ONLY A MIRACLE CAN SAVE PIRATE SHIP CREW NOW

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Washington Senators today seemed well on their way to their second consecutive world's baseball championship as a result of Walter Johnson's spectacular shutout in the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday in the fourth game of the world series.

The Senators rode to their third victory on Johnson's good right arm and the heavy hitting of Goose Goslin. Goose took wing in the third, carried a screeching drive over the head of Clyde Barnhart and flew around the paths in the wake of two mates. Joe Harris established as cleanup hitter only yesterday, following the Goslin creation with a furious lift which impeded itself in the permanent stands of left field, the only home run in the series that has passed beyond the confines of the temporary stands.

As the game drew to its close, Bucky Harris shared the limelight with Johnson and Goslin with two sensational defensive plays that cut off Pirate threats. In the seventh, the young manager leaped and stabbed a screeching drive from Wright's bat and then double-trayned, who had singled, off first.

Again in the ninth Harris raced in to scoop up Traynor's smash, tagged Barnhart, who walked, on the base line and completed another double play with a quick toss to first.

GRIFFITH STADIUM, WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(A. P.)—The Pirate ship is sinking fast, the Washington Senators scuttling the Buccaneers' craft by a score of 4 to 0 in the fourth game of the world series yesterday. Walter Johnson tied the Pittsburgh batters into knots and dashed them with a coat of whitewash. The world series now stands Washington three, Pittsburgh one.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Al Schacht announced after the third Senator victory that he would pitch today's game. "I've warmed up with the band every day," said the Senator comedian, "and I can show them some slow music. And if I fall down Al-trook will take up the burden. That's the way we work."

Little "Buddle" Myer acted as fireman for the "Big Train," and heaped on more coals by failing to handle a couple of infield balls early in the game. Slight waves of the arms of his infield mates and of the big pitcher himself signified to Buddy that Washington players were disadvantaged.

The air, far from as cool as Saturday was brisk and the boys used a few football tactics in snaring infield drives. Traynor and Harris and Moore all dove into the dirt during the sixth inning. Harris rebounded quickly, getting his putout for the only success in this sort of endeavor.

"I've warmed up with the band every day," said the Senator comedian, "and I can show them some slow music. And if I fall down Al-trook will take up the burden. That's the way we work."

Manager McKechnie elected to try his left handed pitching, about which there has been much discussion when he sent in Emil Yde, but the result was disastrous. Barnhart might have saved Yde had he judged Goslin's slap in the fourth perfectly. But it would have needed perfection. The shot went over Barnhart's head and bounded into the bleachers.

Little "Buddle" Myer acted as fireman for the "Big Train," and heaped on more coals by failing to handle a couple of infield balls early in the game. Slight waves of the arms of his infield mates and of the big pitcher himself signified to Buddy that Washington players were disadvantaged.

TRUE FEMINE FIGURE PASSING ARTIST LAMENTS

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—(A. P.) The passing of the true feminine figure was lamented today by Wellington J. Reynolds, famous artist and instructor at the Art Institute. He decried the tendency toward boyishness.

"All the models are just about the same. 'Shoulders no longer slope gracefully; they are square and broad. Women's hips have narrowed and narrowed. 'Styles are largely responsible for the change in women's appearance. And the rare girl who possesses the distinctly feminine type of figure seems to consider her charms a disgrace. She'll even starve herself so that she can look like a two-by-four.'"

Mr. Reynolds is working on a painting entitled "The Enchanted Forest." But before he can finish it he must find a girl who represents to him the true feminine figure.

RANCH WOMAN IS BURNED TO DEATH

DAVENPORT, Wash., Oct. 12.—Her clothing stripped off and her body frightfully burned, Mrs. Baldwin was found dead by her daughter, Mrs. Parker, in a ranch home near Fruitland late yesterday. The body was lying across the bed.

