GERMANS AGREE TO ALLIES PLAN HARMONY REIGNS

Agreement Practically Certain at Security Conference—Firm Stand by Allies Brings German Acceptance—Poland Only Stumbling Block

LOCARNO, Switzerland, Oct. 12.—(A. P.) Agreement was practically reached today on the conditions of Germany's entrance into the League of Nations and the delegates to the security conference now hopefully predict the success of the conference. The allies have perfected a solution of the German league membership situation which left Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann to satisfy German public opinion and at the same time safeguard the friendly relations of the reich with Russia.

One big issue remains unsettled—France's guarantee for Poland, and this was discussed privately and with progress today by M. Briand, Dr. Stresemann and Count Skrzynski, the French, German and Polish foreign ministers, prior to the plenary session of the conference. A communique issued after today's session, said: "Clarifications and precisions requested by the German delegation on the question of the league brought about a general exchange of views and explanations. This exchange resulted in progress of the work of the conference toward the adoption of a satisfactory solution."

Today's session was the most exciting since the inauguration of the conference for Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann insisted on more than the allies were willing to accord on the league issue. They were told flatly by all that it was a case of accepting what was proposed or adjournment of the conference. The German leaders held a whispered consultation and then announced their adhesion to the allies' ideas. The conference adjourned until tomorrow. Meanwhile the league text will be whipped into final shape.

KLAMATH F. PREFERS S. P. TO HILL LINE

H. D. Mortenson, President Pelican Bay Lumber Co., Testifies That Lumber and Business Men of Klamath Want — New Line to East Called Greatest Need

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 12.—(A. P.) Testifying today for the Southern Pacific in the hearing before Charles D. Mahaffie, director of finance of the inter-state commerce commission, H. D. Mortenson, president of the Pelican Bay Lumber company said that lumbermen of the Klamath basin and businessmen of Klamath Falls prefer the completion of the Southern Pacific program over the promised competition from the northern lines. Mortenson said he spoke for fourteen or fifteen of the twenty mills now cutting. "If the Southern Pacific goes thru and gives us the outlet to the east as planned," said Mortenson, "we think that program will be sufficient for our needs."

"It is that program more desirable than having the Oregon Trunk line in there," asked Ben C. Doy, counsel for the Southern Pacific. "As an alternative," answered Mortenson, "certainly we would prefer the real strong development to go into effect. We do not think any more lines necessary. It is generally conceded by all Klamath Falls business men I have talked to that the building of the Modoc Northern which is a new line to the east, is the most needed."

Timber Gone in 25 Years. Mortenson declared that if all the mills promised in connection with both Southern Pacific and Oregon Trunk development began cutting they would wipe out the 25,000,000,000 to 30,000,000,000 feet of timber in the district in 25 to 30 years. It would take from fifty to seventy-five years of reforestation, with government aid to reproduce one-third that much marketable timber in the same territory, he said. Mortenson declared that private owners are now for re-forestation on lands that cannot be developed for other crops, but that they will probably do nothing about it unless they get government aid and lower taxes.

Shipping to Wisconsin. As evidence that the Klamath basin supply can be quickly wiped out, Mortenson testified that he is now shipping lumber to Wisconsin, where he used to operate in a district so thickly forested that people declared the supply was inexhaustible. In the cross examination of Mortenson, by Charles A. Hart, attorney for the Hill lines, the Klamath Falls man stated that when E. H. Harrison died, work on the Natron cut-off stopped. "This was a hard blow to the Klamath basin and business did not revive to any notable extent until the resumption of work on the cutoff some two years ago, at which time there was talk of the Oregon Trunk extending from Bend to Klamath Falls."

"Then you have a keen sense of gratitude to the Oregon Trunk for bringing this about?" said Hart. "If that is what it did, I'll at least express my appreciation," Mortenson replied. Fear Over-Production. "Have any other Klamath Falls lumbermen done as much as you to cultivate sentiments for the Southern Pacific program?" asked Hart. "Some have been as active as I have been, or nearly so." "Have you used the argument that the coming of more large mills to Klamath Falls would be disadvantageous?" "I have not. We can take care of ourselves, but I believe there would be an over production of lumber." "Have you argued that the coming of the Oregon Trunk would mean competition in the box trade upon the part of the Bend mills?" "I have not, but others have."

