamath basin.

Sees Big Business.

"They have been urging us to build for some time," Budd said. "There is from 25 to 40 billions of feet of standing timber in the region we wish to traverse. I think that within five years of the time we enter Klamath Falls the business in that district will have increased from 12,000 carloads of lumber annually to 25,000 to 30,000 carloads of which our lines would get at least 14,000 cars."

As the new route in many places is very close to the Oregon, California and eastern road (the Strahorn line) President Budd was asked if he was willing the new road should join the Strahorn line in joint operation.

"I would attempt in every reasonable way to make use of the Strahorn line if it were rebuilt to standard," he said. "I would be willing to enter into a common user plan with the Strahorn line and any other lines upon a proper basis."

The Oregon Trunk line, it was stated, is owned by the Spokane, Portland and Seattle whose stock in turn is owned by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads, commonly known as the Hill lines.

Not only did Budd declare that the Klamath region was a great lumber manufacturing center, but he stated the agricultural and grazing industries along the proposed route of the Oregon trunk would be greatly stimulated.

Greater Population.

The greater population that will move into the new region will increase the business.

He stated that the present lumber business at Bend furnished about 10,000 carloads of lumber annually, which was divided by the Oregon Trunk and the Union Pacific. This is not enough to pay for the operation of the road, he said.

"Had it been expected that the Oregon trunk would not reach beyond Bend, the line would never have been built," his former chief engineer declared.

The new extension is 126 miles and will cost $4,500,000, according to Budd. It is necessary not only to develop the country through which it passes, but is needed to furnish business for the lines already built as within 25 years the Bend mills will have about exhausted the timber in the district in which it will pay them to operate.

He thinks the timber in the Ochoco forest reserve will be cut in Prineville and in other points east of Bend.

The lumber demands of the mid-western states are becoming greater and greater and as good crops have been the rule in the part of the country, pine lumber is wanted in every state served by the Hill lines, Budd stated.

He brought out that the new survey of the Oregon Trunk gave it a one per cent grade whereas the Strahorn line has two per cent, it was said.

This is one of the finest and most thrilling stories of the northwest that it has ever been Mix's good fortune to put on the screen.

"The Rainbow Trail" by Zane Grey is the sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage" and the same blood-thirsting action of the last Mix production is present even more enthusiastically in this one.

"The Limited Mail" pictureization of Elmer Vance's melodrama, closes tonight. It is one of the most satisfying pictures of the year. Monte Hine, Willard Louis and Vera Roy holds have the principal roles.

"Wizard of Oz" Criterion. Larry Simon and "The Wizard of Oz" made an immense hit at the Hunt's Criterion theater yesterday. Simon appears as a farm hand, who transforms himself into the Scarecrow when Dorothy and all of the people on the Kansas farm are blown by a cyclone into the Land of Oz, of which Dorothy is the queen, although she does not know it.

The evil powers try to prevent her from ascending her throne, but Prince Kynnd and the Scarecrow are able to frustrate their plots and see Dorothy crowned. Although the Scarecrow is in love with Dorothy he is happy to see her marry Prince Kynnd.

A fine cast supports the star, including Dorothy Dwan, Bryant Washburn, Mary Carr, Charles Murray, Virginia Pearson, Otto Lederer and others.

Raymond Ballad is heard in an unusually good musical program, and there are a number of interesting short films on the bill, including an Al St. John comedy called "Dynamic Double."