Mrs. Baldwin, whose husband is said to be in Portland, Ore., was living alone on the ranch after harvest, had begun clearing land. She was last seen on Friday when she had fired a pile of brush. No one saw the accident, but it is evident that her clothing caught fire and she ran to the house, her garments ablaze, and then tore off her dress and underwear, dying before she could get into bed.

Dr. R. G. McRae of Davenport was summoned by the daughter, who lives on another farm some distance from her mother. She had made the journey Sunday afternoon to see her mother and found her dead.

Mrs. Baldwin, aged about 65 is believed to have relatives in Eugene, Ore. The body will be sent there for burial.

ONE KILLED, 20 INJURED IN U. P. WRECK SATURDAY

THE DALLES, Ore., Oct. 12.—Robert H. Lee of Portland, fireman, is dead, and 20 persons are more or less seriously injured as the result of a wreck on the Union Pacific Saturday night nine miles west of Arlington, when the Continental Limited struck a break in the rails, throwing the engine and two cars over the embankment.

C. M. Wall, engineer, is suffering from fractured ribs and internal injuries. The hospital where the injured are being treated, reported this morning that all are showing improvement and that no further fatalities are expected.

Reports of the cause of the accident vary but it has been ascertained that a big boulder, weighing about four tons, rolled down an embankment and onto the track, breaking the heavy rail on the right hand side of the track. The rock was not on the roadbed, rail officials declare. A track walker had passed the spot on his inspection trip shortly before the wreck occurred.

The engine and five cars left the track in the crash. Express Messenger G. H. Hamilton had a narrow escape. Telegraph wires were torn down and the tracks were wrecked for a distance of 500 feet.

Among the injured were P. J. Quinn, Allee K. Gatis, E. Waldvogel and J. Boyd Hanley, of Pendleton.

BORAH IS BLAMED BY CAILLAUX FOR WAR DEBT FIZZLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—(A. P.) Bankers here who have been in close touch with the situation growing out of the Franco-American debt settlement question are of the opinion that France will not obtain any large loan in the United States this year. It was stated today that had the debt funding negotiations at Washington been entirely successful the next step would have been an attempt to arrange a loan but failure automatically terminated the loan discussions which had been proceeding by cable between American bankers and the French.

PARIS, Oct. 12.—(A. P.) A portion of the time of Premier Painleve's ministers this week is expected to be taken up by an inquiry into Prime Minister Caillaux's statement regarding his recent debt funding negotiations in Washington.

M. Caillaux who returned to Paris Saturday evening yesterday handed his report to the cabinet and with other ministers discussed the situation for three hours. Tomorrow the ministers will again take up the tentative agreement arrived at in Washington. It is their opinion that all possible consequences ought to be thoroughly threshed out before France's reply is sent to the Washington government.

During his talk with the ministers on Sunday, M. Caillaux referred at length to "the conditions of internal policy which determined the opinion of the American politicians in power." In connection with the temporary agreement he mentioned in particular "Senator Borah, who exercises considerable power over his colleagues."

OREGON STILL HOPES TO SURPRISE BEARS ON 24TH OF OCTOBER

EUGENE, Ore., Oct. 12.—Somewhat disheartened by the 6 to 0 defeat at the hands of the University of Idaho here Saturday, the University of Oregon football team today is setting about grimly to pull itself together to drill for the coming game with the University of California in Portland on October 24.

Next Saturday the Oregon men will face Pacific on the local field. It will give the Webfoots a chance to smooth out the rough spots so clearly brought out by Idaho and will give them the added advantage of a not too hard game in preparation for the California men.

The whole determination of the Oregon team this year has been to beat or hold to a tie the touted Californians. That determination, though a little dimmed by the Idaho defeat, is still hovering around the Webfoot camp.

CORVALLIS, Ore., Oct. 12.—With the season two weeks old, the Oregon Agricultural college football team stands in the position of being the only team in either coast or northwest conference which has not been scored upon. Like Stanford, California and University of Southern California, the Aggies have not yet had a coast conference game, but their northwest conference opponents have not scored against them. Coach Schissler will bend every effort to maintain the record of his team with Whitman next Saturday in Portland.