He stated the Southern Pacific has promised Klamath basin mill operators that when the Alturas cut off is completed, a quicker service to the east will be given and that "east of the Cascades," freight rates will be given Klamath. Assistant Attorney General Ellis on behalf of the Oregon public service commission asked if the Southern Pacific was not interested financially in Mortenson's mill. "The S. P. hasn't a nickel's interest in my company," he replied warmly. When Ellis stated that the Southern Pacific had interests in other districts, Mortenson said: "Everything else is commercialized."

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 12.—(A. P.) The Right Rev. William Montgomery Brown of Gallon, Ohio, former bishop of Arkansas, was "deposed from the sacred ministry" at the triennial convention of the Episcopal church here today. Bishop Brown did not answer when his name was called in his absence and sentence was pronounced by the Right Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, presiding bishop. Many bishops were in the congregation but there were many empty seats in the church auditorium. After an opening prayer by the presiding bishop, the chaplain called Bishop Brown's name three times but without response. Bishop Talbot then announced that Bishop Brown had been convicted of "holding and teaching publicly and advisedly certain doctrines contrary to those held by the Protestant Episcopal church," and recalled that Bishop Brown had been tried by a trial court and a court of review and his sentence of deposition upheld by a two-thirds vote of the house of bishops and concluded: "I depose William Montgomery Brown from the sacred ministry and do declare that he is so deposed."

Notice has been served on the presiding bishop and through him on the house of bishops to appear in United States court Wednesday morning to show cause for the proceedings against Bishop Brown. It was said that counsel will appear for the president and the house of bishops. Decisions of U. S. Supreme Court. WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(A. P.) 14 DROWNED IN LAUNCH WRECK FLORIDA COAST

Kansas Tourist Party Is Nearly Wiped Out When Launch Is Capsized at Sebastian Inlet—Twelve Year Old Boy Is Hero

MELBOURNE, Fla., Oct. 12.—(A. P.)—Fishermen and other volunteers early today were searching the rocks and jetties for three additional bodies expected to bring to fourteen the death list of the launch Clara B capsized in the Atlantic at the mouth of Sebastian Inlet late yesterday with a party of 23, principally Kansans. All of the rescued suffered cuts and bruises when dashed against the rocks, but the condition of only one was regarded as serious. Passage of the inlet was made safely but because of rough seas outside, Captain Arnold decided to turn back. The boat failed to respond to the helmsman's quick enough, some of the rescued said, and was a quarter around when a wave swept over the deck, washing several members of the party overboard. The next wave, which hit the craft, turned it over. The heroic efforts of James Arnold, 12 year old son of Captain Arnold, saved the lives of four passengers, who had been thrown into the raging breakers when his father's launch turned turtle. Survivor said the lad swam ashore and obtained a small boat, returned to the yacht, jumped into the water, and fighting against the high waves, succeeded in placing four persons in the boat, and landing them safely. Two children were among those drowned, Dan Roach, seven, went down with his father, C. E. Roach, and Lovetta Drilling, 15, who accompanied D. U. Buckles on the excursion, was another victim.

SUBPOENA PIERCE IN PRISON CASE

Murray's Defense Demands That Governor Be Forced to Make Public Report on Conditions at State Prison—Will Be Vital Factor in Convict's Defense

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 12.—The report of Jefferson Myers and George A. White, the special committee named by Governor Pierce to investigate conditions at the state penitentiary with particular reference to the prison break of August 12, will form a portion of the defense of Tom Murray, convict, accused of the murder of John Sweeney, guard, in that break, if the court sustains the demand made upon the governor for that report. Will R. King, chief counsel for Murray, this morning issued a subpoena for Governor Pierce directing him to appear as a witness in the Murray case now being tried and to produce the report of the special committee which was submitted to the governor on August 23, but which has never been made public. The defense seeks to offer the report in support of its contention that conditions in the prison were such as to encourage and justify Murray and his companions in the break.
