OURT OVERRULES DAN COLLIER IN DIVORCE ACTION

In the divorce suit of Wilhemina llier against Dan Collier, local restranteur, who left a few days after filing of the suit, Circuit Judge omas handed down a ruling Friy overruling the motion of the deidant, to make the complaint more efinite and certain," and added, iat a motion to strike would be susned."

The court holds that all statements ight to be made more definite and tain are conclusions, hence of no ce or effect under the law. The irt issued formal orders setting the e for the final hearing on the pernent injunctions sought by the City Medford against the Medford ast railroad and W. S. Barnum, l the same action in the plea of S. Barnum against the Oregon blic Service Commission for next ednesday. A formal order calling hearing of the oral arguments in demurrers of Deputy Sheriff L. Fornerook against the indictments urned against him by the last grand y, charging malfeasance, and failto serve a warrant, for next ursday, was also issued by the irt.

EACHERS INSTITUTE HERE NEXT WEEK

Next week Medford will be visited all the teachers of the county o will be in attendance at three s of institute. For two years only al one-day institutes have been d, but the last session of the legisure reinstated the old form of inute and all counties will again d the longer more valuable sesns. County Supt. Carter states t a goodly list of lecturers and tructors is prepared, such as will instructive not only to teachers, to patrons and school officers well. The program will be more y announced on Monday.

INER'S CLAIM MAY PROVE A BOOMERANG

Unless Frank Menzog, a miner of kiyou county, who filed suit against omas L. Deisch, a fellow miner, for lection of approximately $400 alged to be due for nuggets, blankets, d and labor, replies within five s to the counter claim and answer, will be declared in default, and gment rendered in favor of the deldant. This is the effoce of an orhanded down by Circuit Judge omas Thursday.

Deisch in his counter claim alleged t after he had bought a claim from plaintiff, the latter visited him a considerable time, without ination. Among other claims, was for food for Menzog's dog, alleged to be "large."

A Great World Conference.

The greatest religious conference of universal proportions which has been held since the days of the Council of Nicea in 325 A. D. has just come to a close in Stockholm, Sweden. It was called the "Universal Conference on Christian Life and Work" with its delegates from 31 different nationalities, representing 100 different communions.

At the Council of Nicea, held following the conquest of the Roman Empire by Christianit, in 325 A. D. there were about 300 delegates representing 3,000,000 Christians, practically all that the world then contained. At the Stockholm conference were 600 delegates representing 300,000,000 Christians or about 60 per cent of all in the world.

Every address was prepared in one language and translated and printed into two others for the use of the delegates. Our American ministers, before they got through with the conference wished time and again that they had spent less time on Hebrew and latin and Green and had studied some living languages.

Practically all of the British and European ministers could speak or at least understand one or two languages besides their own. In fact they are compelled to do so, because of their proximity to other peoples, but we here in our isolation have no such need. So many world wide movements will soon demand that our ministry acquaint themselves with other languages also.

The prime purpose of the gathering was to restore the sense of unity and harmony which had been so terribly torn asunder by the great war. There were many tense moments during addgesses by German and French representatives but all understood each other better before the meeting closed. While forms and rituals, and doctrines were different yet the one supreme personality whoch all loved and worshipped was the Lord Jesus Christ. It will go down in history as a movement for religious unity.

E. P. LAWRENCE.

Henry Ford Again.

Henry Ford is one secular publisher who has the wisdom and courage to fight for a Christian Sabbath. A writer in his Dearborn Independent makes the interesting observation, along the line of recent announcements by the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, that fourty-four state have laws in some degree safeguarding the Christian Sunday; that the eighteen states having the best laws have a foreign born population of only 8 ner cent; that the eight states with the weakest laws have a foreign born population of 14 per cent and that the four states having no such Sunday laws have a foreign born population of 23½ per cent.

Bryan as a Prophet.

Bryan was different from most prophets, ancient and modern. He made his predictions, set up his ideals, and then lived to see many of them fulfilled. For example: The eight hour day, the postal saving bank, national prohibition, woman's suffrage, publicity of campaign funds, direct election of United States senators, world peace by arbitration, direct primaries and many others. His last fight was for the supremacy of the Word of God. His last public utterance was made in humble prayer to Almighty Gid in the M. E. South church in Dayton, when the pastor had called on "Brother Bryan" to lead the morning prayers.

Eugene Puts Bible in Public Schools.

Daily reading of the Bible in all the schools rooms of Eugene has been adopted as a permanent thing on the action of the school board. One hundred and twenty-six Bible has been ordered for the purpose. The ministerial lassociation is cooperating in the plan. No comments are to be made with the reading of the selection chosen. At least the schools of a third of the nation have the Bible thus read in the schools daily.

A man's true wealth is the good he does in the world.

Give the devil his due, but not by the sale of yourself to him. We read "ye are bought with a price." It was Christ and not Satan who paid that price.

In the famous Girade case, the Supreme Court of the United States held that the Bible is not a sectarian book. In the Trinity church case, it said, "This is a Christian nation."

Nut Sunday.

Stay abed until ten.
Read Sunday paper until one.
Feed your face until three.
Lop around until nine,
Nothing doing! nothing done.
Good night!

The best things and the worth while things generally cost something in energy, time, money or sacrifice. No community can afford to reject the best and worth while because of a reasonable cost of either.

"The Christian religion, as we name our faith, never was hurt by real science of truth." Faith, reason and science that is real science, not notions, theories or opinions have the same common basic law.

Counterfeiter Is Arrested.

DOUGLAS, Ariz.—A method of creating hybrid ten dollar bills was revealed when Claudio Nadrid, a young Mexican, was held to the federal grand jury on a counterfeiting charge. American one dollar notes were found converted into tens with figures cut from old Mexican currency and pasted over the true figures on the bills.

COURT ADJOURNS OVER WEEK-END, TRIAL STILL ON

Wilbur Eggsman, young Klamath Indian rancher charged with assault, took the witness stand in his own behalf, in the federal court yesterday. He was subjected to a rigid cross examination by U. S. District Attorney Neuner. In the alleged combat Eggsman is accused of stabbing Monroe Faithful, one thrust penetrating the heart of his foe, but not killing him.

Eggsman told the story of the fight and incidents that led up to it, differing but little from the story of Monroe Faithful, told lat Thursday afternoon. Faithful in his testimony, showed no bitterness against the defendant.

Eggsman testified that he saw Faithful and LeRoy Hicks, son of Shakespeare Hicks, "chasing his cattle," and went down into the field to investigate.

The witness said that his queries "as to who is running this ranch" were met with "your're talking pretty big for a little fellow."

These and other words resulted in Eggsman extending an invitation to Faithful to come over and fight, and Faithful accepted. Eggsman was knocked down, and while Faithful was on top of him, the cutting occurred.

Federal court adjourned late yesterday until Monday when it is expected the Eggsman case will go to the jury.
